Feeling Grows Ike Will Run

Eisenhower Bids For Aid Plan Support

President Exhorts Nation To 'Awaken' To Economic War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower exhorted all America today to "wake up" to the urgent need of a free world victory in the economic struggle with the Communists.

"Defeat in this contest could be as disastrous as defeat in an armaments race," said a statement which the President endorsed. "We could lose this economic contest unless the country as a whole wakes up to all its implications."

A major purpose of the statement was evidently to enlist support for Eisenhower's foreign aid plans, which are faced with rough going in Congress. For example, Sen. George (D-Ga) has voiced vigorous opposition to Eisenhower's request for authority to embark on a long-range program of economic aid to other nations.

Dulles Reads Statement

The statement was read by Secretary of State Dulles at his news conference. Dulles called reporters' attention to the words "as a whole" and said they were underlined in the statement.

He said it came from the U.S. delegation to the current session of the United Nations General Assembly. He added that he received it last Dec. 9, discussed it with Eisenhower Christmas Eve and made it public today on the occasion of his first news conference since then.

In response to a question, Dulles said he and the President agree with the statement. He said it very strongly re-enforces administration views inherent in such foreign aid proposals as Eisenhower's call for long-range spending authority over a period of up to 10 years.

Cold War "Shift"

The statement described the current cold war phase as apparently "a shift ... in which economic and social problems have moved to the forefront."

Russia is "using economic and social collaboration as a means for jumping military as well as political barriers," it said. It cited India, Egypt and Burma as examples.

"We believe that the United States must counter these Soviet efforts," the statement continued.

Army Doctors Report Health As 'Excellent'

Physicians Say Rest In Key West Helped Physical Condition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — "Excellent" was the word doctors applied to President Eisenhower's health today.

Three Army physicians who made another examination of the President in his White House bedroom this morning reported his recovery from a Sept. 24 heart attack continues to progress satisfactorily. Then they added:

"His physical condition is excellent and he benefitted greatly from the exercise and relaxation obtained during his recent visit to Key West."

These were welcome words to Republicans who are hoping that Eisenhower will lead them again in the presidential and congressional elections this fall.

Health Factor In Decision

The President reiterated to newsmen just before he left Florida Sunday that his health will be a very important factor in deciding whether he will run for re-election.

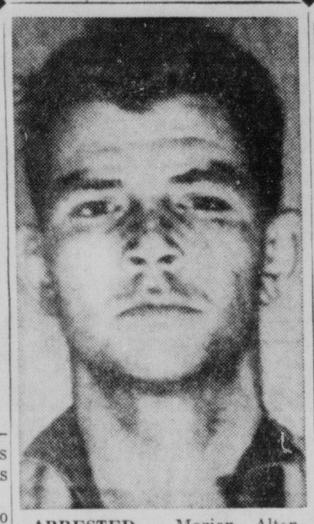

To members of Congress who have been inquiring about his health, Eisenhower is writing that he feels "fine." This added to a growing feeling of optimism in GOP ranks.

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the President's personal physician; Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, heart specialist at Walter Reed Army Hospital here; and Col. Byron E. Pollack, chief heart specialist at Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver, conducted today's examination.

No Advance Notice

They made the usual electrocardiogram and blood tests and reported the results were "good." They spent 45 minutes with him.

There was no advance public notice of today's checkup. Hagerty said it was made at the suggestion of the three physicians. Dr. Pollack did not come to Washington for the express purpose of joining in the examination, Hagerty said, but was here to attend a series of medical meetings at the National Institutes of Health.

ARRESTED — Marion Alton Dejean (above), 29, Shreveport, La., was reported by sheriff's deputies and city police at Alexandria, La., to have confessed to the double slaying of an Air Force captain and his father-in-law Dec. 22. He was arrested at Shreveport and reportedly identified as the killer of the two men by the captain's widow. (AP Photofax)

Name To Be Entered In Ill. Primary

Kerr's Suggestion GOP Not 'Overload' Ike Stirs Up Storm

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower, still keeping his own counsel on the second term question, today refused to "assent or dissent" to entry of his name in the Illinois presidential preference primary April 10.

A White House statement said, however, this was not to be interpreted as meaning the President has yet made a final decision on whether to run again.

The statement was issued after Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois announced in Springfield, Ills., that he would enter the President's name. Stratton said he had not consulted Eisenhower, but added: "This is our way of saying, Mr. President, we hope you run again."

The White House statement was issued by James C. Hagerty, press secretary to the President, with Eisenhower's approval.

Kerr Stirs Up Storm

It came as a hot Republican-Democratic row developed over a statement by Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) suggesting that Republicans be careful not to put too great a burden on Eisenhower's health.

In his weekly newsletter to constituents, Kerr noted that Eisenhower's State of the Union message was read to Congress by clerks and added:

"The fact that he was physically unable to deliver it in person is evidence that it was either much too long, or, that those so urgently pushing him to run again should take warning lest they put too great a burden on his physical reserve.

"However, these Republicans are so alarmed about their own low political reserve they plan to bring Ike to the GOP convention, even if he has to stay in Letterman General Hospital (at San Francisco), which reportedly is preparing a suite for him."

"Despicable" Remark

Maj. Gen. Paul I. Robinson, commandant of the hospital, said Dec. 25 that a suite was being prepared at the hospital. It was explained that it would be ready should the President attend the national convention next August and need a place to rest.

The Republican National Committee today put out statements by several Republican leaders and legislators calling Kerr's remarks foul, despicable and vicious.

Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said:

"The people of the United States are shocked at the viciousness of Sen. Kerr's remarks about the President. . . .

"Everybody knows the President's true physical condition has been described in detail from Sept. 24 up to and including today. Since his return to work, he has assumed an increasing portion of his work load and he has been in consultation with legislative leaders. . . .

No Request For Hospital Room

"The Letterman General Hospital has not received any request from the Republican National Committee or from anyone else for a room for President Eisenhower and any intimation to the contrary is an unmitigated lie.

"Shame on Sen. Kerr."

Sen. Carlson (R-Kans) said Kerr is "guilty of a foul blow." Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) said the "utter lack of even common decency displayed by Sen. Kerr is beyond belief."

Rep. Halleck of Indiana, a House Republican leader, declared Kerr "has been in the lead in vituperative utterances" since the 1952 Republican election victory.

"His low boiling point has warped whatever judgment he ever had," Halleck said.

"While the whole country rejoices in the recovery and the present excellent health of the president, the senator from Oklahome distorts the truth and his statements will be recognized for just what they are—trash."

French Cabinet Orders Unified Rule In Algeria

PARIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—The French Cabinet today clamped a tight one-man rule over the mountainous coastal region of Algeria in an attempt to stamp out rebel terrorism. In the past 24 hours 36 persons have been killed in scattered Algerian violence.

The unified command, which merges civil and military powers, was ordered for the Kabylie area, which stretches along the coast for 150 miles east of Algiers and includes rugged mountains and productive coastal farms. The rebels, fighting to overthrow French rule, drift down at night to terrorize farmers.

Similar Command Works

A similar command, described as working effectively, already has been set up in the Aures Mountains in northeast Algeria. And a third command is in prospect for the area around Constantine, also in the northeast. Rebels of the so-called national liberation army have spread terror in all three sections since the outbreak of the insurrection 15 months ago.

In some parts of the Kabylie region military protection is so thin farmers are forced to take refuge in the towns at night. Recently an entire 13-man French and Algerian garrison was kidnaped by rebels within sight of Algiers.

Commander Not Named

The commander at Kabylie was not named, but is expected to be a military man as in the Aures where a French army general runs the operation.

In the Aures area young, specially trained officers have been sent to take charge in the small villages and towns to be re-establish local administrations that were falling apart.

The Cabinet acted after receiving a report from Premier Edgar Faure endorsing the unified commands outlined by the governor general in Algeria, Jacques Soustelle.

Dulles Declares:

U.S. Won't Abandon Nuclear Test Plans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — Secretary of State Dulles served notice today that the United States will carry on tests of atomic and hydrogen bombs because it is "imperative" to hold an American lead in nuclear weapons.

Dulles said he believes this country is ahead now although he conceded that the question of its atomic position in relation to the Soviet Union is partly a matter of speculation.

The effect of Dulles' comment, in response to questions, was to reject various suggestions, mostly from leaders in countries which are neutral in the cold war, that bomb tests be discontinued.

The latest such suggestion came from V. K. Krishna Menon, Indian diplomat and close friend of Prime Minister Nehru. Menon suggested in New York, this week that the United States abandon plans for a new superbomb test in the Pacific.

Test Due In Spring

The superbomb test is expected to be held this spring although there has been no official announcement.

President Eisenhower was asked at his Key West news conference Sunday whether he has approved new H-bomb tests in the Paficic this spring. He replied:

"Well, I think the announcement as to future tests, not especially on H-bombs but of any kind of atomic action, should come officially and directly from the Atomic Energy Commission—where they have always come from—and while this matter has been—well, it's up annually—the fact is that I don't remember exactly when or how they expect to announce it, and when they are to take place. So we had better wait for the official announcement."

Russia, Britain Hold Tests

Both the United States and Russia have tested atomic weapons many times. Britain also has run an atomic test explosion in Australia.

Dulles was asked at his news conference what present United States policy is toward further tests.

This government, he said, has not yet found any basis to warrant suspension of the experiments.

On the contrary, he said, the government has found that "it is imperative to keep in the forefront in scientific knowledge."

Young Salesman Held In Case Of Missing Blonde

The body of 20-year-old Jacqueline Smith has not been found and Deputy Chief Inspector Edward Byrnes told reporters:

"There is a possibility that the body may have been dissected."

The boy friend, Thomas G. Daniels, 24, was held in $25,000 bail as a material witness. Authorities said he had knowledge of the girl's death but that the killer apparently was another person.

Second Man Questioned

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman called Miss Smith almost certainly the victim of a "criminal homicide"—a legal charge that could cover her death at the hands of an abortionist.

A short, slender unidentified second man was under police questioning in the case. Seized in his apartment was a black valise containing doctor's instruments. Inspector Byrnes was asked if they could have been used in an abortion. He replied:

"Some of them could be used for that purpose."

In asking bond for Daniels, Herman told General Sessions Judge Edward J. McCullen:

"There are reasonable grounds to believe that if he is not held he might not be able to testify."

Conflicts In Story

Daniels had previously been questioned in Miss Smith's disappearance. He was picked up again at 1 a.m. today.

Police at first quoted Daniels as saying Miss Smith killed herself in Japanese hara-kiri fashion when he refused to marry her. He reportedly told them he dumped her body in the Hudson River afterwards.

Detectives found conflicts in this story. Herman's remarks in court indicated Daniels later told a different version.

Missionaries Believed Dead; Hunt Continues

QUITO, Ecuador, Jan. 11 (AP)—Five U. S. missionaries who penetrated Amazon jungle territory peopled by savage Auca Indians all were feared dead today after a second unidentified body near their stripped plane was seen from the air.

John Keenan, also a missionary, reported spotting the body of a man in the Curaray River not far from the plane, which has been reduced to a skeleton.

Keenan made his reconnaissance flight from Shell Mera, an oil company headquarters camp, early this morning. Capt. Gonzalo Ruales, an Ecuadorian commercial pilot, reported seeing a bonfire in the same area at dusk yesterday, but Keenan said he saw no sign of life.

Indian Lance In Body

Yesterday Keenan found the plane and a U. S. Air Force searcher saw an unidentified body about a quarter of a mile from the stripped plane. One report said an Indian lance protruded from the body.

The five missing missionaries are Nathanial Saint, Huntingdon Valley, Pa.; James Elliott, 27, Portland, Ore.; Edward McCulley, Milwaukee, Wis.; Roger Youderian, Lansing, Mich., and Peter Fleming, Seattle Wash.

Youderian was identified as a missionary of the Gospel Missionary Union and the other four as representatives of Christian Missions in Many Lands. Both are Protestant organizations.

Search Party On Way

The party went into the jungle in a small Piper plane to make friends with the Auca Indians. They carried a radio transmitter and the last message they sent was: "Here come a group of Aucas whom we have not known before."

A party of 16 Ecuadorian soldiers, 7 missionaries and 6 guides went into the jungle to search for the missionaries. It is following Indian trails toward the confluence of the Curaray and Oglama rivers in Ecuador's northeastern Amazon territory. It may take them four days to reach the area where the plane was seen.

Error By Marines

DANBURY, Conn., Jan. 11 (AP)—Prentice Tallman received a letter from the U. S. Marine Corps urging him to "make an appointment and visit our recruiter."

A Danbury News-Times reporter arranged a meeting today between him and Sgt. Edwin A. Ireland.

Trucker Saves Children At Price Of 16 Fractures

WELCH, W.Va., Jan. 11 (AP) — Praise was some balm today for Luther Goebel's 16 fractures.

Goebel was driving a coal truck when a car skidded across the road in front of him. Goebel could not stop. He jumped from the truck, safely.

But Goebel looked again and saw the car was full of children. He ran after his truck, grabbed the steering wheel and headed it into a hillside.

His 16 fractures mostly involved ribs.

Court To Review Sheppard Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 11 (AP) — Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, convicted of wife murder in a sensational 1954 Cleveland trial, today won an important victory. The Ohio Supreme Court agreed to review his case.

The high court's action opened an avenue of hope to the 32-year-old osteopath now serving a life sentence in Ohio Penitentiary for second-degree murder in the July 4, 1954, bludgeon slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31.

A few hours later, Sheppard told newsmen during an interview at the prison that he feels he eventually will be a free man. He added:

"I feel the case will be solved. I feel there will be a confession made. I am hopeful the courts will favor my case and I feel they will if they adhere to the law."

His attorneys, under the decision to review, will have a chance to attack the conviction by a jury in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court.

But, one of his attorneys concedes, they will be forced to confine their arguments to those presented to the jury more than a year ago.

In another action today, the Supreme Court rejected Sheppard's appeal from lower courts' refusal to grant him a new trial on grounds new evidence has been discovered. That action, says William J. Corrigan of Cleveland, means he and his colleagues cannot present new evidence in Sheppard's behalf.

Floods Hit Nova Scotia

Grounded Destroyer Freed, Tug Still Fast

CAPE HENRY, Va., Jan. 11 (AP)—The escort destroyer Basilone, aground off Cape Henry since last Thursday, was refloated today by a combination of an abnormally high tide and the pulling power of two Navy salvage tugs.

But the salvage tug Seneca, which was blown ashore Saturday while trying to free the Basilone, remained hard aground within 100 yards of the spot where the destroyer had been blown aground. The Navy hopes the Seneca will be refloated at tomorrow night's high tide.

The Basilone was pulled off the bar by the salvage vessels Hoist and Salvager. She was towed to the naval shipyard at Portsmouth where she will be placed in dry dock to determine whether she was damaged by the grounding.

Guard Called In Strike Violence

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP)—Three hundred National Guardsmen were called out today at direction of Gov. Leroy Collins to help prevent further disorders at picket lines thrown up by construction workers at the big Chemstrand Corp., nylon plant near Pensacola.

Asst. Adjt. Gen. Robert G. White at St. Augustine said the action was taken as a precautionary move at the request of Sheriff R. L. Kendrick.

Picketing has been directed at the Daniel Construction Co., of Greenville, S.C., which is engaged in construction of an expansion of the Chemstrand plant manufacturing nylon fiber.

Daniel has been hiring on a non-union, open shop basis.

Because there are only two roads leading to the Chemstrand plant, production workers at Chemstrand have been affected since they must pass through picket lines to get to their work.

Kendrick advised White that he did not have sufficient manpower to handle the situation.

Collins issued the call from Los Angeles where he is on a business trip.

Several persons were beaten, cars overturned and windows smashed in disorders on the picket line yesterday. One picket was arrested on a charge of inciting to riot.

Nation's Weather Remains Glued In Freakish Pattern

[By The Associated Press]

The nation's weather remained glued Wednesday in a freakish "standstill" pattern that has brought crop-killing cold to Florida and drought to the Great Plains.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Chicago said that the usual systems of "bad" and "good" weather have virtually ceased to move in their normal cycles.

A wintry chill has gripped Florida and the Southeast since Sunday and "continued rather cold" was the forecast for Thursday.

The West Coast has had some rain every day since the first of the year.

A long spell of fair and dry weather has sapped soil moisture and seriously retarded the growth of winter wheat, oats and rye in the Central and Southern Plains.

A nearly stalled storm center east of Maryland and Delaware was blamed for the freakish weather in the East. Affecting a tremendous area from Cuba to north of Newfoundland, it has sucked cold air into the Southeast and pushed mild Atlantic air far inland in the North.

The broad flow of moist air from the Atlantic brought some sleeting or freezing drizzle and a widespread cloud cover westward to the Mississippi River.

The Chicago area was coated with a thin ice cover for the second straight day Wednesday. Police reported about 100 car accidents between 6 and 7 a.m., when the early rush hour got under way.

West Proposes Israel Censure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—Britain, France and the United States proposed today that U.N. Security Council censure Israel for what they called a "flagrant" attack on Syrian outposts Dec. 11.

The Western proposal omitted a Syrian demand for compensation.

Two days ago the Soviet Union handed in its proposal calling the Israeli attack "outrageous" and demanding payment to Syria for life and property destruction.

Both of the East-West rivals omitted Syria's demand that Israel be thrown out of the U.N.

U.N. figures show that 56 Syrians, eight of them civlians and six Israeli's were killed in the clashes near the Sea of Galilee.

The resolutions are to be introduced formally when the 11-nation Council resumes consideration tomorrow of Syria's Dec. 13 complaint over the attack. The Council will hold morning and afternoon meetings.

Syrian Delegate Ahmed Shukairy has said he prefers the Soviet resolution because it is the stronger.

Beauty Queen Rape Victim; Fiance Captures Assailant

SANTA ANA, Calif., Jan. 11 (AP)—An 18-year-old state beauty contest winner was kidnaped and raped late last night and minutes later her fiance captured her assailant after a 100-mile-an-hour chase.

The victim is Donna May Schurr, who was Miss California in last summer's Miss Universe contest.

Sheriff's deputies said Jack James Walker, 25, broke into Miss Schurr's home at nearby Garden Grove and then dragged her at knifepoint to his car.

Walker, of Santa Ana, was charged today with rape and kidnaping.

The beauty queen's fiance drove up to her house just as she was released in a hysterical condition from Walker's car, officers said. The fiance, Lloyd Brett, 21, chased Walker in a 100-mile-an-hour race over back roads, forcing his car off the road.

California Highway Patrol officers joined the chase when the speeding cars went through stop signs. One officer restrained Brett from shooting Walker.

Deputies said Walker had confessed a similar attack on the blue-eyed, brown-haired beauty last March. Then he hid in the back seat of her car at a drive-in where she was employed and threatened her with a knife.

He was never apprehended on that offense but deputies said that Miss Schurr sketched a likeness of her assailant at the time.

Keel For 4th A-Sub Will Be Laid Jan. 25

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Navy announced today the keel for the fourth atomic power submarine Swordfish, will be laid at Portsmouth, N.H., Naval Shipyard on Jan. 25.

The Swordfish will be the first nuclear powered vessel to be constructed in a government shipyard. The Navy's first three atomic submarines are all products of the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. at Groton, Conn. They are the Nautilus, now in service, and the Seawolf and the Skate, both under construction.

French Cabinet Orders Unified Rule In Algeria

PARIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—The French Cabinet today clamped a tight one-man rule over the mountainous coastal region of Algeria in an attempt to stamp out rebel terrorism. In the past 24 hours 36 persons have been killed in scattered Algerian violence.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 11 (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, convicted of wife murder in a sensational 1954 Cleveland trial, today won an important victory. The Ohio Supreme Court agreed to review his case.

The high court's action opened an avenue of hope to the 32-year-old osteopath now serving a life sentence in Ohio Penitentiary for second-degree murder in the July 4, 1954, bludgeon slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31.

A few hours later, Sheppard told newsmen during an interview at the prison that he feels he eventually will be a free man. He added:

"I feel the case will be solved. I feel there will be a confession made. I am hopeful the courts will favor my case and I feel they will if they adhere to the law."

His attorneys, under the decision to review, will have a chance to attack the conviction by a jury in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court.

But, one of his attorneys concedes, they will be forced to confine their arguments to those presented to the jury more than a year ago.

In another action today, the Supreme Court rejected Sheppard's appeal from lower courts' refusal to grant him a new trial on grounds new evidence has been discovered. That action, says William J. Corrigan of Cleveland, means he and his colleagues cannot present new evidence in Sheppard's behalf.

Floods Hit Nova Scotia

Young Salesman Held In Case Of Missing Blonde

The body of 20-year-old Jacqueline Smith has not been found and Deputy Chief Inspector Edward Byrnes told reporters:

"There is a possibility that the body may have been dissected."

The boy friend, Thomas G. Daniels, 24, was held in $25,000 bail as a material witness. Authorities said he had knowledge of the girl's death but that the killer apparently was another person.

Second Man Questioned

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman called Miss Smith almost certainly the victim of a "criminal homicide"—a legal charge that could cover her death at the hands of an abortionist.

A short, slender unidentified second man was under police questioning in the case. Seized in his apartment was a black valise containing doctor's instruments. Inspector Byrnes was asked if they could have been used in an abortion. He replied:

"Some of them could be used for that purpose."

In asking bond for Daniels, Herman told General Sessions Judge Edward J. McCullen:

"There are reasonable grounds to believe that if he is not held he might not be able to testify."

Conflicts In Story

Daniels had previously been questioned in Miss Smith's disappearance. He was picked up again at 1 a.m. today.

Police at first quoted Daniels as saying Miss Smith killed herself in Japanese hara-kiri fashion when he refused to marry her. He reportedly told them he dumped her body in the Hudson River afterwards.

Detectives found conflicts in this story. Herman's remarks in court indicated Daniels later told a different version.

Grounded Destroyer Freed, Tug Still Fast

CAPE HENRY, Va., Jan. 11 (AP)—The escort destroyer Basilone, aground off Cape Henry since last Thursday, was refloated today by a combination of an abnormally high tide and the pulling power of two Navy salvage tugs.

But the salvage tug Seneca, which was blown ashore Saturday while trying to free the Basilone, remained hard aground within 100 yards of the spot where the destroyer had been blown aground. The Navy hopes the Seneca will be refloated at tomorrow night's high tide.

The Basilone was pulled off the bar by the salvage vessels Hoist and Salvager. She was towed to the naval shipyard at Portsmouth where she will be placed in dry dock to determine whether she was damaged by the grounding.

Army Doctors Report Health As 'Excellent'

Physicians Say Rest In Key West Helped Physical Condition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—"Excellent" was the word doctors applied to President Eisenhower's health today.

Three Army physicians who made another examination of the President in his White House bedroom this morning reported his recovery from a Sept. 24 heart attack continues to progress satisfactorily. Then they added:

"His physical condition is excellent and he benefitted greatly from the exercise and relaxation obtained during his recent visit to Key West."

These were welcome words to Republicans who are hoping that Eisenhower will lead them again in the presidential and congressional elections this fall.

Health Factor In Decision

The President reiterated to newsmen just before he left Florida Sunday that his health will be a very important factor in deciding whether he will run for re-election.

To members of Congress who have been inquiring about his health, Eisenhower is writing that he feels "fine." This added to a growing feeling of optimism in GOP ranks.

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the President's personal physician; Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, heart specialist at Walter Reed Army Hospital here; and Col. Byron E. Pollack, chief heart specialist at Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver, conducted today's examination.

No Advance Notice

They made the usual electrocardiogram and blood tests and reported the results were "good." They spent 45 minutes with him.

There was no advance public notice of today's checkup. Hagerty said it was made at the suggestion of the three physicians. Dr. Pollack did not come to Washington for the express purpose of joining in the examination, Hagerty said, but was here to attend a series of medical meetings at the National Institutes of Health.

Guard Called In Strike Violence

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP)—Three hundred National Guardsmen were called out today at direction of Gov. Leroy Collins to help prevent further disorders at picket lines thrown up by construction workers at the big Chemstrand Corp., nylon plant near Pensacola.

Asst. Adjt. Gen. Robert G. White at St. Augustine said the action was taken as a precautionary move at the request of Sheriff R. L. Kendrick.

Picketing has been directed at the Daniel Construction Co., of Greenville, S.C., which is engaged in construction of an expansion of the Chemstrand plant manufacturing nylon fiber.

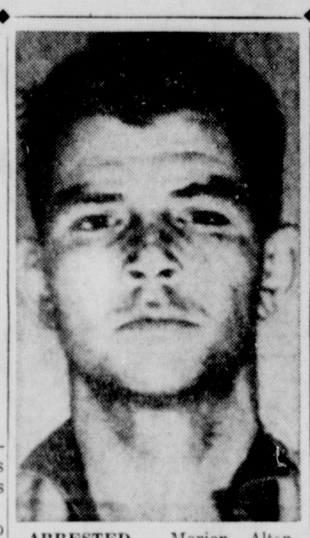

Daniel has been hiring on a non-union, open shop basis.

Because there are only two roads leading to the Chemstrand plant, production workers at Chemstrand have been affected since they must pass through picket lines to get to their work.

Kendrick advised White that he did not have sufficient manpower to handle the situation.

Collins issued the call from Los Angeles where he is on a business trip.

Several persons were beaten, cars overturned and windows smashed in disorders on the picket line yesterday. One picket was arrested on a charge of inciting to riot.

ARRESTED — Marion Alton Dejean (above), 29, Shreveport, La., was reported by sheriff's deputies and city police at Alexandria, La., to have confessed to the double slaying of an Air Force captain and his father-in-law Dec. 22. He was arrested at Shreveport and reportedly identified as the killer of the two men by the captain's widow. (AP Photofax)

Missionaries Believed Dead; Hunt Continues

QUITO, Ecuador, Jan. 11 (AP)—Five U. S. missionaries who penetrated Amazon jungle territory peopled by savage Auca Indians all were feared dead today after a second unidentified body near their stripped plane was seen from the air.

John Keenan, also a missionary, reported spotting the body of a man in the Curaray River not far from the plane, which has been reduced to a skeleton.

Keenan made his reconnaissance flight from Shell Mera, an oil company headquarters camp, early this morning. Capt. Gonzalo Ruales, an Ecuadorian commercial pilot, reported seeing a bonfire in the same area at dusk yesterday, but Keenan said he saw no sign of life.

Indian Lance In Body

Yesterday Keenan found the plane and a U. S. Air Force searcher saw an unidentified body about a quarter of a mile from the stripped plane. One report said an Indian lance protruded from the body.

The five missing missionaries are Nathanial Saint, Huntingdon Valley, Pa.; James Elliott, 27, Portland, Ore.; Edward McCulley, Milwaukee, Wis.; Roger Youderian, Lansing, Mich., and Peter Fleming, Seattle Wash.

Youderian was identified as a missionary of the Gospel Missionary Union and the other four as representatives of Christian Missions in Many Lands. Both are Protestant organizations.

Search Party On Way

The party went into the jungle in a small Piper plane to make friends with the Auca Indians. They carried a radio transmitter and the last message they sent was: "Here come a group of Aucas whom we have not known before."

A party of 16 Ecuadorian soldiers, 7 missionaries and 6 guides went into the jungle to search for the missionaries. It is following Indian trails toward the confluence of the Curaray and Oglama rivers in Ecuador's northeastern Amazon territory. It may take them four days to reach the area where the plane was seen.

Error By Marines

DANBURY, Conn., Jan. 11 (AP)—Prentice Tallman received a letter from the U. S. Marine Corps urging him to "make an appointment and visit our recruiter."

A Danbury News-Times reporter arranged a meeting today between him and Sgt. Edwin A. Ireland.

Name To Be Entered In Ill. Primary

Kerr's Suggestion GOP Not 'Overload' Ike Stirs Up Storm

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower, still keeping his own counsel on the second term question, today refused to "assent or dissent" to entry of his name in the Illinois presidential preference primary April 10.

A White House statement said, however, this was not to be interpreted as meaning the President has yet made a final decision on whether to run again.

The statement was issued after Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois announced in Springfield, Ills., that he would enter the President's name. Stratton said he had not consulted Eisenhower, but added: "This is our way of saying, Mr. President, we hope you run again."

The White House statement was issued by James C. Hagerty, press secretary to the President, with Eisenhower's approval.

Kerr Stirs Up Storm

It came as a hot Republican-Democratic row developed over a statement by Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) suggesting that Republicans be careful not to put too great a burden on Eisenhower's health.

In his weekly newsletter to constituents, Kerr noted that Eisenhower's State of the Union message was read to Congress by clerks and added:

"The fact that he was physically unable to deliver it in person is evidence that it was either much too long, or, that those so urgently pushing him to run again should take warning lest they put too great a burden on his physical reserve.

"However, these Republicans are so alarmed about their own low political reserve they plan to bring Ike to the GOP convention, even if he has to stay in Letterman General Hospital (at San Francisco), which reportedly is preparing a suite for him."

"Despicable" Remark

Maj. Gen. Paul I. Robinson, commandant of the hospital, said Dec. 25 that a suite was being prepared at the hospital. It was explained that it would be ready should the President attend the national convention next August and need a place to rest.

The Republican National Committee today put out statements by several Republican leaders and legislators calling Kerr's remarks foul, despicable and vicious.

Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said:

"The people of the United States are shocked at the viciousness of Sen. Kerr's remarks about the President. . . .

"Everybody knows the President's true physical condition has been described in detail from Sept. 24 up to and including today. Since his return to work, he has assumed an increasing portion of his work load and he has been in consultation with legislative leaders. . . .

No Request For Hospital Room

"The Letterman General Hospital has not received any request from the Republican National Committee or from anyone else for a room for President Eisenhower and any intimation to the contrary is an unmitigated lie.

"Shame on Sen. Kerr."

Sen. Carlson (R-Kans) said Kerr is "guilty of a foul blow." Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) said the "utter lack of even common decency displayed by Sen. Kerr is beyond belief."

Rep. Halleck of Indiana, a House Republican leader, declared Kerr "has been in the lead in vituperative utterances" since the 1952 Republican election victory.

"His low boiling point has warped whatever judgment he ever had," Halleck said.

"While the whole country rejoices in the recovery and the present excellent health of the president, the senator from Oklahome distorts the truth and his statements will be recognized for just what they are—trash."

Beauty Queen Rape Victim; Fiance Captures Assailant

SANTA ANA, Calif., Jan. 11 (AP)—An 18-year-old state beauty contest winner was kidnaped and raped late last night and minutes later her fiance captured her assailant after a 100-mile-an-hour chase.

The victim is Donna May Schurr, who was Miss California in last summer's Miss Universe contest.

Sheriff's deputies said Jack James Walker, 25, broke into Miss Schurr's home at nearby Garden Grove and then dragged her at knifepoint to his car.

Walker, of Santa Ana, was charged today with rape and kidnaping.

The beauty queen's fiance drove up to her house just as she was released in a hysterical condition from Walker's car, officers said. The fiance, Lloyd Brett, 21, chased Walker in a 100-mile-an-hour race over back roads, forcing his car off the road.

California Highway Patrol officers joined the chase when the speeding cars went through stop signs. One officer restrained Brett from shooting Walker.

Deputies said Walker had confessed a similar attack on the blue-eyed, brown-haired beauty last March. Then he hid in the back seat of her car at a drive-in where she was employed and threatened her with a knife.

He was never apprehended on that offense but deputies said that Miss Schurr sketched a likeness of her assailant at the time.

Nation's Weather Remains Glued In Freakish Pattern

[By The Associated Press]

The nation's weather remained glued Wednesday in a freakish "standstill" pattern that has brought crop-killing cold to Florida and drought to the Great Plains.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Chicago said that the usual systems of "bad" and "good" weather have virtually ceased to move in their normal cycles.

A wintry chill has gripped Florida and the Southeast since Sunday and "continued rather cold" was the forecast for Thursday.

The West Coast has had some rain every day since the first of the year.

A long spell of fair and dry weather has sapped soil moisture and seriously retarded the growth of winter wheat, oats and rye in the Central and Southern Plains.

A nearly stalled storm center east of Maryland and Delaware was blamed for the freakish weather in the East. Affecting a tremendous area from Cuba to north of Newfoundland, it has sucked cold air into the Southeast and pushed mild Atlantic air far inland in the North.

The broad flow of moist air from the Atlantic brought some sleeting or freezing drizzle and a widespread cloud cover westward to the Mississippi River.

The Chicago area was coated with a thin ice cover for the second straight day Wednesday. Police reported about 100 car accidents between 6 and 7 a.m., when the early rush hour got under way.

Keel For 4th A-Sub Will Be Laid Jan. 25

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Navy announced today the keel for the fourth atomic power submarine Swordfish, will be laid at Portsmouth, N.H., Naval Shipyard on Jan. 25.

The Swordfish will be the first nuclear powered vessel to be constructed in a government shipyard. The Navy's first three atomic submarines are all products of the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. at Groton, Conn. They are the Nautilus, now in service, and the Seawolf and the Skate, both under construction.

House Republicans Agree Speedy Farm Aid Needed

Talks Produce Suggestions For Immediate Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — A conference of House Republicans agreed today that farmers need immediate "shot in the arm" help, while awaiting for the long-range effects of President Eisenhower's farm program.

This was reported by Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House Republican leader who held a two-hour caucus with fellow members concerned about the farm situation.

Martin emphasized there was "no opposition to the long-range program of the President" but said members felt it might take a year or more for its effects to be felt.

Martin told reporters he will transmit the views expressed at the caucus to Eisenhower at the next White House conference of legislative leaders.

The House leader said the conference produced three suggestions which he said seemed to reflect the general sentiment of GOP members:

1. The farmers need immediately an emergency government pork-and-beef-buying program that would lift livestock prices. The government now has a limited program under way for buying pork products. Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Monday this would be expanded and would include beef "sometime in February."

2. Farmers, especially veterans, need liberalized credit to prevent some of them from losing their farms through mortgage foreclosures.

3. Government-purchased beef and pork should be added to the federal school lunch program in quantity. Some government pork is now assigned to the program but meat for the menu is usually acquired through local purchases financed jointly by federal and state governments.

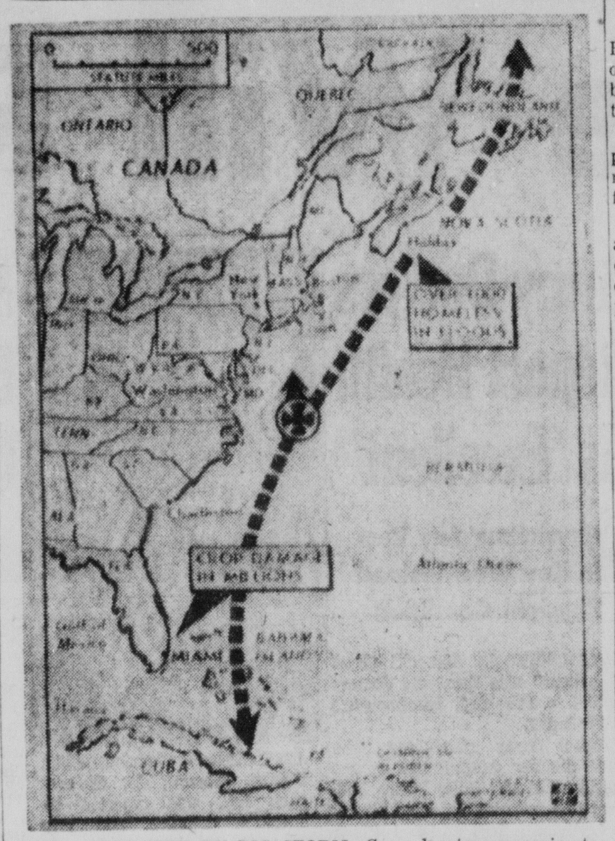

In another farm development today, Eisenhower appealed for congressional action this session on the special problems of soil erosion and drought in the Great Plains.

Also today, Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said in a statement that Eisenhower's general program would only "further weaken the farmer's position."

"Farmers," Butler said, "will be discovering soon that the Eisenhower administration is methodically dismantling the farm program piece by piece and that farmers have yet to feel the full 'flexibility' of which the administration is capable."

Butler specifically criticized proposals to put corn and rice under flexible price supports which were advanced by Eisenhower as one alternative, to change the formula for determining the support level for cotton, and "to finance the soil-bank plan out of sales of current surplus stocks—which will merely put more surpluses on the market and further depress prices."

Eisenhower's message on the Great Plains situation said farmers and ranchers there are in bad shape, because of drought conditions.

AREA AFFECTED BY BIG STORM—Cross locates approximate position of the storm which is affecting the eastern seaboard. The Miami Weather Bureau says the storm stretches (broken line) from outer reaches of Cuba to area north of Newfoundland as it drifts slowly northward. More than 1,000 were made homeless in Nova Scotia, some New England sections were theatened with flood and near freezing weather has brought heavy damage to crops in Florida. (AP Photofax)

Pentagon Ups Draft For March To 16,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (INS)—The Pentagon boosted the draft for March from 6,000 to 16,000 men today and announced total inductions since the start of the Korean war will pass the two million mark in that month.

The March increase was due entirely to the fact that the Navy again will require 10,000 inductees. The Army in March will draft 6,000 men, continuing the all-time low rate established for the ground forces for January and February.

Dulles Says Republicans Averted War Three Times By Taking 'Strong Action'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says the Eisenhower administration three times looked war "square in the face" and averted it by taking "strong action."

On one such occasion, Dulles said in an interview made public today by Life magazine, he telephoned his recommendations to President Eisenhower in the middle of the night.

"It took a lot more courage for the President than for me," said Dulles. "His was the ultimate decision. I did not have to make the decision myself, only to recommend it. The President never flinched for a minute on any of these situations. He came up taut."

Dulles was quoted further by James Shepley, Time-Life bureau chief in Washington, as saying the war-and-peace incidents were:

"The question of enlarging the Korean War ... The question of getting into the Indochina war ... The question of Formosa."

"We walked to the brink and we looked it in the face," Dulles said. "We took strong action."

It was 2 a.m. on June 18, 1953, the magazine said, that Dulles was awakened by his bedroom telephone bell to be told President Syngman Rhee had freed thousands of Communist war prisoners in South Korea. The story said Dulles realized this might broaden the Korean War and he used a private phone to have the White House switchboard operator awaken the President.

"He told Eisenhower of Rhee's action and briefly stated the implications," the story said, adding:

"Dulles found the President calm and ready. The decision was made. If the Communists walked out of the (truce) negotiations, the U.S. would not only renew the war in Korea but would extend it to air bombardment of Manchuria and the use of tactical atomic weapons."

The Communists grumbled but did not walk out of the truce talks and an agreement to halt the firing was reached soon after. Part of Korea is under control of the Communists and part under Rhee.

The second instance was timed as April 4, 1954. It was then, the story said, that Dulles recommended at a White House conference to let the Communist Chinese know that the United States would react with atomic attack against the Red China mainland if the Communists openly intervened in Indochina.

The third incident Dulles listed involved congressional approval of a resolution authorizing Eisenhower to use U.S. military forces should Red China attack Formosa or related positions. That was in the fall of 1954. The Chinese Communists never attacked but have reinforced their air strength in the area and still talk menacingly.

Baltimore Gets Set For Possible Transit Strike

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The Baltimore Transit Co. and its employes union met for nearly two hours today but recessed until Friday with no progress reported in the talks to avert a strike Jan. 28.

That's when the present contract ends. It was negotiated in 1952, ending a crippling 19-day strike.

Meanwhile, Henry A. Barnes, Baltimore traffic director, disclosed his department is drafting an emergency parking and street plan to be used in the event of a transit strike.

At today's meeting in the office of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, the company issued a prepared statement calling the union's demands for a 25-cent hourly increase "unrealistic and impossible to meet."

Union leaders countered that the BTC was placing a slanted interpretation on their requests and challenged the company to make a counterproposal.

Company representatives said they could not meet the union demands without "an increase in fares that would be staggering."

"The company would not ask for the increase in fares. The Public Service Commission would not grant it. The public would not pay it," the statement by BTC President Dale W. Barratt said.

Barratt was not present at the meeting but his typewritten statement was read in the first 10 minutes of the session. It said the union demand for a 25-cent increase and other benefits would cost the company more than 4½ million dollars a year, "which would be five times the whole year's operating profit of the company."

The transit firm reported an operating profit of $854,000 for 1955.

Gorilla On Milk Binge Gets Tests

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Jambo, a gorilla, underwent medical tests today to determine why he suddenly has stopped eating or drinking anything but milk.

The suspicion is that Jambo has an ulcer and instinctively restricts himself to milk to alleviate it.

The 5-year-old gorilla, who cost Pittsburgh's Highland Park Zoo $6,000 as an infant, was brought to the Bronx Zoo yesterday in a heated station wagon to undergo the tests.

Two Pittsburg keepers who accompanied him said Jambo's weight had dropped from 75 pounds to 55 in the past three weeks and that during that time he has taken nothing but milk.

Paratrooper's Life Saved By His Buddy

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky., Jan. 11 (AP) —Hurtling from a sky filled with gently swaying parachutes, the sergeant—his chute twisted in a cigaret roll—was seconds from death.

Then fate stepped in, in this case named Lessie Smith, a big Negro paratrooper from Cleveland, Ohio.

As Sgt. James Closson of Everett, Mass., flashed past, Smith got a desperate grip on Closson's parachute and had himself a hitch-hiker.

Both men landed safely, to the relief of spectators, who included Brig. Gen. Joe Stilwell Jr., commander of the 188th Regiment of the 11th Airborne Division. He promoted Smith to private first class on the spot.

Four hundred men of the 188th made the jump during airborne maneuvers yesterday. Pfc. Smth was making his seventh jump, Sgt. Closson his 28th.

Bandits Force 'Host' To Cash $917 Check

CENTERPORT, N.Y., Jan. 11 (AP) —Two masked bandits broke into a neat ranch home last night and held four persons captive for 12 hours. When banks opened this morning, they forced their unwilling host to cash a check for them for $917.

Unlike their fictional counterparts in the movie "the Desperate Hours," the gunmen were polite. Although they tied the family, they did them no violence.

At first the pair planned to clean out the entire $2,000 bank account of Arthur Seifts, 65, a retired insurance man.

But Seifts, talking with them through the night as they helped themselves to his scotch and rye, persuaded them the bank might become suspicious. They finally settled on the odd sum of $917.

The gunmen got into the house while Seifts and his wife were at a movie.

Freed Priests Offer Thanksgiving Mass

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—A Mass of thanksgiving for their release from imprisonment in Red China was offered today by three Dominican priests before 1,000 persons gathered in St. Vincent Ferrer Roman Catholic church.

The three, who had spent 20 years or more preaching in China, were held by the Reds for 25 months, tried on a series of charges and expelled Sept. 18.

They are the Rev. Frederick Gordon, of Somerset, Ohio, who was awarded the title of preacher general of the order; the Rev. James G. Joyce, Clinton, Mass.; and the Rev. Joseph E. Hyde, Lowell, Mass.

Cobalt Capsule Exposure Puts Four In Hospital

MILFORD, Conn., Jan. 11 (AP) — Four men learned today that weeks of uncertainty lie ahead for them because of their unwitting exposure to a capsule of radioactive cobalt.

A Geiger counter betrayed the presence of the cobalt in an automobile in which the men arrived for work at a construction job.

Whether they suffered any harm, a hospital spokesman said, can be determined only after a long series of tests even though the men appeared in good condition.

"It is much too early to make any statement of the effects they may have suffered," the spokesman said.

The capsule, used to spot defects in structural steel and piping, disappeared from the job yesterday.

Benjamin Zowacki, 33, of Norwich said he took it because he wanted the string by which the capsule hung from a pipe. He didn't know, he said, that the capsule measuring an inch and a half was dangerous.

Neither did he know, he said, that periodic radio and television warnings had been broadcast after the disappearance of the capsule.

"I didn't know anything about it until this morning when they stopped me and asked what I had in my car," Zowacki told a newsman after the cobalt had been found in the glove compartment. "I was looking for a piece of string and I saw this thing hanging there and I took it."

Zowacki was admitted to Bridgeport Hospital after preliminary tests made by Dr. Joseph Esposito, chief radiologist. The patient, said Dr. Esposito, will be kept under observation for "delayed effects," including "local effects" such as burnlike areas which may appear in a week and more serious effects that could develop later.

Action Delayed On Transit Fare Boost Proposal

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The Public Service Commission today postponed until Jan. 25 further action on the Suburban Transit Co.'s request for increased zone fares in the Maryland suburbs of Washington.

The postponement was ordered to give commission auditors time to examine new financial exhibits filed by the company at a hearing today.

Thomas Parran Jr., sole proprietor of the transit firm, is asking for increases of 5 to 19 cents in zone fares on Suburban routes from Silver Spring to Rockville, Bethesda, Ashton, and College Park.

Parran told the commission today that the company is now operating "in the red"—it lost $6,450.41 in the quarter ended Sept. 31, 1955—and that "there is nothing but doom" for the firm if the losses continue.

Parran's auditor, Robert L. Millard of Wheaton, estimated that the increased fares on intra-state rides would add $19,885 annually to the company's revenues. This, together with $25,613 additional fares on interstate trips allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission would allow Parran a $12,000 salary and provide funds to purchase needed new equipment.

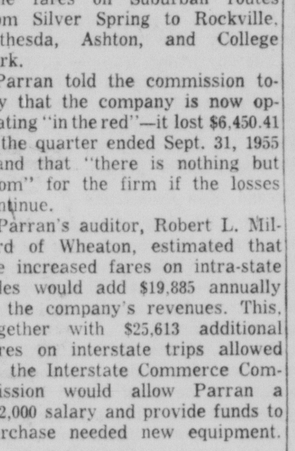

Egypt-Israeli Clash

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 11 (AP)—An Egyptian military spokesman said Egyptian and Israeli forces traded mortar and automatic weapons' fire for an hour today in the El Auja demilitarized zone.

He said there were no casualties on the Egyptian side. The spokesman claimed the firing started after an Israeli force fired on an Egyptian post outside the zone.

Proposed Excise Tax Exemption For Parochial Schools Rejected

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Treasury today rejected suggestions for exempting parochial schools from federal excise taxes on their purchase of such things as buses and gasoline. It stated general opposition to further extension of tax exemption to particular classes of beneficiaries.

Dan Throop Smith, special assistant on tax policy to Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, characterized the parochial school proposals as "a use of federal tax policy to further general social aims."

The suggestion on parochial schools was made by Rep. Forand (D-RI), chairman of a House Ways and Means subcommittee studying the need for revision of the excise tax laws.

Forand said taxpayers supporting parochial schools are "carrying a double burden" of private payments and school taxes, and asked if the Treasury did not consider excise tax relief for parochial schools to be "in the best interests of the country."

Smith told the subcommittee he sympathizes with Forand's proposal as a "worthy objective," but he said it represents a social rather than a fiscal matter and is not a proper subject for tax policy.

Congress has waived most excises on taxable purchases by state and local governments.

Last Union Army Vet Hospitalized Following Falls

DULUTH, Minn., Jan. 11 (AP)—Albert Woolson, 108, last Union Army veteran of the Civil War, was hospitalized here today.

Mrs. John Kobus, Woolson's daughter, said he had been treated several times for a form of lung congestion since last Thanksgiving Day. She said he fell in his room yesterday and again today, apparently from weakness. He apparently was not injured in the falls.

Mrs. Kobus said her father's condition is not serious, that he was hospitalized only to restore his strength.

HAMMOND, Ind., Jan. 11 (AP) — When Leon Peach, 19, Hammond, was brought into City Court on a charge of siphoning gasoline from an automobile, Judge Frank Stodola put him at a desk to write "I will not steal" 1,000 times.

Amman Curfew Eased; Troops Guard Buildings

AMMAN, Jordan, Jan. 11 (AP) — Amman's public buildings were heavily guarded by troops today, but the curfew clamped on during weekend riots against the Western-backed Baghdad Pact was further relaxed.

The curfew was lifted for six hours, and the government said it would be reduced to 12 hours tomorrow, making it only a night-time restriction. There was a progressive lessening of tension, with most shops reopening during the no-curfew period.

But the ban on public gatherings was still tight.

Rioters last Saturday attacked buildings and burned automobiles belonging to Americans and British in Jordan and staged further demonstrations Sunday.

The U.S. Embassy said today demonstrators burned an American technical aid mission tent and two trailers at the port of Aqaba. No American casualties have been reported in the riots.

A delayed dispatch from the Jordan-held sector of Jerusalem said the curfew was continuing around-the-clock there yesterday.

House Republicans Agree Speedy Farm Aid Needed

Talks Produce Suggestions For Immediate Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — A conference of House Republicans agreed today that farmers need immediate "shot in the arm" help, while awaiting for the long-range effects of President Eisenhower's farm program.

This was reported by Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House Republican leader who held a two-hour caucus with fellow members concerned about the farm situation.

Martin emphasized there was "no opposition to the long-range program of the President" but said members felt it might take a year or more for its effects to be felt.

Martin told reporters he will transmit the views expressed at the caucus to Eisenhower at the next White House conference of legislative leaders.

The House leader said the conference produced three suggestions which he said seemed to reflect the general sentiment of GOP members:

1. The farmers need immediately an emergency government pork-and-beef-buying program that would lift livestock prices. The government now has a limited program under way for buying pork products. Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Monday this would be expanded and would include beef "sometime in February."

2. Farmers, especially veterans, need liberalized credit to prevent some of them from losing their farms through mortgage foreclosures.

3. Government-purchased beef and pork should be added to the federal school lunch program in quantity. Some government pork is now assigned to the program but meat for the menu is usually acquired through local purchases financed jointly by federal and state governments.

In another farm development today, Eisenhower appealed for congressional action this session on the special problems of soil erosion and drought in the Great Plains.

Also today, Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said in a statement that Eisenhower's general program would only "further weaken the farmer's position."

"Farmers," Butler said, "will be discovering soon that the Eisenhower administration is methodically dismantling the farm program piece by piece and that farmers have yet to feel the full 'flexibility' of which the administion is capable."

Butler specifically criticized proposals to put corn and rice under flexible price supports which were advanced by Eisenhower as one alternative, to change the formula for determining the support level for cotton, and "to finance the soil-bank plan out of sales of current surplus stocks—which will merely put more surpluses on the market and further depress prices."

Eisenhower's message on the Great Plains situation said farmers and ranchers there are in bad shape, because of drought conditions.

Pentagon Ups Draft For March To 16,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (INS)—The Pentagon boosted the draft for March from 6,000 to 16,000 men today and announced total inductions since the start of the Korean war will pass the two million mark in that month.

The March increase was due entirely to the fact that the Navy again will require 10,000 inductees. The Army in March will draft 6,000 men, continuing the all-time low rate established for the ground forces for January and February.

Dulles Says Republicans Averted War Three Times By Taking 'Strong Action'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says the Eisenhower administration three times looked war "square in the face" and averted it by taking "strong action."

On one such occasion, Dulles said in an interview made public today by Life magazine, he telephoned his recommendations to President Eisenhower in the middle of the night.

"It took a lot more courage for the President than for me," said Dulles. "His was the ultimate decision. I did not have to make the decision myself, only to recommend it. The President never flinched for a minute on any of these situations. He came up taut."

Dulles was quoted further by James Shepley, Time-Life bureau chief in Washington, as saying the war-and-peace incidents were:

"The question of enlarging the Korean War . . . The question of getting into the Indochina war . . . The question of Formosa."

"We walked to the brink and we looked it in the face," Dulles said. "We took strong action."

It was 2 a.m. on June 18, 1953, the magazine said, that Dulles was awakened by his bedroom telephone bell to be told President Syngman Rhee had freed thousands of Communist war prisoners in South Korea. The story said Dulles realized this might broaden the Korean War and he used a private phone to have the White House switchboard operator awaken the President.

"He told Eisenhower of Rhee's action and briefly stated the implications," the story said, adding:

"Dulles found the President calm and ready. The decision was made. If the Communists walked out of the (truce) negotiations, the U.S. would not only renew the war in Korea but would extend it to air bombardment of Manchuria and the use of tactical atomic weapons."

The Communists grumbled but did not walk out of the truce talks and an agreement to halt the firing was reached soon after. Part of Korea is under control of the Communists and part under Rhee.

The second instance was timed as April 4, 1954. It was then, the story said, that Dulles recommended at a White House conference to let the Communist Chinese know that the United States would react with atomic attack against the Red China mainland if the Communists openly intervened in Indochina.

The third incident Dulles listed involved congressional approval of a resolution authorizing Eisenhower to use U.S. military forces should Red China attack Formosa or related positions. That was in the fall of 1954. The Chinese Communists never attacked but have reinforced their air strength in the area and still talk menacingly.

Baltimore Gets Set For Possible Transit Strike

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The Baltimore Transit Co. and its employes union met for nearly two hours today but recessed until Friday with no progress reported in the talks to avert a strike Jan. 28.

That's when the present contract ends. It was negotiated in 1952, ending a crippling 19-day strike.

Meanwhile, Henry A. Barnes, Baltimore traffic director, disclosed his department is drafting an emergency parking and street plan to be used in the event of a transit strike.

At today's meeting in the office of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, the company issued a prepared statement calling the union's demands for a 25-cent hourly increase "unrealistic and impossible to meet."

Union leaders countered that the BTC was placing a slanted interpretation on their requests and challenged the company to make a counterproposal.

Company representatives said they could not meet the union demands without "an increase in fares that would be staggering."

"The company would not ask for the increase in fares. The Public Service Commission would not grant it. The public would not pay it," the statement by BTC President Dale W. Barratt said.

Barratt was not present at the meeting but his typewritten statement was read in the first 10 minutes of the session. It said the union demand for a 25-cent increase and other benefits would cost the company more than 4½ million dollars a year, "which would be five times the whole year's operating profit of the company."

The transit firm reported an operating profit of $854,000 for 1955.

Gorilla On Milk Binge Gets Tests

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Jambo, a gorilla, underwent medical tests today to determine why he suddenly has stopped eating or drinking anything but milk.

The suspicion is that Jambo has an ulcer and instinctively restricts himself to milk to alleviate it.

The 5-year-old gorilla, who cost Pittsburgh's Highland Park Zoo $6,000 as an infant, was brought to the Bronx Zoo yesterday in a heated station wagon to undergo the tests.

Two Pittsburg keepers who accompanied him said Jambo's weight had dropped from 75 pounds to 55 in the past three weeks and that during that time he has taken nothing but milk.

Paratrooper's Life Saved By His Buddy

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky., Jan. 11 (AP)—Hurtling from a sky filled with gently swaying parachutes, the sergeant—his chute twisted in a cigaret roll—was seconds from death.

Then fate stepped in, in this case named Lessie Smith, a big Negro paratrooper from Cleveland, Ohio.

As Sgt. James Closson of Everett, Mass., flashed past, Smith got a desperate grip on Closson's parachute and had himself a hitchhiker.

Both men landed safely, to the relief of spectators, who included Brig. Gen. Joe Stilwell Jr., commander of the 188th Regiment of the 11th Airborne Division. He promoted Smith to private first class on the spot.

Four hundred men of the 188th made the jump during airborne maneuvers yesterday. Pfc. Smth was making his seventh jump, Sgt. Closson his 28th.

Bandits Force 'Host' To Cash $917 Check

CENTERPORT, N.Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—Two masked bandits broke into a neat ranch home last night and held four persons captive for 12 hours. When banks opened this morning, they forced their unwilling host to cash a check for them for $917.

Unlike their fictional counterparts in the movie "the Desperate Hours," the gunmen were polite. Although they tied the family, they did them no violence.

At first the pair planned to clean out the entire $2,000 bank account of Arthur Seifts, 65, a retired insurance man.

But Seifts, talking with them through the night as they helped themselves to his scotch and rye, persuaded them the bank might become suspicious. They finally settled on the odd sum of $917.

The gunmen got into the house while Seifts and his wife were at a movie.

Freed Priests Offer Thanksgiving Mass

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—A Mass of thanksgiving for their release from imprisonment in Red China was offered today by three Dominican priests before 1,000 persons gathered in St. Vincent Ferrer Roman Catholic church.

The three, who had spent 20 years or more preaching in China, were held by the Reds for 25 months, tried on a series of charges and expelled Sept. 18.

They are the Rev. Frederick Gordon, of Somerset, Ohio, who was awarded the title of preacher general of the order; the Rev. James G. Joyce, Clinton, Mass.; and the Rev. Joseph E. Hyde, Lowell, Mass.

Cobalt Capsule Exposure Puts Four In Hospital

MILFORD, Conn., Jan. 11 (AP) — Four men learned today that weeks of uncertainty lie ahead for them because of their unwitting exposure to a capsule of radioactive cobalt.

A Geiger counter betrayed the presence of the cobalt in an automobile in which the men arrived for work at a construction job.

Whether they suffered any harm, a hospital spokesman said, can be determined only after a long series of tests even though the men appeared in good condition.

"It is much too early to make any statement of the effects they may have suffered," the spokesman said.

The capsule, used to spot defects in structural steel and piping, disappeared from the job yesterday.

Benjamin Zowacki, 33, of Norwich said he took it because he wanted the string by which the capsule hung from a pipe. He didn't know, he said, that the capsule measuring an inch and a half was dangerous.

Neither did he know, he said, that periodic radio and television warnings had been broadcast after the disappearance of the capsule.

"I didn't know anything about it until this morning when they stopped me and asked what I had in my car," Zowacki told a newsman after the cobalt had been found in the glove compartment. "I was looking for a piece of string and I saw this thing hanging there and I took it."

Zowacki was admitted to Bridgeport Hospital after preliminary tests made by Dr. Joseph Esposito, chief radiologist. The patient, said Dr. Esposito, will be kept under observation for "delayed effects," including "local effects" such as burnlike areas which may appear in a week and more serious effects that could develop later.

Action Delayed On Transit Fare Boost Proposal

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The Public Service Commission today postponed until Jan. 25 further action on the Suburban Transit Co.'s request for increased zone fares in the Maryland suburbs of Washington.

The postponement was ordered to give commission auditors time to examine new financial exhibits filed by the company at a hearing today.

Thomas Parran Jr., sole proprietor of the transit firm, is asking for increases of 5 to 19 cents in zone fares on Suburban routes from Silver Spring to Rockville, Bethesda, Ashton, and College Park.

Parran told the commission today that the company is now operating "in the red"—it lost $6,450.41 in the quarter ended Sept. 31, 1955—and that "there is nothing but doom" for the firm if the losses continue.

Parran's auditor, Robert L. Millard of Wheaton, estimated that the increased fares on intra-state rides would add $19,885 annually to the company's revenues. This, together with $25,613 additional fares on interstate trips allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission would allow Parran a $12,000 salary and provide funds to purchase needed new equipment.

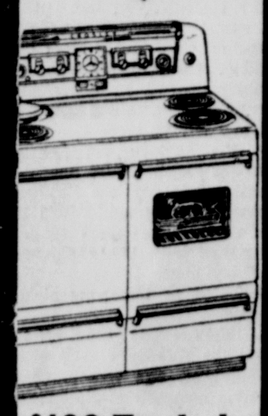

Egypt-Israeli Clash

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 11 (AP)—An Egyptian military spokesman said Egyptian and Israeli forces traded mortar and automatic weapons' fire for an hour today in the El Auja demilitarized zone.

He said there were no casualties on the Egyptian side. The spokesman claimed the firing started after an Israeli force fired on an Egyptian post outside the zone.

Proposed Excise Tax Exemption For Parochial Schools Rejected

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Treasury today rejected suggestions for exempting parochial schools from federal excise taxes on their purchase of such things as buses and gasoline. It stated general opposition to further extension of tax exemption to particular classes of beneficiaries.

Dan Throop Smith, special assistant on tax policy to Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, characterized the parochial school proposals as "a use of federal tax policy to further general social aims."

The suggestion on parochial schools was made by Rep. Forand (D-RI), chairman of a House Ways and Means subcommittee studying the need for revision of the excise tax laws.

Forand said taxpayers supporting parochial schools are "carrying a double burden" of private payments and school taxes, and asked if the Treasury did not consider excise tax relief for parochial schools to be "in the best interests of the country."

Smith told the subcommittee he sympathizes with Forand's proposal as a "worthy objective," but he said it represents a social rather than a fiscal matter and is not a proper subject for tax policy.

Congress has waived most excises on taxable purchases by state and local governments.

Last Union Army Vet Hospitalized Following Falls

DULUTH, Minn., Jan. 11 (AP)—Albert Woolson, 108, last Union Army veteran of the Civil War, was hospitalized here today.

Mrs. John Kobus, Woolson's daughter, said he had been treated several times for a form of lung congestion since last Thanksgiving Day. She said he fell in his room yesterday and again today, apparently from weakness. He apparently was not injured in the falls.

Mrs. Kobus said her father's condition is not serious, that he was hospitalized only to restore his strength.

HAMMOND, Ind., Jan. 11 (AP) — When Leon Peach, 19, Hammond, was brought into City Court on a charge of siphoning gasoline from an automobile, Judge Frank Stodola put him at a desk to write "I will not steal" 1,000 times.

Amman Curfew Eased; Troops Guard Buildings

AMMAN, Jordan, Jan. 11 (AP) — Amman's public buildings were heavily guarded by troops today, but the curfew clamped on during weekend riots against the Western-backed Baghdad Pact was further relaxed.

The curfew was lifted for six hours, and the government said it would be reduced to 12 hours tomorrow, making it only a nighttime restriction. There was a progressive lessening of tension, with most shops reopening during the no-curfew period.

But the ban on public gatherings was still tight.

Rioters last Saturday attacked buildings and burned automobiles belonging to Americans and British in Jordan and staged further demonstrations Sunday.

The U.S. Embassy said today demonstrators burned an American technical aid mission tent and two trailers at the port of Aqaba. No American casualties have been reported in the riots.

A delayed dispatch from the Jordan-held sector of Jerusalem said the curfew was continuing around-the-clock there yesterday.

Employment Record Broken In Maryland

837,200 Held Jobs Middle Of November

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—Employment in Maryland pushed upward to set a new record of 837,200 jobs about the middle of November, the State Department of Employment Security reported today.

This was a gain of 4,700 jobs over the estimates for the middle of October, and 47,500 over mid-November of 1954.

The previous record was 832,500 jobs in October 1955.

The gain from October to November was attributed largely to the employment of extra help in wholesale and retail establishments for the holiday shopping season.

A mild fall had kept employment in the construction industry high but there was a slight decrease in the number of jobs at the middle of November.

There was a 10 per cent dropoff in employment in the shipyards, but the November figure still was 56 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Employment in all but two industrial classifications show an improvement in comparing November of 1955 with the same month of 1954.

The two exceptions were the furniture and fixtures industry and the chemical field.

The department estimated there were 33,000 unemployed in the state at the middle of November—3.2 per cent of the civilian labor force. In November 1954 there were 52,000 job-seekers, 5.1 per cent of the labor force.

The department predicted December and January employment figures would be lower than the new record set in November. There usually is a slump as retail trade reverts to normal after the Christmas buying spree. The weather usually curtails construction, too, and some big industries close down for vacations, inventory, or maintenance.

The average work week for production workers in manufacturing was estimated at 41.1 hours in November. Average weekly earnings increased from $71 to $76.86.

Baltimore Surgeon Robbed By Burglar

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — Dr. Winthrop Phelps, prominent orthopedic surgeon and his wife were awakened about 4 a.m. today by a burglar who entered their home through a second floor window and robbed them of more than $200 in cash.

They said the burglar made them lie face down in bed and then had them direct him to the money. They were awakened when he shone his flashlight in their eyes.

Phelps said the intruder took $200 from two of his wallets and $14 in cash from Mrs. Phelps purse.

The man spent about ten minutes in the house then after warning the couple not to call police, fled down the stairs and out the front door.

Police found the man had entered by scaling a rainspout.

The Phelps said the burglar was tall and thin and appeared to be masked but since they were made to lie face down they were unable to see his face. The flashlight also made it difficult for them to see.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — Film star John Wayne sailed on the liner United States for Europe today and said he hoped the Soviet government would permit the showing of his film, "The Conqueror," in Moscow.

Wayne said the picture will have premieres in 18 world capitals and he expects to be present at those in Paris, Berlin, Rome and London. Wayne appears opposite Susan Haywood in the picture, which is based on the story of Genghis Kham.

Woman Second Victim Of New Year's Crash

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—Miss Emma Broseker, 67, died in a hospital today and became the second victim of a four-way automobile smashup on the Alameda in northeast Baltimore on New Year's night.

Miss Broseker was a passenger in a car which stopped on the Alemeda near 33rd street for a traffic light. It was rammed from behind by a car driven by William A. Insley, 36, who died of his injuries last Saturday.

Two Baltimore Firemen Killed In Truck Crash

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—A fire engine speeding to a minor blaze collided with a truck today, killing two firemen. Three other fire fighters and the driver of a car were hurt.

The fire engine's driver died in a hospital of injuries received when he was pinned under his vehicle. Thirty men who gathered after the crash lifted it off him.

The engine hit a car after colliding with the tractor-trailer at the busy Monument St.-Patterson Park Ave. intersection.

Fire Fighter Joseph Taylor, 41, was killed.

Charles Jerschied, driver of the fire truck, was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he died of injuries.

Also hurt were Fire Capt. Felix Wojchiewski, Firefighters William Bogden and Edmond Hall, and Gerald White, 31, hurt when the fire engine hit his car. All were taken to hospitals.

Henry Jones, driver of the tractor-trailer, and his helper Reuben McCoy, both of Baltimore, were not hurt.

The fire engine was northbound on Patterson Park, the truck eastbound on Monument. Jones said he entered the intersection on a green light and it was when he saw the engine bearing down on him that he first heard the siren.

Jones put on the brakes but it was too late. The fire truck rammed into the truck's cab, then hit White's car as firemen were thrown to the street.

Island Inspection Flight Postponed

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin postponed an inspection flight he and other state officials had scheduled today over Assateague Island, the sites of a proposed state park and toll bridge.

The weather was too bad for the flight, the governor's aides said. They indicated he probably will make the trip next week.

Slaying Case Goes To Grand Jury Today

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro will present evidence to the grand jury Friday charging three teenage boys with the fatal shooting of a Northwest Baltimore grocer Christmas Eve.

Charged with the slaying are Tyrone J. Stokley, 17, and Edward Butler and Richard A. Briscoe, both 15.

Detectives said one of the 15-year-olds will be named as the gunman who actually pulld the trigger which sent a fatal bullet into Louis Pristoop, the grocer.

Power Plant May Be Built Near Dickerson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Evening Star said today Potomac Electric Power Co. holds options on two large tracts in the Dickerson, Md., area as possible sites for a 100-million-dollar power plant to serve the Washington area.

The Star said this information appeared to lend credence to reports the plant will be built in Montgomery County, Md. County Manager M. L. Reese told the county council yesterday the company will announce the plant's location tomorrow.

The two sites are off Route 119 at its intersection with Route 28 near Dickerson. They are about 25 miles from Washington.

Tax Assessors Defied Supervisor

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The State Tax Commission today heard testimony that two Wicomico County assessors changed the assessed valuation of about 40 properties in Salisbury after their supervisor told them not to.

Carl L. Walter, the county's supervisor of assessments, charged Barton Mumford, 67, and Loran White, 65, with incompetence and insubordination.

He seeks their dismissal.

Walter testified he had not been able to get along with the two since he was appointed supervisor in 1951.

Mumford and White have been assessors since 1943.

Walter testified Mumford and White borrowed 580 assessment cards from his office, saying they wanted to check some new assessments made by Mumford to be sure no properties had been missed.

Walter said he told them not to change any figures. When the cards came back, he said, there were erasures on about 40 of them. In each case, assessments had been increased.

Miss Myrtle McDaniel, secretary to Walter, corroborated his testimony. She said she had heard him tell the two assessors not to change any of the figures.

Employment in all but two industrial classifications show an improvement in comparing November of 1955 with the same month of 1954.

The two exceptions were the furniture and fixtures industry and the chemical field.

The department estimated there were 33,000 unemployed in the state at the middle of November—3.2 per cent of the civilian labor force. In November 1954 there were 52,000 job-seekers, 5.1 per cent of the labor force.

The department predicted December and January employment figures would be lower than the new record set in November. There usually is a slump as retail trade reverts to normal after the Christmas buying spree. The weather usually curtails construction, too, and some big industries close down for vacations, inventory, or maintenance.

The average work week for production workers in manufacturing was estimated at 41.1 hours in November. Average weekly earnings increased from $71 to $76.86.

Baltimore Surgeon Robbed By Burglar

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — Dr. Winthrop Phelps, prominent orthopedic surgeon and his wife were awakened about 4 a.m. today by a burglar who entered their home through a second floor window and robbed them of more than $200 in cash.

They said the burglar made them lie face down in bed and then had them direct him to the money. They were awakened when he shone his flashlight in their eyes.

Phelps said the intruder took $200 from two of his wallets and $14 in cash from Mrs. Phelps purse.

The man spent about ten minutes in the house then after warning the couple not to call police, fled down the stairs and out the front door.

Police found the man had entered by scaling a rainspout.

The Phelps said the burglar was tall and thin and appeared to be masked but since they were made to lie face down they were unable to see his face. The flashlight also made it difficult for them to see.

Woman Second Victim Of New Year's Crash

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—Miss Emma Broseker, 67, died in a hospital today and became the second victim of a four-way automobile smashup on the Alameda in northeast Baltimore on New Year's night.

Miss Broseker was a passenger in a car which stopped on the Alemeda near 33rd street for a traffic light. It was rammed from behind by a car driven by William A. Insley, 36, who died of his injuries last Saturday.

Two Baltimore Firemen Killed In Truck Crash

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—A fire engine speeding to a minor blaze collided with a truck today, killing two firemen. Three other fire fighters and the driver of a car were hurt.

The fire engine's driver died in a hospital of injuries received when he was pinned under his vehicle. Thirty men who gathered after the crash lifted it off him.

The engine hit a car after colliding with the tractor-trailer at the busy Monument St.-Patterson Park Ave. intersection.

Fire Fighter Joseph Taylor, 41, was killed.

Charles Jerschied, driver of the fire truck, was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he died of injuries.

Also hurt were Fire Capt. Felix Wojchiewski, Firefighters William Bogden and Edmond Hall, and Gerald White, 31, hurt when the fire engine hit his car. All were taken to hospitals.

Henry Jones, driver of the tractor-trailer, and his helper Reuben McCoy, both of Baltimore, were not hurt.

The fire engine was northbound on Patterson Park, the truck eastbound on Monument. Jones said he entered the intersection on a green light and it was when he saw the engine bearing down on him that he first heard the siren.

Jones put on the brakes but it was too late. The fire truck rammed into the truck's cab, then hit White's car as firemen were thrown to the street.

Island Inspection Flight Postponed

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin postponed an inspection flight he and other state officials had scheduled today over Assateague Island, the sites of a proposed state park and toll bridge.

The weather was too bad for the flight, the governor's aides said. They indicated he probably will make the trip next week.

Slaying Case Goes To Grand Jury Today

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro will present evidence to the grand jury Friday charging three teenage boys with the fatal shooting of a Northwest Baltimore grocer Christmas Eve.

Charged with the slaying are Tyrone J. Stokley, 17, and Edward Butler and Richard A. Briscoe, both 15.

Detectives said one of the 15-year-olds will be named as the gunman who actually pulld the trigger which sent a fatal bullet into Louis Pristoop, the grocer.

Power Plant May Be Built Near Dickerson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Evening Star said today Potomac Electric Power Co. holds options on two large tracts in the Dickerson, Md., area as possible sites for a 100-million-dollar power plant to serve the Washington area.

The Star said this information appeared to lend credence to reports the plant will be built in Montgomery County, Md. County Manager M. L. Reese told the county council yesterday the company will announce the plant's location tomorrow.

The two sites are off Route 119 at its intersection with Route 28 near Dickerson. They are about 25 miles from Washington.

Tax Assessors Defied Supervisor

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The State Tax Commission today heard testimony that two Wicomico County assessors changed the assessed valuation of about 40 properties in Salisbury after their supervisor told them not to.

Carl L. Walter, the county's supervisor of assessments, charged Barton Mumford, 67, and Loran White, 65, with incompetence and insubordination.

He seeks their dismissal.

Walter testified he had not been able to get along with the two since he was appointed supervisor in 1951.

Mumford and White have been assessors since 1943.

Walter testified Mumford and White borrowed 580 assessment cards from his office, saying they wanted to check some new assessments made by Mumford to be sure no properties had been missed.

Walter said he told them not to change any figures. When the cards came back, he said, there were erasures on about 40 of them. In each case, assessments had been increased.

Miss Myrtle McDaniel, secretary to Walter, corroborated his testimony. She said she had heard him tell the two assessors not to change any of the figures.

Cadillac

Not Wealthy... Just Wise!

Most people think that the gentleman who owns and drives a new Cadillac must necessarily be blessed with an abundance of this world's goods.

But the truth of the matter is that a great many motorists of relatively modest means—like the happy man you see here—sit at the wheel of the "car of cars."

For wisdom and practicality lead to Cadillac—just as surely as prominence and prosperity!

Listen, for a moment, to this remarkable assembly of facts—and see if you don't agree.

Cadillac's dependability is so extraordinary that the car is virtually free from all but the purely routine requirements of service.

A Cadillac stretches a gallon of gasoline over so many miles that it is actually the rival of much smaller, lighter cars in this regard.

And a Cadillac will retain its value over the years better than any other automobile in the land.

The conclusion is, we think, self-evident: Cadillac ownership is not only wonderful and thrilling—but sound and sensible as well.

Why not stop in soon for a look and a ride?

You'll discover the most beautiful Cadillac ever built . . . the finest-performing Cadillac of all time . . . and the greatest value in Cadillac history.

That's Cadillac's magical combination for 1956—and it's waiting for you now in our showroom.

PERFECT TECHNIQUE

SOUTH'S play of the following hand was an example of perfect technique.

	♠ Q 10 ♥ 8 4 3 ♦ Q 10 7 ♣ A Q J 9 2
♠ J 6 5 3 ♥ A Q J 9 ♦ 7 ♣ 6 4 2	N W E S	♠ K 9 8 7 4 ♥ 2 ♦ 10 6 ♣ K 8 5 3
	♠ A ♥ K 5 2 ♦ A K J 9 8 6 3 ♣ 10 7

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	1 ♥	2 ♣	2 ♠
3 ♦	3 ♠	4 ♦	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	Pass	Pass

West made the normal lead from his holding, his fourth-highest spade, and when the dummy was spread South did some fast thinking. He then put up the spade queen from dummy, and when East, who was not a mind-reader, covered with the king, the stage was set for an excellent line of play by declarer.

Winning with the blank spade ace, South led directly to the ace of clubs, then returned the ten of spades and passed that card to West, discarding his own second club. This well-calculated "avoidance play" brought a high reward. West, on lead with the spade jack, could make no return that would embarrass South. Rather than lay down the heart ace—West was pretty sure where the king was—West returned a trump. This was taken in dummy with the ten and the diamond queen was cashed; then the club queen was led through East. The latter tried to hide his club holding by promptly playing low, but South was not to be misled—he discarded a heart. He then easily ruffed out East's club king and could claim the balance.

South's plan was aimed, of course, at keeping East out of the lead throughout, so that there could be no return through the king of hearts. Observe what would have happened if the spade ten had been played at the first trick. East, a good player, would not have covered that card—what would be the use? (He would know that West had not underled the ace). Thus, South's selection from dummy was designed to coax East into the "natural" play, thereby to transfer the high spade from East to West, so that the rest of the play could go as South wanted it to go.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (INS) — A year ago the world learned by way of a story off the typewriter of Pierre Huss of INS that Dag Hammarskjold, the secretary general of the United Nations, was about to fly off to Peiping to try to do something about American fliers imprisoned there. It was his first such mission. The U.S. had failed to spring its own. He sprang 15 men without threatening war or promising Red China so much as a noodle.

Late this week the man will be off again. This time he'll talk to the Arabs and the Israelis in their respective redoubts, and to Nehru, who believes there can be a middle political force whose philosophy is rooted in earth somewhere between East and West. It's a two-month trip for Hammarskjold. If he succeeds in this argosy, one feels that he'll tackle the Kremlin. If so, he'll have the prescience of knowing that his predecessor Trygve Lie went to see Stalin in May of 1950 but Stalin, despite assurances, nodded the North Koreans into action against South Korea a month later.

Speaking of Pete Huss, I took Jim Kilgallen and Frank Faris of Topeka over to the Memorial Press Center the other day and there on the wall of the library — big as life — was a picture of Huss with Marlene Dietrich.

It was taken during the war. And it reminded me that this all-time beauty (Dietrich) was sore at me the last time we met.

Seems I had written a piece about Las Vegas, and who ran the places, and what they had done before they ran the places, and mentioned that Marlene was among those who had worked for them of late — as I hope she will soon again. Anyway, it wasn't worded right, one of the world's most beautiful women complained as we met in the lobby at a E'way opening. How could I, who had been on a TV panel with her dear daughter, say such a thing? — Marlene asked, with fine indignation.

Well, it's an uneasy situation for a clod, being dressed down by the likes of Marlene.

Then, abruptly, this wonderful dame stopped in the middle of a syllable and fastened on me one of the sweetest looks ever directed my way. . . eyes alight, pearly teeth flashing — the works. To my intense relief I sensed she had been kidding all the time. I. . .

Then a flashbulb went off over my shoulder. When its transient glow had gone, we were back where we started. Haven't felt right since.

"I saw Mary Martin in 'Peter Pan' when I was a kid," a seven-year-old child named Deborah said the other night, as we watched the incomparable Martin fly through the air with the greatest of ease on NBC's Producers Showcase.

Combined Scout District Is Organized

The recently combined Cumberland and Mountain districts of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, has a new name—Nemacolin District.

The new organization comprised of 1,108 boys was named at a meeting of the district Tuesday in Lowndes Hall of Frostburg State Teachers College.

Henry H. Lowery, chairman of the new district, presided at the session attended by 25 Scouters.

Nemacolin is a name well-known to this section. The Nemacolin Trail was used by the Indians as a trail from the confluence of Wills Creek and the Potomac River, over the mountains to the Ohio River.

Parts of the National Highway between here and the Ohio River coincide with the Nemacolin Trail, which was named after the Indian, Nemacolin.

The new district organization was appointed by Lowery.

Co-chairmen of the organization and extension committee are Carl Wagner, Cumberland, and Dr. John Dunkle, Frostburg.

Other chairmen are: Leadership training, Alfred Taylor, Frostburg, and Lee Silcox, Cumberland; camping and activities, Brent Coleman, Cumberland, and William Fuller, Frostburg; finance, Dr. Adam Baer, Frostburg, chairman, and Clarence Lippel, Cumberland, vice chairman; advancement, John L. Towler, Cumberland, chairman, and Alfred Fritz, Frostburg, vice chairman; health and safety, Dr. John Davis, Frostburg, chairman; and A. C. Howard, Cumberland, vice chairman.

The Scouters were reminded of the Nemacolin District appreciation dinner that will be held February 7 in St. Mary's Hall here.

Lowery reported several goals have been set for this year. The new council hopes to increase its membership from 1,108 boys to 1,265 boys, and boost the number of units from 35 to 43.

The Scouters, Lowery said also, hope to increase the number of advancements in rank from the 420 this past year to 560 this year.

The officers and committeemen of the new council will meet the second Thursday of each month, Lowery added.

Moderate Advance Halts Stock Market's Decline

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Higher prices came back to the stock market today after two days of decline.

Steel shares led the swing to the upside and in the afternoon the rails took over the leadership.

In addition to the steels and rails, groups showing a majority of plus signs included the rubbers, distillers, coppers, chemicals, electrical equipments, oils and motion pictures.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, down $2.40 Monday and 90 cents Tuesday, moved up $1.20 today to $177.20. The industrials gained $1.40, the rails $1.60 and the utilities 10 cents.

Corporate developments aided a number of issues. Reynolds Metals jumped 4½ to 53 on reports of a big contract for aluminum. Cerro De Pasco gained 1 at 66¼ after declaring a stock dividend. Woolworth boosted its dividend and gained ¾ at 48.

Trading in the rails was dominated by Canadian Pacific, which gained 1¼ at 34⅞. Nickel Plate was also active. It went up 1½ to 56¾.

Local Marines Slated For Training Cruise

Two local Marines are scheduled to participate in Caribbean training exercises with the Fleet Marine Force. The training will start later this month and close late in March.

The local men are Cpl. Frank R. Blaul Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Blaul, 309 Greene Street, and Cpl. George L. Clise, son of Mrs. Charollette E. Clise, RD 6, Park Heights.

The preliminary phase of the exercises will be conducted at camps in Puerto Rico.

Completes Training

Pvt. Harry S. McClellan, son of Edward Road, 28 Queen City Pavement, completed basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C., on January 4.

Bridge Light System Proposed By Flynn

Local police authorities have been making surveys at the new Cumberland - Ridgeley bridge on Greene Street for the past several weeks in an effort to work out a safe system for traffic movement and the proper use of lights located at the approach to the span.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said yesterday that the lights were turned off a few weeks ago because the method in which they were operating was hazardous to motorists.

Following the opening of the bridge, no traffic light system was used because the wrong type of lights were sent here. Later, the present system was installed and after complaints were received by the Police Department and City Engineers office, the lights were turned off.

Chief Flynn and Lt. Raymond R. Johnston of the City Traffic Department, made a check of the complaints and found the system very hazardous.

At that time "green lights" were on for motorists traveling out and in Greene Street, and also for drivers going out and coming in Greene who wanted to cross the bridge.

This system, Flynn said, made it dangerous for the drivers going out Greene and wanting to turn left on the bridge, because they had to cross in front of cars coming in Greene toward Baltimore Street.

Chief Flynn has come up with a plan which may solve the problem. His idea is to have a green light for cars turning left onto the bridge and coming off the span, while drivers coming in Greene going through to Baltimore would be stopped. At the same time a green light would be given cars going out Greene, and also cars coming in Greene and turning right on the bridge.

Under Flynn's system a red light would be given traffic going out Greene and turning left, during the time that traffic coming in Greene toward Baltimore had a green light.

Flynn also pointed out that a green light could be permanent for cars going out Greene and also for drivers turning right onto the span.

He said cars turning right onto the span would not be a hazard to cars entering the bridge from the other Greene Street entrance because a caution sign has been placed on the bridge.

During the period of time that the lights have been off, not a single accident has been reported at the intersection, Flynn said, showing that motorists seem to take more caution when "they're on their own."

Flynn's proposal will be submitted to a conference of city officials involved in the matter.

Local Marines Slated For Training Cruise

Two local Marines are scheduled to participate in Caribbean training exercises with the Fleet Marine Force. The training will start later this month and close late in March.

The local men are Cpl. Frank R. Blaul Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Blaul, 309 Greene Street, and Cpl. George L. Clise, son of Mrs. Charollette E. Clise, RD 6, Park Heights.

The preliminary phase of the exercises will be conducted at camps in Puerto Rico.

Completes Training

Pvt. Harry S. McClellan, son of Edward Road, 28 Queen City Pavement, completed basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C., on January 4.

Bridge Light System Proposed By Flynn

Local police authorities have been making surveys at the new Cumberland - Ridgeley bridge on Greene Street for the past several weeks in an effort to work out a safe system for traffic movement and the proper use of lights located at the approach to the span.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said yesterday that the lights were turned off a few weeks ago because the method in which they were operating was hazardous to motorists.

Following the opening of the bridge, no traffic light system was used because the wrong type of lights were sent here. Later, the present system was installed and after complaints were received by the Police Department and City Engineers office, the lights were turned off.

Chief Flynn and Lt. Raymond R. Johnston of the City Traffic Department, made a check of the complaints and found the system very hazardous.

At that time "green lights" were on for motorists traveling out and in Greene Street, and also for drivers going out and coming in Greene who wanted to cross the bridge.

This system, Flynn said, made it dangerous for the drivers going out Greene and wanting to turn left on the bridge, because they had to cross in front of cars coming in Greene toward Baltimore Street.

Chief Flynn has come up with a plan which may solve the problem. His idea is to have a green light for cars turning left onto the bridge and coming off the span, while drivers coming in Greene going through to Baltimore would be stopped. At the same time a green light would be given cars going out Greene, and also cars coming in Greene and turning right on the bridge.

Under Flynn's system a red light would be given traffic going out Greene and turning left, during the time that traffic coming in Greene toward Baltimore had a green light.

Flynn also pointed out that a green light could be permanent for cars going out Greene and also for drivers turning right onto the span.

He said cars turning right onto the span would not be a hazard to cars entering the bridge from the other Greene Street entrance because a caution sign has been placed on the bridge.

During the period of time that the lights have been off, not a single accident has been reported at the intersection, Flynn said, showing that motorists seem to take more caution when "they're on their own."

Flynn's proposal will be submitted to a conference of city officials involved in the matter.

Program Assignments Given By AAUW Group

Programs for the next two months were outlined and Turgenev was discussed at the meeting of the Great Books Group of Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women, Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Hafer, Baltimore Avenue.

Mrs. A. J. Mirkin reviewed "Fathers and Sons," by Turgenev. Mrs. Ralph Webster gave the highlights of the life of Turgenev, who lived between 1816 and 1883. He was one of the three greatest Russian authors, ranking with Tolstoi and Dostoevski, she said. However, his contemporaries, Mrs. Webster pointed out, did not like him. He was misunderstood in Russia, however, he gave the truest picture of any Russian author of the life there during his time. He was the first Russian writer to be translated into French and German.

His books deal more with character than plot and in this book, "Fathers and Sons," it was pointed out, there are three conflicts. There are the conflicts between the generations; between science and nihilism; between revolutionists and the Czarist regime.

It was agreed by the group it is a great book, because of the unchanging relationship between parents and children.

Others present were Mrs. M. D. Beneman, Mrs. William Durland, Mrs. Max Bastian, Mrs. Milton Granet and Mrs. Paul Castelle.

Mrs. John Cupler II will be hostess for the next meeting, February 14 at her home, Park Heights, at which time Mrs. Amer Suter will review "Gargantua and Pantagruel," by Rabelais. Mrs. Howard Briggs will do the author's life.

Gov. Marland Drops Teacher Pay Raise And Turnpike Financing Into Laps Of W. Va. Legislators

Hardy County Farmers Like Produce Plan

Marketing Of Crops Assured By Canneries

MOOREFIELD — About 150 farmers heard representatives of four canning companies assure them of a market for tomatoes, beans and carrots at the public meeting last Friday night at Moorefield Fire Hall. Cannery representatives said they would procure 300 tons of tomatoes daily during the season, would take five to ten thousand baskets of green beans daily and needed 1500 tons of carrots during the season. The cannery representatives assured top market price for the quality of produce they needed but emphasized that tomatoes must be number one grade which meant blood red and above two inches in diameter. They recommended the Rutgers tomato and the Bountiful flat bean as the best varieties for the cannery market.

Representing 28 canneries as brokers Dick Shilling introduced Donald King and Ray Shipley of the Baltimore Oriole Cannery Co., Charles Grig and E. J. Hudson of D. E. Foote & Co. and W. L. Kennedy of Cross and Blackwell. Shilling represents Eastern Canneries, Inc.

County Agent Bill Clark presided as chairman of the meeting and welcomed the farmers as well as the county agents of Hampshire and Grant counties, retired county agent S. L. Dodd and representatives of the West Virginia Department of Agriculture, marketing division.

William Conkle, produce specialist with West Virginia University, Extension Division, spoke on the results of tomato production in New York State.

Concensus of the meeting was that Hardy County was entirely suitable for vegetable production, assured of a market for the products at a fair market price. The transportation problem could be handled and a labor force could be secured. Several farmers have signed land contracts for produce production.

Fails To Offer Suggestions On Financing Plan

By CHARLES R. LEWIS

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 11 (AP)—Gov. William C. Marland outlined to the Legislature today the job that needs to be done but studiously avoided suggesting the tools to be used.

There was prompt rumbling of dissatisfaction from the Republican aisle of both houses.

Gov. Marland mentioned teachers' salaries and the turnpike extension in his 21-minute speech to a joint session opening the 1956 Legislature. He didn't spell out suggestions for financing either project.

With an unexpected show of realism, however, the Senate decided to proceed on its own in a grass-roots approach to drafting the annual budget, the primary purpose for which this annual session has been called.

The Senate unanimously approved in principle a plan for senators themselves to visit various institutions and agencies which spend the money the Legislature appropriates.

The House lost no time in getting down to serious business, although that chamber adjourned until 2 p. m. Monday.

The House Finance Committee met after today's adjournment and Chairman Loop) D-Kanawha) announced the group would meet twice tomorrow, twice again Friday and possibly adhere to that schedule on a five-day week basis throughout the session.

The Senate adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow, although it was indicated that very little business will be on the calendar. That chamber is expected to adjourn tomorrow until Monday.

Minority Leader Cecil Underwood was one of the first to comment on Marland's speech in the House.

Underwood, who earlier had offered to resign as minority leader because of his candiacy for governor, said:

"The speech indicates he has no program for schools and the turnpike. It is my hope that the Legislature will find some means of bringing aid to our school program, at least until the counties can do a better job themselves.

"I think the Turnpike problem ought to be investigated because I don't think many members of the Legislature are familiar with it."

Marland devoted most of his address to discussion of the $93,933,000 general revenue budget introduced as bill No. 1 in both houses today, and to industrial expansion.

One specific suggestion directed attention to a "very great need in our institutions, both custodial and educational for new capital expenditures."

"From discussions with lay groups throughout West Virginia," Marland said, "there seems to be a growing public opinion that some emergency action be taken by this Legislature in the matter of schools and principally that of teachers' salary increases.

"Secondly, the matter of turnpike extension in West Virginia has occupied the minds of our people for some time, and here, too, it seems important that this Legislature be given an opportunity to discuss the matter and arrive at a solution that you deem proper."

Stage Is Set For Meyersdale Maple Festival

Ninth Annual Event Scheduled Mar. 22-25

MEYERSDALE—If your sweet tooth's aching better get it in shape because "sugarin' off time" is not far away in Pennsylvania's rich maple producing county of Somerset, the so-called "Roof Garden"of the Keystone State.

Once having shipped maple syrup, the sweetest and most delicate of delicacies, to blenders in the neighboring states of Vermont and Ohio, Somerset Countians today market it in its purest form to customers the world over.

It's no wonder, then that thousands and thousands of people converge on the Maple City each spring to witness the annual Somerset County Maple Festival, dates for the ninth event are March 22 through 25, according to Herman E. Basehore, general chairman for the third year.

The Maple Festival is a fitting climax to one of the most unique and fascinating industries in rural America today. And, in Somerset County visitors can witness the production of 100% pure maple syrup in the real old fashioned way, and also by the most modern techniques known.

For those who prefer the romance of history, there are in use old fashioned augers and wooden spiles and keelers. Large and heavy draft horses pull sugar water tanks to haul the sweet water to maple camps where it is boiled in locally manufactured tanks until it becomes maple syrup.

While production of maple products in these old camps is limited, it's the modern camps that intrigue many more visitors as they watch the golden sweetness of the maple tree being processed and packaged.

Time has created many changes and the coronation of Pennsylvania's Queen Maple IX, and the selection of a Maple King, signify the beginning of a celebration to pay tribute to the maple industry.

Started with meager finances in 1948, the Somerset County Maple Festival today is divided into two great events. Already Somerset County high schools are carefully selecting beautiful and talented schools in a Maple Queen Contest to be held late in February in Johnstown.

At this contest the girls will be judged in stiff competition to select a new Maple Queen, Maids of Honor and Princesses for the queen's court. Winner of the coveted title is awarded a senatorial scholarship and cash to help finance further schooling of her choice.

The Maple Queen reigns throughout the year and makes numerous appearances throughout the tri-state area. All participants are recipients of many beautiful gifts.

Coronation ceremonies for the Maple Queen and Maple King open the three-day Maple Festival in Meyersdale, a community of some 3300 people. Featured as a non-profit community even, hundreds of people work three to four months in preparation for the big weekend.

Chairmen of committies already functioning for the 1956 Maple Festival are: Mrs. Thomas G. Saylor, secretary-treasurer; Michael Hady Jr., vice chairman; James Bochy, maple products contest; Mrs. Nat Friedline, flower girls, train bearers and crown bearer; Paul A. Stephens, escorts' attire. Walter W. Gress, tickets; Miss Nancy Potter, queen's committee; Robert Durst, maple camp tours.

Kenneth Stuver, souvenir program advertising; Phil Reich, queen's float; Charles A. Darrah and FFA Chapter, stage and maple camp; E. H. Stuempfle, high school principals' advisory committee.

Gov. Marland Drops Teacher Pay Raise And Turnpike Financing Into Laps Of W. Va. Legislators

Marketing Of Crops Assured By Canneries

MOOREFIELD — About 150 farmers heard representatives of four canning companies assure them of a market for tomatoes, beans and carrots at the public meeting last Friday night at Moorefield Fire Hall. Cannery representatives said they would procure 300 tons of tomatoes daily during the season, would take five to ten thousand baskets of green beans daily and needed 1500 tons of carrots during the season. The cannery representatives assured top market price for the quality of produce they needed but emphasized that tomatoes must be number one grade which meant blood red and above two inches in diameter. They recommended the Rutgers tomato and the Bountiful flat bean as the best varieties for the cannery market.

Representing 28 canneries as brokers Dick Shilling introduced Donald King and Ray Shipley of the Baltimore Oriole Cannery Co., Charles Grig and E. J. Hudson of D. E. Foote & Co. and W. L. Kennedy of Cross and Blackwell. Shilling represents Eastern Canneries, Inc.

County Agent Bill Clark presided as chairman of the meeting and welcomed the farmers as well as the county agents of Hampshire and Grant counties, retired county agent S. L. Dodd and representatives of the West Virginia Department of Agriculture, marketing division.

William Conkle, produce specialist with West Virginia University, Extension Division, spoke on the results of tomato production in New York State.

Concensus of the meeting was that Hardy County was entirely suitable for vegetable production, assured of a market for the products at a fair market price. The transportation problem could be handled and a labor force could be secured. Several farmers have signed land contracts for produce production.

Fails To Offer Suggestions On Financing Plan

By CHARLES R. LEWIS

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 11 (AP)—Gov. William C. Marland outlined to the Legislature today the job that needs to be done but studiously avoided suggesting the tools to be used.

There was prompt rumbling of dissatisfaction from the Republican aisle of both houses.

Gov. Marland mentioned teachers' salaries and the turnpike extension in his 21-minute speech to a joint session opening the 1956 Legislature. He didn't spell out suggestions for financing either project.

With an unexpected show of realism, however, the Senate decided to proceed on its own in a grass-roots approach to drafting the annual budget, the primary purpose for which this annual session has been called.

The Senate unanimously approved in principle a plan for senators themselves to visit various institutions and agencies which spend the money the Legislature appropriates.

The House lost no time in getting down to serious business, although that chamber adjourned until 2 p. m. Monday.

The House Finance Committee met after today's adjournment and Chairman Loop) D-Kanawha) announced the group would meet twice tomorrow, twice again Friday and possibly adhere to that schedule on a five-day week basis throughout the session.

The Senate adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow, although it was indicated that very little business will be on the calendar. That chamber is expected to adjourn tomorrow until Monday.

Minority Leader Cecil Underwood was one of the first to comment on Marland's speech in the House.

Underwood, who earlier had offered to resign as minority leader because of his candiacy for governor, said:

"The speech indicates he has no program for schools and the turnpike. It is my hope that the Legislature will find some means of bringing aid to our school program, at least until the counties can do a better job themselves.

"I think the Turnpike problem ought to be investigated because I don't think many members of the Legislature are familiar with it."

Marland devoted most of his address to discussion of the $93,933,000 general revenue budget introduced as bill No. 1 in both houses today, and to industrial expansion.

One specific suggestion directed attention to a "very great need in our institutions, both custodial and educational for new capital expenditures."

"From discussions with lay groups throughout West Virginia," Marland said, "there seems to be a growing public opinion that some emergency action be taken by this Legislature in the matter of schools and principally that of teachers' salary increases.

"Secondly, the matter of turnpike extension in West Virginia has occupied the minds of our people for some time, and here, too, it seems important that this Legislature be given an opportunity to discuss the matter and arrive at a solution that you deem proper."

Stage Is Set For Meyersdale Maple Festival

Ninth Annual Event Scheduled Mar. 22-25

MEYERSDALE—If your sweet tooth's aching better get it in shape because "sugarin' off time" is not far away in Pennsylvania's rich maple producing county of Somerset, the so-called "Roof Garden" of the Keystone State.

Once having shipped maple syrup, the sweetest and most delicate of delicacies, to blenders in the neighboring states of Vermont and Ohio, Somerset Countians today market it in its purest form to customers the world over.

It's no wonder, then that thousands and thousands of people converge on the Maple City each spring to witness the annual Somerset County Maple Festival, dates for the ninth event are March 22 through 25, according to Herman E. Basehore, general chairman for the third year.

The Maple Festival is a fitting climax to one of the most unique and fascinating industries in rural America today. And, in Somerset County visitors can witness the production of 100% pure maple syrup in the real old fashioned way, and also by the most modern techniques known.

For those who prefer the romance of history, there are in use old fashioned augers and wooden spiles and keelers. Large and heavy draft horses pull sugar water tanks to haul the sweet water to maple camps where it is boiled in locally manufactured tanks until it becomes maple syrup.

While production of maple products in these old camps is limited, it's the modern camps that intrigue many more visitors as they watch the golden sweetness of the maple tree being processed and packaged.

Time has created many changes and the coronation of Pennsylvania's Queen Maple IX, and the selection of a Maple King, signify the beginning of a celebration to pay tribute to the maple industry.

Started with meager finances in 1948, the Somerset County Maple Festival today is divided into two great events. Already Somerset County high schools are carefully selecting beautiful and talented schools in a Maple Queen Contest to be held late in February in Johnstown.

At this contest the girls will be judged in stiff competition to select a new Maple Queen, Maids of Honor and Princesses for the queen's court. Winner of the coveted title is awarded a senatorial scholarship and cash to help finance further schooling of her choice.

The Maple Queen reigns throughout the year and makes numerous appearances throughout the tri-state area. All participants are recipients of many beautiful gifts.

Coronation ceremonies for the Maple Queen and Maple King open the three-day Maple Festival in Meyersdale, a community of some 3300 people. Featured as a non-profit community even, hundreds of people work three to four months in preparation for the big weekend.

Chairmen of committies already functioning for the 1956 Maple Festival are: Mrs. Thomas G. Saylor, secretary-treasurer; Michael Hady Jr., vice chairman; James Bochy, maple products contest; Mrs. Nat Friedline, flower girls, train bearers and crown bearer; Paul A. Stephens, escorts' attire. Walter W. Gress, tickets; Miss Nancy Potter, queen's committee; Robert Durst, maple camp tours.

Kenneth Stuver, souvenir program advertising; Phil Reich, queen's float; Charles A. Darrah and FFA Chapter, stage and maple camp; E. H. Stuempfle, high school principals' advisory committee.

Hyndman Hobitzell Bank Reports Best Year In History

HYNDMAN — A record of no mortgage foreclosures and no repossessions in the past 12 years while tripling undivided profits has been made in a town that was half destroyed by fire by the Hoblitzell National Bank of Hyndman, according to the annual report given at the meeting of the board of directors yesterday.

C. O. Burns, president and cashier, recalled how the business section and many homes in the Bedford County town just across the state line went up in flames on Christmas Day 1949.

However, despite the heavy losses incurred by the residents and the cost of rebuilding, the bank to this day has not had to foreclose on any mortgage or installment loan since 1944, Burns said.

Burns informed the board of directors that the average annual loss from all other loans since 1943 has been only $17.

The bank has never had to reclaim a car, home appliance or anything else, or had to take legal action against any borrower in the 12 years, Burns declared.

The bank has advanced along with the community, he pointed out. Hoblitzell National was one of the buildings that was destroyed in the 1949 fire. One day after the fire, the bank had set up business in temporary quarters.

Within a year, the bank had a new building with all new equipment, he observed.

In 1944, the directors were told, the bank had total capital assets of $79,585.54. Today it has capital assets of $151,463.60.

The undivided profits 12 years ago amounted to $16,220.58. Today the figure is $51,463.60, Burns said.

Burns said the bank did the best business in its history in the year that ended December 31.

He observed that residents of Hyndman consider the town as a suburb of Cumberland. "The economy of Cumberland directly affects Hyndman, Burns added.

Hyndman has for its industry a small garment factory and some railroad employment. Most of its residents work in Cumberland industries.

The bank re-elected its directors, Mrs. Ella L. Crabbe, Mrs. Lenore K. Bruner, Charles H. Sides, Howard K. Bruner, Harry L. Ahlburn and Burns.

Hyndman Hobitzell Bank Reports Best Year In History

HYNDMAN — A record of no mortgage foreclosures and no repossessions in the past 12 years while tripling undivided profits has been made in a town that was half destroyed by fire by the Hoblitzell National Bank of Hyndman, according to the annual report given at the meeting of the board of directors yesterday.

C. O. Burns, president and cashier, recalled how the business section and many homes in the Bedford County town just across the state line went up in flames on Christmas Day 1949.

However, despite the heavy losses incurred by the residents and the cost of rebuilding, the bank to this day has not had to foreclose on any mortgage or installment loan since 1944, Burns said.

Burns informed the board of directors that the average annual loss from all other loans since 1943 has been only $17.

The bank has never had to reclaim a car, home appliance or anything else, or had to take legal action against any borrower in the 12 years, Burns declared.

The bank has advanced along with the community, he pointed out. Hoblitzell National was one of the buildings that was destroyed in the 1949 fire. One day after the fire, the bank had set up business in temporary quarters.

Within a year, the bank had a new building with all new equipment, he observed.

In 1944, the directors were told, the bank had total capital assets of $79,585.54. Today it has capital assets of $151,463.60.

The undivided profits 12 years ago amounted to $16,220.58. Today the figure is $51,463.60, Burns said.

Burns said the bank did the best business in its history in the year that ended December 31.

He observed that residents of Hyndman consider the town as a suburb of Cumberland. "The economy of Cumberland directly affects Hyndman, Burns added.

Hyndman has for its industry a small garment factory and some railroad employment. Most of its residents work in Cumberland industries.

The bank re-elected its directors, Mrs. Ella L. Crabbe, Mrs. Lenore K. Bruner, Charles H. Sides, Howard K. Bruner, Harry L. Ahlburn and Burns.

Fire Insurance Firms Change Coverage Terms

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — Fire insurance companies, whose treasuries have suffered because of the increasing number of hurricanes moving through Maryland, have altered terms of their extended-coverage for hail and windstorm damage in the State.

The new terms were announced by the Maryland Fire Underwriters Rating Bureau and have the approval of the State Insurance Commissioner, the regulatory official for the industry in Maryland.

The new rate is eight cents per year for each $100 of value insured with a mandatory $50 deductible clause. In other words, the person insured has to pay the first $50 of damage.

This plan replaces two which had been in effect. One, which included the $50 deductible clause, carried a rate of five cents. The other, without any deductible clause, had a rate of nine cents.

Very little of the cheaper coverage with the deductible clause was written, the bureau said.

The change in rate and conditions became effective Dec. 15 on new orders for insurance coverage and on all January 1956 renewals received after Dec. 30. Existing fire-insurance policies with the extended hail and windstorm damage remain in effect until they expire, at which time the policyholder will be required to accept the $50-deductible clause.

The bureau said extended coverage insurance volume has rapidly increased in recent years in Maryland. Premiums collected by stock companies alone rose from $876,000 in 1944 to $5,408,000 in 1954.

Radar Stands Guard But It Is Limited

First intimations of radar came during World War II. Japanese warships approaching the Guadalcanal area in total darkness had been sunk by naval rifles in shooting too accurate to be explained by luck, so it was possible to speculate that the U. S. Navy had a secret device that could "see in the dark."

Today the public thinks of radar as a modern electronic miracle that guards the nation against atomic and hydrogen bombs. But there is worry in Washington lest the American people develop a false sense of security, overlooking radar's limitations.

Limitations it certainly has. It cannot spot planes flying below 500 feet or track them above 60,000 feet. (No American planes can get quite that high, but some implications of the recent Soviet hydrogen bomb explosion have made a few experts fear Russia may conceivably be ahead in that respect. Ballistic missiles can certainly go higher.)

It operates only in line of sight — it cannot "see" through hills and other obstacles. It cannot "see" more than 150 miles—which means a little more than 10 minutes warning at supersonic speeds, or even less for fast missiles.

An enemy can use various dodges to fool radar or reduce its effectiveness. Metallic chaff can be dropped to confuse the operator by filling his screen with innumerable blips. Decoy robots or feint planes approaching at many angles and heights can make his tracking job harder. Electronic "jamming" can make the screen milky. None of these devices is fully effective, but each of them can multiply the errors of radar operators.

Radar is still an enormously valuable warning system. It is being widely used now, and its use is being expanded. The Pine Tree Chain stretches across Canada, and another radio line is being erected in the Arctic. Naval picket vessels maintain radar patrols in the Atlantic, and permanent radar islands are being built 100 miles out to sea. There are spot defenses around major American cities. In Europe there is an extensive radar network, particularly strong in Britain, and another radar line is to be built from Norway to Turkey.

All these make an "atomic Pearl Harbor" unlikely. If such attacks come, there should be at least a few minutes warning in most cases, and most enemy attackers should be intercepted. But there can be no such thing as complete safety against atomic attack.

These Days

Call Me Missus

Like all Americans, I read in the newspapers that Grace Kelly, of the Philadelphia Kellys, is to be married to Rainier Grimaldi, called "His Serene Highness," which may be the style in Europe but here everybody is just plain Mister except a congressman who calls himself "Honorable"—a word about which Shakespeare said the last word.

Some of my colleagues are trying to make a Cinderella story out of this but the facts reject the notion. Grimaldi gets less than $150,000 a year from the gambling joint at Monte Carlo. The gambling house brings in enough dough to cover all the expenses of Monaco, so the citizens pay no taxes. That makes the prince very popular. Any ruler is popular if the people pay no taxes.

Grace's father started as a bricklayer in Philadelphia. He saw his chance and eventually became a contractor and went into Democratic politics. Despite the fact that Philadelphia was then a Republican city, the combination was good and John B. Kelly cleaned up. He is now regarded as a very rich man, a prince of contractors. Grace makes a lot of money in Hollywood as a movie star. John B. Kelly once got the heave-ho from the British because he had laid bricks for a living, whereas Winston Churchill, when he had nothing to do, laid bricks for pleasure. Anyhow in Philadelphia and thereabouts, John B. Kelly is regarded as a gentleman and belongs to a country club. If Grace continues to make pictures, she can earn more than the prince earns renting the gambling house at Monte Carlo.

So, there is no Cinderella, but just an American success story, and Mr. Grimaldi is doing very well by himself, marrying into the Philadelphia Kellys and we all wish them luck and hope they have a big family, so the decadent French do not grab off the gambling house which they have a contract to do provided there are no descendants.

The French Revolution hit the Grimaldis hard because France grabbed Monaco in 1793. However, the Grimaldis got the place back in 1814, and finally, in 1860, when Nice was transferred to France from Sardinia, the Grimaldis came under French protection. By the deal with France, the Prince of Monaco must always be a married man, which is just as well.

Monaco is a small place, about eight square miles which is smaller than Philadelphia which is 129.7 square miles. In this eight square miles are three towns, Monaco, Condamine and Monte Carlo where the gambling house is situated. The place is beautiful, on the Mediterranean, and the weather is perfect.

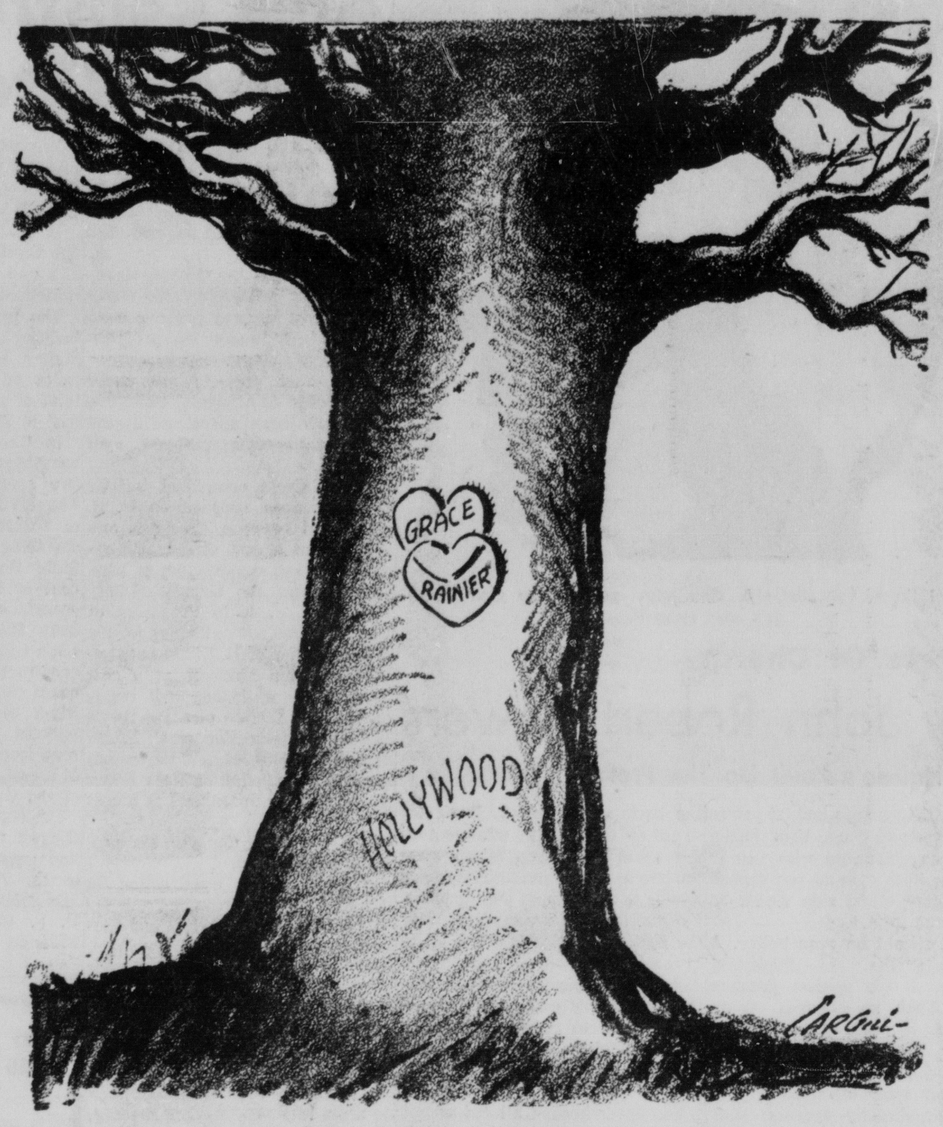

The main industry is gambling, the Casino having been founded by Francois Blanc who, his Homburg concession ending, got one in Monte Carlo from Prince Charles III. It is now rented to a Greek.

Well, that is what Grace Kelly is getting into. In the future, the Kellys from Philadelphia will be addressed as serenities in Monaco but the finest title for any American is just plain Mister and Missus as Benjamin Franklin told the French. They tell me that one American gal who got into the Your Highness set wants folks who are to dine with her in a restaurant to stand at the door awaiting her arrival. That is not the way Americans live and here in this country we do not recognize titles.

So, I say, good luck to Mr. and Mrs. Grimaldi when they get that way, and may, to coin a phrase, their troubles be little ones.

Performance Of The Year

Wider Constitutional Protection Of Press Urged

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Does the First Amendment to the Constitution protect the press against congressional investigations or any other interference with the standards of employment by newspapers and news services?

This issue has been raised currently because the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has been investigating personnel on various New York newspapers to determine the extent, if any, of Communist infiltration.

But, unfortunately, Congress has again and again disregarded the mandate of the First Amendment, which says Congress shall not make any law abridging the "freedom of the press." This hasn't raised much hullaballo heretofore, possibly because the so-called "liberals" have benefitted by such congressional instrusions. The principle, however, is just as important whether it relates to an inquisition on the subject of Communist affiliations or to anything else.

Upheld By Supreme Court

The record shows that not only has the Congress, despite the First Amendment, passed laws in two instances which abridge the "freedom of the press" but it has been twice upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States when the issue of the constitutionality of these statutes has been challenged.

The first law was passed in August 1912. It prescribed a severe penalty—the withholding of second-class mail privileges from any newspaper or periodical which refuses to publish twice a year a list of its owners and creditors holding more than one per cent of its stock or its bonds. No such information has to be published by any other commercial enterprise. But the Supreme Court has said the press is invested with a public character and the people have "the right to know." Nobody nowadays in the publishing business objects to the provision itself, but the invasion of the First Amendment is there just the same. It constitutes a precedent for the disclosure to the public not only of the names of persons employed and their affiliations, but all other pertinent facts about a newspaper's operation on which Congress chooses to require disclosure.

Ridiculed By "Liberals"

The second law abridging the "freedom of the press" was passed in 1935 and was upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States in 1937 in a 5-to-4 decision. This was the National Labor Relations Act, which tells a newspaper publisher that his employment relations with news and editorial writers are subject to federal regulation even though he may feel the law to be an abridgment of his freedom to print what he pleases.

It was the late John W. Davis, one of the greatest constitutional lawyers America ever had, who told the Supreme Court that this labor law violated the First Amendment as it related to the writing of news and editorials, but the so-called "liberals" ridiculed him for it and said that any such claim was specious. Today, under the present labor-management law, a newspaper publisher can be compelled to fire an editorial employe who refuses to join a union or to pay dues to it because of his conscientious beliefs against supporting such an organization. The American Civil Liberties Union, which is so often vocal in protest wherever the issue touches the freedom of an accused Communist to plead the Fifth Amendment, has never protested the application of the principle of compulsory union membership to editorial employes in America.

There is no good reason, of course, why editorial employes shouldn't band themselves together in an association or society of a professional nature to bargain collectively with their respective newspaper publishers. But when there is an affiliation, including occasional financial support, with national labor organizations—the CIO or the AFL—which are themselves involved often in the news of public controversies, it is sometimes difficult for the publisher to believe that his employes who join such unions can, even with the best intentions, write on current issues as objectively as they should.

It doesn't much matter whether the publisher can or cannot prove bias. He is entitled to his prejudices or beliefs that it may exist. He should have the right to hire or fire for any reason or else he cannot be said to be enjoying the freedom which the First Amendment should, but does not apparently, guarantee him.

Many Invading Precedents

So, if Congress can pass laws ordering an employer, at the behest of a union, to fire a man because his beliefs, though acceptable to the publisher, are not acceptable to a union, there is no logical reason why Congress cannot investigate the beliefs, affiliations, associations of any newspaper employe as they may relate to foreign espionage or the influence of a foreign government in America.

In fact, in 1915 a Senate committee under Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, Democrat, a constitutional lawyer of distinction, unjustly but nevertheless with the approval of the Senate, did interrogate on the witness stand an editor of the New York Times, asking him searching questions about its ownership and about editorials written on pending ship-subsidy legislation which at that time British influences in America were suspected of trying to squelch.

The precedents invading the First Amendment are many, and the only protection for the press, radio and television would appear to be the adoption of an enlarged First Amendment, specifically denying to Congress the right to pass legislation affecting their news operations. This issue is not of recent origin—the writer proposed such an amendment in a paper presented in April 1944 at the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Heart, Blood Vessel Diseases Go Up In Winter

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

This winter, why not give your heart as much attention as you give the radiator in your car? Have the old ticker winterized as an added protection against subzero temperatures and freezing blasts.

Diseases of the heart and blood vessels usually increase during December, January, February, and March. Cold constricts the blood passageways, including the coronary arteries. In addition, pneumonia, bronchitis, and other respiratory infections are common during this season. All impose a strain on the circulatory mechanism.

The winterizing process should begin by having the heart examined by a competent physician, who can determine whether or not the valves are working properly and the beat is normal and strong. The electrocardiograph offers clews on the state of the coronary arteries, the timing mechanism, and the health of the cardiac muscle; and the size of the heart can be determined by chest X-ray.

If cardiac disease is found, prompt treatment may be lifesaving. When treatment is not necessary, the physician will advise precautionary measures to protect the organ.

The avoidance of overexertion during the cold months particularly will spare the heart. Physical activity and strain do not hurt a healthy pumping apparatus but overdoing it may aggravate existing damage. After 50 it may not be wise to shovel too much snow, battle a strong wind, or push a stalled car. Many cardiac attacks are traced to taking chances like this.

On the other hand, there is no harm in moderate exercise. More rest will help to make up for the increased strain on the heart produced by zero temperatures. This recommendation is for those who cannot take a winter vacation in the sunny South or Southwest.

Guard against infection. Your heart will appreciate this suggestion because colds and other respiratory diseases are a burden to this structure. Strep infections may precipitate an attack of rheumatic fever which is a frequent cause of heart disease in children.

Winterizing includes slenderizing. Extra pounds make extra work for the old pump and there is no time like the present to give it a break. This advice is aimed at middle-aged men and women particularly. They are in a position to prevent obesity, which is difficult to rectify once it develops.

Tomorrow: New remedy for white spots.

NIGHTMARISH TEEN-AGER

I tried to find a relationship between his condition and his day time activities, but know how today's teen-agers won't tell their parents about how they spend their time. Can you suggest anything?

REPLY

I think he is old enough to be told why nightmares develop. If any of the causes fit into his scheme of living, he ought to avoid them so that he and the family can sleep peacefully at night. In addition to too much excitement, eating before going to bed affects some people this way as does the taking of certain drugs as sedatives.

Try And Stop Me!

"No wonder there are so many juvenile delinquents these days," philosophizes Sam Levenson. "When I was a kid, being sent to your room entailed real privations and loss of privileges. Today it's no punishment at all. The kid is banished to his room where he finds a 21-inch TV set, a radio, a hi-fi phonograph, a soft drink machine, air-conditioning and probably a cute 18-year-old baby sitter. I didn't have it that good on my honeymoon!"

"College football," boasts ex-coach Herman Hickman, "has done as much to toughen up the spectators as it has for the players. You can't sit three hours on clammy, unyielding concrete, getting rained on, eating cold hamburgers and peanuts, and be a weakling!"

Somebody asked Editor Herb Mayes' younger daughter, "Does your old man have a den?" "He doesn't need one," was the answer. "He just growls all over the house."

White And Negro Congressmen Plan Battle In Congress On Civil Rights

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The first backstage meeting on the most dynamite-laden question before this Congress was held in the office of Congressman Hugh Scott of Philadelphia last week to discuss the protection of Negroes in the Deep South and civil rights generally.

At the meeting were Congressmen Jimmy Roosevelt of Los Angeles, Dick Bolling of Kansas City, Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem, N. Y., and Charles Diggs of Detroit. The latter two are among the three Negroes in Congress, all Democrats. Though the meeting was held in Congressman Scott's office, he was the only Republican present. Another meeting which two other Republicans want to attend, Wolverton of Camden, N. J., and Hesselton of Western Massachusetts, is scheduled for today.

Chief strategy decided on was to abandon any attempt to pass an FEPC—Fair Employment Practices Act—but concentrate everything on an omnibus bill guaranteeing the Negroes' right to vote and his physical protection. This bill would be in two parts:

1. Protection of voting rights by abolishing the poll tax, preventing terroroism at the polls, giving the Justice Department broad powers to probe any attempt to deprive Negroes of voting rights in either federal or local elections.
2. A general anti-lynching bill which would also apply to drowning, or any other type of violence based on race, creed, or color, regardless of state lines.

Georgia Congressmen Attack

The meeting in Congressman Scott's office took place immediately after a group of Georgia congressmen, including Lanham, Davis and Forrester, had spent an hour on the House Floor excoriating "niggers." The Congressional Record was cleaned up afterward and some of their most vitriolic language censored.

But at the meeting of the two Negro and three white congressmen which followed minutes later in Scott's office, Jimmy Roosevelt expressed concern that these speeches would make headlines the next day, thereby hurting a bipartisan approach to civil rights.

"No American papers will carry that kind of stuff," argued Congressman Powell of Harlem. "They'll ignore it."

Congressman Diggs, first Negro ever elected from Detroit, brought with him an 18-page legal memo proposing that the congressmen from Mississippi—scene of the Till murder—be unseated on the ground that they were not elected by all the voters of Mississippi.

The memo was prepared by Frank Polhaus, whom Truman had appointed head of the Justice Department Civil Rights Division, and turned out to be an exhaustive document going back to Thaddeus Stevens in Civil War days and showing that a move to unseat a congressman does not have to be made at the opening of Congress. At a previous meeting, Diggs had been vigorous in wanting to try to unseat the Mississippi congressmen, but both Roosevelt and Bolling have urged against this.

"It would only arouse passion and get our southern friends sore," cautioned Roosevelt.

Diggs agreed and for the time being will not introduce his anti-Mississippi resolution.

White House Stand?

The backstage meeting agreed that by dropping the hot FEPC bill and emphasizing the Negro's right to vote and physical protection, they could get a bill acceptable to both political parties.

Congressman Powell pointed out that although Eisenhower last year had called his anti-segregation amendment to the school bill "extraneous and erroneous," GOP leaders Joe Martin and Charlie Halleck were now behind his amendment.

"I took a sideswipe at Eisenhower on his State of the Union message for recommending a congressional investigation into civil rights," Powell told his colleagues. "He was just passing the buck."

"Ike went a lot further than anyone else," shot back Hugh Scott.

Later Max Rabb of the White House staff phoned Powell to say that he was "disappointed in your attitude."

"It took a great deal of effort by me to get that provision for a congressional investigation in the State of the Union message," Rabb said. Rabb has charge of minority problems for the White House.

Next Moves

The backstage meeting in Scott's office decided on the following immediate strategy:

1. Congressman Scott was to find out from Max Rabb at the White House how far Eisenhower was willing to go to help a civil-rights bill. Scott was also to contact William Rogers, deputy attorney general, to sse what reports the Justice Department had on the Till murder case and what legislation it had in mind to prevent its repetition.
2. Congressman Roosevelt was to talk to Congressman Celler (Dem., N. Y.) of the Judiciary Committee to see how far he would go in pushing a civil-rights bill.
3. Congressman Bolling of Kansas City was to talk to Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas to get their cooperation.

"There's no use talking to the Senate Judiciary Committee," remarked Bolling. "It's what Lyndon Johnson wants to do that counts."

Another move is to demand that Congressman Percy Priest of Tennessee carry out his pledge to report out the anti-Jim Crow bill of Congressman Hessleton (Rep., Mass.). Priest, Democrat, is chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

"One year ago Percy promised that the Hesselton bill would be the first order of business at the next session," said Powell. "One year has now passed and he still hasn't carried out that promise."

They Think He'll Run

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower clearly indicated, at his recent press conference, that he had already made a tentative decision about his political future. Among the men around the President, there is a remarkable unanimity about the nature of this decision. If those who should know are right, the President's intentions may be described about as follows:

He will run, on two conditions. First, he will keep a close watch on his own reactions, now that he is back working "in full swing" at the job of being President. If he feels any grave and unusual fatigue in the next few weeks he will reverse his present intention. And he will, of course, also decide against running if the doctors advise against it when they examine him in February.

Political Phenomenon

The steady growth of the conviction that the President will run if these two conditions are met is a remarkable political phenomenon. Three months ago, hardly anyone thought he would or could run. As recently as one month ago, even the optimists among his friends put the chances of his running at no better than 50 per cent. But now almost everyone with access to the President believes that he means to run bar unusual fatigue or a medical red light.

The simplest explanation of this growing conviction would be, of course, that the President himself has said as much. More than once, most recently at a meeting of the Republican Finance Committee, Attorney General Herbert Brownell has clearly intimated that the President has given such assurances. But others at least as close to the President assert very positively that he has not revealed his tentative decision to anyone, bar perhaps Mrs. Eisenhower.

These men say that they are sure the President's present strong inclination is to run, not because he has revealed this intention in so many words, but because of the way he talks and acts. He not only looks well, but — what is far more important — he feels well. He has remarked jokingly to friends that "It must have been some other fellow who had that heart attack."

Strong Party Man

"Ike just isn't acting like a man whose career is drawing to a close," a member of the "Commodore Regency" has remarked. "He acts like a man who expects to be right in the thick of it for years to come. I'm sure he'll go."

Apart from the atmosphere the President generates around him, there is another reason for the belief that his tentative decision is to run again. In the last year or so especially, the President has become very much a party man. He now often says with obvious conviction, that the Republicans must win in 1956, because it would be a disaster for the Democrats to recapture the White House after only four years. The President is, of course, fully aware that the disaster is much more likely to occur if he is not a candidate.

But all this hardly seems to justify the near-certainty that the President will run which is expressed by many of those around him. The fact is that the extraordinary political dependence of the Republican party on the President's magical personality has led to a lot of wishful thinking. As pro-Eisenhower publisher John Knight has pointed out in a strong editorial, it has fed the delusion that "A coronary is not much worse than a bad cold."

Complete Assurance Impossible

It is a daugerous delusion. The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York has estimated that a coronary between the ages of 50 and 60 cuts life expectancy by an average of more than 50 per cent, to less than nine years. There are no estimates for higher ages, since persons who have coronaries over the age of 60 are not considered insurable. Such grim statistics must, of course, be weighted rather heavily in the President's favor, since his general health is excellent and he has so far made a remarkable recovery. But, as publisher Knight also writes, "it is folly to pretend that the President is not a sick man."

The doctors cannot possibly give the President the much talked about "green light," moreover. Even if his recovery continues unmarred, they cannot possibly assure the President that he will not have another attack. All they can do is to give him the facts on the basis of which he can weigh the risk of a "critical" mid-term change of government (to use his own adjective) against the opportunity of future service to the country. Fortunately the President, who has never been a victim of the no-worse-than-a-bad-cold myth, can be relied upon to weigh both risk and opportunity most carefully and soberly.

The record shows that not only has the Congress, despite the First Amendment, passed laws in two instances which abridge the "freedom of the press" but it has been twice upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States when the issue of the constitutionality of these statutes has been challenged.

The first law was passed in August 1912. It prescribed a severe penalty—the withholding of second-class mail privileges from any newspaper or periodical which refuses to publish twice a year a list of its owners and creditors holding more than one per cent of its stock or its bonds. No such information has to be published by any other commercial enterprise. But the Supreme Court has said the press is invested with a public character and the people have "the right to know." Nobody nowadays in the publishing business objects to the provision itself, but the invasion of the First Amendment is there just the same. It constitutes a precedent for the disclosure to the public not only of the names of persons employed and their affiliations, but all other pertinent facts about a newspaper's operation on which Congress chooses to require disclosure.

Ridiculed By "Liberals"

The second law abridging the "freedom of the press" was passed in 1935 and was upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States in 1937 in a 5-to-4 decision. This was the National Labor Relations Act, which tells a newspaper publisher that his employment relations with news and editorial writers are subject to federal regulation even though he may feel the law to be an abridgment of his freedom to print what he pleases.

It was the late John W. Davis, one of the greatest constitutional lawyers America ever had, who told the Supreme Court that this labor law violated the First Amendment as it related to the writing of news and editorials, but the so-called "liberals" ridiculed him for it and said that any such claim was specious. Today, under the present labor-management law, a newspaper publisher can be compelled to fire an editorial employe who refuses to join a union or to pay dues to it because of his conscientious beliefs against supporting such an organization. The American Civil Liberties Union, which is so often vocal in protest wherever the issue touches the freedom of an accused Communist to plead the Fifth Amendment, has never protested the application of the principle of compulsory union membership to editorial employes in America.

There is no good reason, of course, why editorial employes shouldn't band themselves together in an association or society of a professional nature to bargain collectively with their respective newspaper publishers. But when there is an affiliation, including occasional financial support, with national labor organizations—the CIO or the AFL—which are themselves involved often in the news of public controversies, it is sometimes difficult for the publisher to believe that his employes who join such unions can, even with the best intentions, write on current issues as objectively as they should.

It doesn't much matter whether the publisher can or cannot prove bias. He is entitled to his prejudices or beliefs that it may exist. He should have the right to hire or fire for any reason or else he cannot be said to be enjoying the freedom which the First Amendment should, but does not apparently, guarantee him.

Many Invading Precedents

So, if Congress can pass laws ordering an employer, at the behest of a union, to fire a man because his beliefs, though acceptable to the publisher, are not acceptable to a union, there is no logical reason why Congress cannot investigate the beliefs, affiliations, associations of any newspaper employe as they may relate to foreign espionage or the influence of a foreign government in America.

In fact, in 1915 a Senate committee under Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, Democrat, a constitutional lawyer of distinction, unjustly but nevertheless with the approval of the Senate, did interrogate on the witness stand an editor of the New York Times, asking him searching questions about its ownership and about editorials written on pending ship-subsidy legislation which at that time British influences in America were suspected of trying to squelch.

The precedents invading the First Amendment are many, and the only protection for the press, radio and television would appear to be the adoption of an enlarged First Amendment, specifically denying to Congress the right to pass legislation affecting their news operations. This issue is not of recent origin—the writer proposed such an amendment in a paper presented in April 1944 at the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Baering Down On The News

Only 25,000,000 Frenchmen can vote and not elect anybody.

Those screwballs dissolve their government like it was an aspirin tablet in a barrel of vinegar.

This time it was the boulevardiers against the bicycle vote.

It wasn't serious enough for Charley de Gaulle to hold a parade.

The French political divisions are the center-rights, the Republican fronts, the Commie lefts, the Democrats rears, the extremist middles and the half-way theres.

Our own politics also skid off into various directions. But where the French use yardsticks we rely on the more reliable weather vane with norths, easts, souths and wests.

Heart, Blood Vessel Diseases Go Up In Winter

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

This winter, why not give your heart as much attention as you give the radiator in your car? Have the old ticker winterized as an added protection against subzero temperatures and freezing blasts.

Diseases of the heart and blood vessels usually increase during December, January, February, and March. Cold constricts the blood passageways, including the coronary arteries. In addition, pneumonia, bronchitis, and other respiratory infections are common during this season. All impose a strain on the circulatory mechanism.

The winterizing process should begin by having the heart examined by a competent physician, who can determine whether or not the valves are working properly and the beat is normal and strong. The electrocardiograph offers clews on the state of the coronary arteries, the timing mechanism, and the health of the cardiac muscle; and the size of the heart can be determined by chest X-ray.

If cardiac disease is found, prompt treatment may be lifesaving. When treatment is not necessary, the physician will advise precautionary measures to protect the organ.

The avoidance of overexertion during the cold months particularly will spare the heart. Physical activity and strain do not hurt a healthy pumping apparatus but overdoing it may aggravate existing damage. After 50 it may not be wise to shovel too much snow, battle a strong wind, or push a stalled car. Many cardiac attacks are traced to taking chances like this.

On the other hand, there is no harm in moderate exercise. More rest will help to make up for the increased strain on the heart produced by zero temperatures. This recommendation is for those who cannot take a winter vacation in the sunny South or Southwest.

Guard against infection. Your heart will appreciate this suggestion because colds and other respiratory diseases are a burden to this structure. Strep infections may precipitate an attack of rheumatic fever which is a frequent cause of heart disease in children.

Winterizing includes slenderizing. Extra pounds make extra work for the old pump and there is no time like the present to give it a break. This advice is aimed at middle-aged men and women particularly. They are in a position to prevent obesity, which is difficult to rectify once it develops.

Tomorrow: New remedy for white spots.

NIGHTMARISH TEEN-AGER

Mrs. K. writes: My 18-year-old, 6 foot 1 son has developed nightmares that waken the entire household. I tried to find a relationship between his condition and his day time activities, but know how today's teen-agers won't tell their parents about how they spend their time. Can you suggest anything?

REPLY

I think he is old enough to be told why nightmares develop. If any of the causes fit into his scheme of living, he ought to avoid them so that he and the family can sleep peacefully at night. In addition to too much excitement, eating before going to bed affects some people this way as does the taking of certain drugs as sedatives.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

"No wonder there are so many juvenile delinquents these days," philosophizes Sam Levenson. "When I was a kid, being sent to your room entailed real privations and loss of privileges. Today it's no punishment at all. The kid is banished to his room where he finds a 21-inch TV set, a radio, a hi-fi phonograph, a soft drink machine, air-conditioning and probably a cute 18-year-old baby sitter. I didn't have it that good on my honeymoon!"

"College football," boasts ex-coach Herman Hickman, "has done as much to toughen up the spectators as it has for the players. You can't sit three hours on clammy, unyielding concrete, getting rained on, eating cold hamburgers and peanuts, and be a weakling!"

Somebody asked Editor Herb Mayes' younger daughter, "Does your old man have a den?" "He doesn't need one," was the answer. "He just growls all over the house."

White And Negro Congressmen Plan Battle In Congress On Civil Rights

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The first backstage meeting on the most dynamite-laden question before this Congress was held in the office of Congressman Hugh Scott of Philadelphia last week to discuss the protection of Negroes in the Deep South and civil rights generally.

At the meeting were Congressmen Jimmy Roosevelt of Los Angeles, Dick Bolling of Kansas City, Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem, N. Y., and Charles Diggs of Detroit. The latter two are among the three Negroes in Congress, all Democrats. Though the meeting was held in Congressman Scott's office, he was the only Republican present. Another meeting which two other Republicans want to attend, Wolverton of Camden, N. J., and Hesselton of Western Massachusetts, is scheduled for today.

Chief strategy decided on was to abandon any attempt to pass an FEPC—Fair Employment Practices Act—but concentrate everything on an omnibus bill guaranteeing the Negroes' right to vote and his physical protection. This bill would be in two parts:

1. Protection of voting rights by abolishing the poll tax, preventing terroroism at the polls, giving the Justice Department broad powers to probe any attempt to deprive Negroes of voting rights in either federal or local elections.
2. A general anti-lynching bill which would also apply to drowning, or any other type of violence based on race, creed, or color, regardless of state lines.

Georgia Congressmen Attack

The meeting in Congressman Scott's office took place immediately after a group of Georgia congressmen, including Lanham, Davis and Forrester, had spent an hour on the House Floor excoriating "niggers." The Congressional Record was cleaned up afterward and some of their most vitriolic language censored.

But at the meeting of the two Negro and three white congressmen which followed minutes later in Scott's office, Jimmy Roosevelt expressed concern that these speeches would make headlines the next day, thereby hurting a bipartisan approach to civil rights.

"No American papers will carry that kind of stuff," argued Congressman Powell of Harlem. "They'll ignore it."

Congressman Diggs, first Negro ever elected from Detroit, brought with him an 18-page legal memo proposing that the congressmen from Mississippi—scene of the Till murder—be unseated on the ground that they were not elected by all the voters of Mississippi.

The memo was prepared by Frank Polhaus, whom Truman had appointed head of the Justice Department Civil Rights Division, and turned out to be an exhaustive document going back to Thaddeus Stevens in Civil War days and showing that a move to unseat a congressman does not have to be made at the opening of Congress. At a previous meeting, Diggs had been vigorous in wanting to try to unseat the Mississippi congressmen, but both Roosevelt and Bolling have urged against this.

"It would only arouse passion and get our southern friends sore," cautioned Roosevelt.

Diggs agreed and for the time being will not introduce his anti-Mississippi resolution.

White House Stand?

The backstage meeting agreed that by dropping the hot FEPC bill and emphasizing the Negro's right to vote and physical protection, they could get a bill acceptable to both political parties.

Congressman Powell pointed out that although Eisenhower last year had called his anti-segregation amendment to the school bill "extraneous and erroneous," GOP leaders Joe Martin and Charlie Halleck were now behind his amendment.

"I took a sideswipe at Eisenhower on his State of the Union message for recommending a congressional investigation into civil rights," Powell told his colleagues. "He was just passing the buck."

"Ike went a lot further than anyone else," shot back Hugh Scott.

Later Max Rabb of the White House staff phoned Powell to say that he was "disappointed in your attitude."

"It took a great deal of effort by me to get that provision for a congressional investigation in the State of the Union message," Rabb said. Rabb has charge of minority problems for the White House.

Next Moves

The backstage meeting in Scott's office decided on the following immediate strategy:

1. Congressman Scott was to find out from Max Rabb at the White House how far Eisenhower was willing to go to help a civil-rights bill. Scott was also to contact William Rogers, deputy attorney general, to sse what reports the Justice Department had on the Till murder case and what legislation it had in mind to prevent its repetition.
2. Congressman Roosevelt was to talk to Congressman Celler (Dem., N. Y.) of the Judiciary Committee to see how far he would go in pushing a civil-rights bill.
3. Congressman Bolling of Kansas City was to talk to Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas to get their cooperation.

"There's no use talking to the Senate Judiciary Committee," remarked Bolling. "It's what Lyndon Johnson wants to do that counts."

Another move is to demand that Congressman Percy Priest of Tennessee carry out his pledge to report out the anti-Jim Crow bill of Congressman Hessleton (Rep., Mass.). Priest, Democrat, is chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

"One year ago Percy promised that the Hesselton bill would be the first order of business at the next session," said Powell. "One year has now passed and he still hasn't carried out that promise."

They Think He'll Run

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower clearly indicated, at his recent press conference, that he had already made a tentative decision about his political future. Among the men around the President, there is a remarkable unanimity about the nature of this decision. If those who should know are right, the President's intentions may be described about as follows:

He will run, on two conditions. First, he will keep a close watch on his own reactions, now that he is back working "in full swing" at the job of being President. If he feels any grave and unusual fatigue in the next few weeks he will reverse his present intention. And he will, of course, also decide against running if the doctors advise against it when they examine him in February.

Political Phenomenon

The steady growth of the conviction that the President will run if these two conditions are met is a remarkable political phenomenon. Three months ago, hardly anyone thought he would or could run. As recently as one month ago, even the optimists among his friends put the chances of his running at no better than 50 per cent. But now almost everyone with access to the President believes that he means to run bar unusual fatigue or a medical red light.

The simplest explanation of this growing conviction would be, of course, that the President himself has said as much. More than once, most recently at a meeting of the Republican Finance Committee, Attorney General Herbert Brownell has clearly intimated that the President has given such assurances. But others at least as close to the President assert very positively that he has not revealed his tentative decision to anyone, bar perhaps Mrs. Eisenhower.

These men say that they are sure the President's present strong inclination is to run, not because he has revealed this intention in so many words, but because of the way he talks and acts. He not only looks well, but — what is far more important — he feels well. He has remarked jokingly to friends that "It must have been some other fellow who had that heart attack."

Strong Party Man

"Ike just isn't acting like a man whose career is drawing to a close," a member of the "Commodore Regency" has remarked. "He acts like a man who expects to be right in the thick of it for years to come. I'm sure he'll go."

Apart from the atmosphere the President generates around him, there is another reason for the belief that his tentative decision is to run again. In the last year or so especially, the President has become very much a party man. He now often says with obvious conviction, that the Republicans must win in 1956, because it would be a disaster for the Democrats to recapture the White House after only four years. The President is, of course, fully aware that the disaster is much more likely to occur if he is not a candidate.

But all this hardly seems to justify the near-certainty that the President will run which is expressed by many of those around him. The fact is that the extraordinary political dependence of the Republican party on the President's magical personality has led to a lot of wishful thinking. As pro-Eisenhower publisher John Knight has pointed out in a strong editorial, it has fed the delusion that "A coronary is not much worse than a bad cold."

Complete Assurance Impossible

It is a daugerous delusion. The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York has estimated that a coronary between the ages of 50 and 60 cuts life expectancy by an average of more than 50 per cent, to less than nine years. There are no estimates for higher ages, since persons who have coronaries over the age of 60 are not considered insurable. Such grim statistics must, of course, be weighted rather heavily in the President's favor, since his general health is excellent and he has so far made a remarkable recovery. But, as publisher Knight also writes, "it is folly to pretend that the President is not a sick man."

The doctors cannot possibly give the President the much talked about "green light," moreover. Even if his recovery continues unmarred, they cannot possibly assure the President that he will not have another attack. All they can do is to give him the facts on the basis of which he can weigh the risk of a "critical" mid-term change of government (to use his own adjective) against the opportunity of future service to the country. Fortunately the President, who has never been a victim of the no-worse-than-a-bad-cold myth, can be relied upon to weigh both risk and opportunity most carefully and soberly.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11 (INS)—The most exciting casting news of '56 (so far) is that MGM has secured Jennifer Jones and Sir John Gielgud for a remake of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street"—Jennifer to play Poetess Elizabeth Barrett and Gielgud to be her stern, jealous father.

And, Producer Sam Zimbalist says that William Travers, the good looking British actor touted as terrific with Ava Gardner in "Bhowani Junction," will be Robert Browning. With Sidney Franklin directing—what a line-up!

In 1934, the immortal love story of Elizabeth Barrett and Browning was made with Norma Shearer and Frederic March and Charles Laughton as the grim father. The new version will be filmed in London.

I repeat—this is Jennifer's greatest film cycle. Winner of the Audience Awards Poll as best actress for "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing," she now gets this plum. All this and Gielgud, too!

Looks as if 20th Century-Fox will have both Marilyn Monroe and Jayne Mansfield, the girl who does an imitation of Monroe on the Broadway stage in "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"

This week, Jayne is making a test in New York for John Steinbeck's story, "The Wayward Bus," and if the results are what the studio expects, Jayne will be on the 20th lot in May or June with a contract calling for other pictures.

The way it looks now, Jayne may bring "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter" to San Francisco and her hometown Los Angeles. Jayne certainly looks like Marilyn without even attempting to do an imitation. She has many of Marilyn's characteristics, too, such as wanting to study hard to perfect her acting.

The signing of talented 12-year-old Ricky Vera, protege of Hoagy Carmichael for "Leather Saint" by Paramount, recalled to Don Hartman and Casting Director Bill Meiklejohn the first time they ever saw the little boy. It was in August of 1952 when with a couple of other judges they looked at about 30 acts taken from hundreds of schools in Los Angeles.

Ricky and his sister appeared and were given a scholarship with Don and Bill voting for them. Young Vera is now on Eve Arden's "Our Miss Brooks" series, and previous to that was on the "Saturday Night Revue," the Hoagy Carmiachel TV show. He's a great little trouper.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Lana Turner's house may soon belong to Yma Sumac. She's made an offer to buy it.

Elizabeth Taylor has made up her mind not to rejoin Mike Wilding in London. He'll be finished with "Zarak Khan" in three weeks and she doesn't want to leave her children again.

Charlie Chaplin, now in Switzerland, is putting the finishing touches on his next motion picture, "The King," which he'll shoot in England and France.

Donna Reed writes from London that she and the children have been bedded for three days with bad colds, but she and Tony expect to take off for Africa late this week.

Rita Hayworth and Raymond Hakim in a cozy corner at the Luau for dinner.

Although Pete Smith has been out of production for almost a year, his fame goes on. He won number 1 for the 13th time, and the same honor from Showmen's Trade Review.

Mario Lanza has received a copy of the novel "Prince Bart" from Warner Brothers as an acting possibility. This is supposed to be based on the personality and career of the late John Garfield.

Careful there, with the side view when you put up your hair. It's easy to spoil.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

New Hairdo's Point Up The Profile

Watch that profile line, if you're putting your hair up. Your public will be as entranced with you in your new hair style as you hope it wil be, only if the side view's as good as the front.

And it should be even better. A piquant profile, so fetchingly feminine, is the up-do's greatest charm. Take no chances on an awkward or ragged outline—remember these two important points:

1. Never wear the bulk of your back hair directly opposite your nose. If you do, your nose will seem longer, and the line from the tip of it across the side of your head to the farthest projection of hair will seem much to wide. The profile is thrown off balance. Instead, place the knot or roll so its weight is either higher or lower than the nose.

2. Go in for the most meticulous wisp control, for the sake of a profile outline that's as neat as a head on a coin. Your new up hairdo must be smooth and shining and spoiled in no way by a fringe on the back of your neck. Don't try to put off the issue by trimming off the worst stragglers. Brush them up into position and use spray-on liquids to make them stay in place. Use the spray a second time after the first application is dry if yours is the kind of hair that has a tendency to escape whenever it can. Or year a tiny comb if you must for a while to confine the wisps. Unfortunately, this hair is different from the rest and grows slowly.

You never needed a hand mirror for hair checkup more than you do now. Take more than a side glance at the sides of your head often to make sure your new coiffure's a success.

Tomorrow—Views on velvet.

First National Bank, this city, announced yesterday that its interest rates are being increased.

First Federal Savings and Loan Association has also revealed an increase in interest rates from 2 to 2½ per cent.

The two banks at Frostburg, Fidelity Savings Bank and Frostburg National Bank are increasing their interest rate to 2 per cent. Announcement was made yesterday by William B. Yates, president of Fidelity Savings, and F. Earl Kreitzburg, cashier of Frostburg National.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11 (INS)—The most exciting casting news of '56 (so far) is that MGM has secured Jennifer Jones and Sir John Gielgud for a remake of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street"—Jennifer to play Poetess Elizabeth Barrett and Gielgud to be her stern, jealous father.

And, Producer Sam Zimbalist says that William Travers, the good looking British actor touted as terrific with Ava Gardner in "Bhowani Junction," will be Robert Browning. With Sidney Franklin directing—what a line-up!

In 1934, the immortal love story of Elizabeth Barrett and Browning was made with Norma Shearer and Frederic March and Charles Laughton as the grim father. The new version will be filmed in London.

I repeat—this is Jennifer's greatest film cycle. Winner of the Audience Awards Poll as best actress for "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing," she now gets this plum. All this and Gielgud, too!

Looks as if 20th Century-Fox will have both Marilyn Monroe and Jayne Mansfield, the girl who does an imitation of Monroe on the Broadway stage in "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"

This week, Jayne is making a test in New York for John Steinbeck's story, "The Wayward Bus," and if the results are what the studio expects, Jayne will be on the 20th lot in May or June with a contract calling for other pictures.

The way it looks now, Jayne may bring "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter" to San Francisco and her hometown Los Angeles. Jayne certainly looks like Marilyn without even attempting to do an imitation. She has many of Marilyn's characteristics, too, such as wanting to study hard to perfect her acting.

The signing of talented 12-year-old Ricky Vera, protege of Hoagy Carmichael for "Leather Saint" by Paramount, recalled to Don Hartman and Casting Director Bill Meiklejohn the first time they ever saw the little boy. It was in August of 1952 when with a couple of other judges they looked at about 30 acts taken from hundreds of schools in Los Angeles.

Ricky and his sister appeared and were given a scholarship with Don and Bill voting for them. Young Vera is now on Eve Arden's "Our Miss Brooks" series, and previous to that was on the "Saturday Night Revue," the Hoagy Carmiachel TV show. He's a great little trouper.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Lana Turner's house may soon belong to Yma Sumac. She's made an offer to buy it.

Elizabeth Taylor has made up her mind not to rejoin Mike Wilding in London. He'll be finished with "Zarak Khan" in three weeks and she doesn't want to leave her children again.

Charlie Chaplin, now in Switzerland, is putting the finishing touches on his next motion picture, "The King," which he'll shoot in England and France.

Donna Reed writes from London that she and the children have been bedded for three days with bad colds, but she and Tony expect to take off for Africa late this week.

Rita Hayworth and Raymond Hakim in a cozy corner at the Luau for dinner.

Although Pete Smith has been out of production for almost a year, his fame goes on. He won number 1 for the 13th time, and the same honor from Showmen's Trade Review.

Mario Lanza has received a copy of the novel "Prince Bart" from Warner Brothers as an acting possibility. This is supposed to be based on the personality and career of the late John Garfield.

Pat Rocamora, just back from New York, dining at Perino's with Wynn Rocamora.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

New Hairdo's Point Up The Profile

Watch that profile line, if you're putting your hair up. Your public will be as entranced with you in your new hair style as you hope it wil be, only if the side view's as good as the front.

And it should be even better. A piquant profile, so fetchingly feminine, is the up-do's greatest charm. Take no chances on an awkward or ragged outline—remember these two important points:

1. Never wear the bulk of your back hair directly opposite your nose. If you do, your nose will seem longer, and the line from the tip of it across the side of your head to the farthest projection of hair will seem much to wide. The profile is thrown off balance. Instead, place the knot or roll so its weight is either higher or lower than the nose.

2. Go in for the most meticulous wisp control, for the sake of a profile outline that's as neat as a head on a coin. Your new up hairdo must be smooth and shining and spoiled in no way by a fringe on the back of your neck. Don't try to put off the issue by trimming off the worst stragglers. Brush them up into position and use spray-on liquids to make them stay in place. Use the spray a second time after the first application is dry if yours is the kind of hair that has a tendency to escape whenever it can. Or year a tiny comb if you must for a while to confine the wisps. Unfortunately, this hair is different from the rest and grows slowly.

You never needed a hand mirror for hair checkup more than you do now. Take more than a side glance at the sides of your head often to make sure your new coiffure's a success.

Tomorrow—Views on velvet.

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?"—Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! This "P.S." gives you complete information on handling lines to your own best advantage. Banks Plan Rate Boost Seven of the county's 10 banking institutions have announced that the interest rate on savings is being increased from 1 to 2 per cent effective January 1, which will result in approximately $400,000 more to savings depositors.

Cumberland Clearing House, which comprises Cumberland Savings Bank, Commercial Savings Bank, Liberty Trust Company and Second National Bank, announced its plans yesterday.

John L. Conway, president, said the increase to 2 per cent is retroactive to January 1.

The move, he added, reflects an increase in bank earnings because of increased business and loan demands.

First National Bank, this city, announced yesterday that its interest rates are being increased.

First Federal Savings and Loan Association has also revealed an increase in interest rates from 2 to 2½ per cent.

The two banks at Frostburg, Fidelity Savings Bank and Frostburg National Bank are increasing their interest rate to 2 per cent. Announcement was made yesterday by William B. Yates, president of Fidelity Savings, and F. Earl Kreitzburg, cashier of Frostburg National.

Change Announced For Petit Jurors

A change in the reporting date for the petit jury of the January term of Allegany County Circuit Court was announced yesterday.

The petit jurors who were originally scheduled to appear for the start of cases Monday will now appear Monday, January 23, according to Sheriff Edward R. Muir.

Cumberland Is Granted Sept. 12-Sept. 22 Racing Dates

Commission Okays Swap With Hub City

Hagerstown To Open Half Milers Aug. 15; Other Changes Made

The Maryland Racing Commission yesterday announced in Baltimore that Cumberland and Hagerstown half mile tracks have been given permission to swap their dates for the 1956 racing season.

The move means that Hagerstown will now open the half mile season in Maryland on August 15 and hold its meeting through August 25.

Cumberland Fair Association will operate its 10-day season from Wednesday, September 12 through Saturday, September 22.

Tracks Asked Swap

The approval of the move by the racing commission settled the perennial squabble over racing dates early and was made after both Cumberland and Hagerstown had expressed the desire to swap dates approved for their race meets earlier by the commission.

D. Eldred Rinehart, commission chairman, in announcing the move said the commission also has switched the 20-night harness race meeting at Baltimore Raceway from June to October for 1956.

Harness racing at Baltimore Raceway will begin October 5 and continue through November 1 if four "rain nights" are required and will conflight with thoroughbred racing at Marlboro and Laurel race tracks.

Completes Schedule

The commission noted that an agreement has been reached with Delaware through which their Harrington track will open right after Ocean Downs closes and then Brandywine Raceway will open to conclude the Delaware harness season October 4.

It was the first time harness racing in Maryland was ever scheduled after Labor Day.

The changes complete the 1956 racing schedule, Rinehart said, and the Cumberland and Hagerstown season will get underway at the close of the summer meeting at Charles Town in August.

W.Va. Grants Approval For New Race Track

Charles Town May Get January Dates

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 11 (AP)—The West Virginia Racing Commission gave tentative approval today to an application for authority to build a five-eighths-of-a-mile horse racing track in nearby Putnam County.

The approval was granted to the Kanawha Park Racing Assn., which wants to construct a plant, expected to cost about $1,025,000, along W. Va. Route 17. Ministerial groups have already launched a vigorous campaign against the project.

Notice of today's commission action will be published in Putnam County weekly newspapers Friday, and opponents of the track proposal then will have 60 days in which to obtain signatures of 15 per cent of Putnam's legally registered voters on petitions.

If the opposition efforts are successful, the county court will be required by law to hold a special election on the race track matter, probably in conjunction with the regular May 8 primary voting.

If the petition drive fails, the commission's approval of the plan automatically will become final.

As explained by an attorney for the commission, under the law it is almost mandatory for the racing commission to grant tentative approval of an application for a horse racing track provided the petition is in proper form.

In its only other formal action today, the commission virtually gave final approval to a Jan. 28-March 7 race meeting at the Charles Town Jockey Club's half-mile track.

The track earlier asked for Jan. 21-March 7 dates, but the commission thought that period would be too much in mid-winter and proposed instead Feb. 4-March 17.

Green Is Signed By Baltimore Team

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League announced signing today Paul (Sam) Green, a free agent formerly of Penn State and now with the Army in Germany.

Green was a 220-pound guard and linebacker at Penn State before being drafted. He is from Pottstown, Pa.

N.Y. Boxing Guild Tells State Managers To Resign

Organization Votes Also To Stay Intact

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — The Boxing Guild of New York tonight recommended that all of its members who are licensed in New York resign from the organization, but refused to surrender completely to Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

In a 15-minute meeting, the guild said it recognized the irreparable damage that would be imposed on its members if their licenses were revoked.

Helfand has fixed Monday, Jan. 16 as the date for managers to divorce themselves from the local guild or lose their licenses.

Vote To Stay Intact

The guild also voted to remain intact and test the validity of Helfand's ruling in the New York State Supreme Court. The members of the guild who are not licensed in New York, estimated at about one-third of the memership of 69, would remain to test the case in the courts.

Cus D'Amato, acting president of the guild and manager of heavyweight title contender Floyd Patterson, said he had not decided whether to resign. But a number of resignations are expected to be on Helfand's desk tomorrow.

Ketchum To Resign

Among those present who immediately announced they would resign were Willie Ketchum, manager of ex-lightheavyweight champion Jimmy Carter; Hymie Wallman, former president of the guild; Eddie Walker, veteran manager and Jimmy De Angelo.

D'Amato said the guild would decide within a couple of days regarding officers to head the court fight.

A number of managers, including Al Weill, boss of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, didn't wait until tonight's action to resign from the guild. They wired in their resignations several days ago.

From Buffalo came word that the most prominent managers in the 88-member Western New York Guild, largest affiliate of the International Boxing Guild, had announced they were through. John DeJohn and Joe Netro, co-managers of welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, said in Syracuse they would pay no more guild dues. Mike Scanlon, manager of Joey Giambra, middleweight contender, said he, too, was out.

Pennsylvania Cooperates

While the Boxing Guild of New York gatherec for its meeting, Helfand announced he had been assured "complete cooperation" in his fight by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission.

Helfand met with Jim Crowley, former Notre Dame football star who is chairman of the Pennsylvania commission, Commissioners Alfred Klein and Paul Sullivan and John Saunders, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Commission.

"The meeting was held to discuss the mutual problems of the two states," a statement from Helfand's office said.

From Grand Rapids, Mich., came news that the International Boxing Guild had been banned in Michigan. Commissioner Floyd Stevens said he will urge the NBA to join "this or any movement that will preserve the sport's integrity and chase out the evil influences such as have been uncovered. . . . we will not permit any boxing show or set of shows to come into Michigan that do not conform to all standards of our concept of the sports."

Tatum Urges Gridders Not To Follow Him

Maryland Athletic Plans To Continue

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Jim Tatum told his University of Maryland football players today it would be "ridiculous" for any of them to follow him to North Carolina, where he soon will take over the head coaching job.

He published a long dissertation to the football squad on the front page of today's Diamondback, student newspaper at Maryland.

He pleaded that none leave school just because he has pulled up stakes.

And he told them not to worry about room, board and tuition.

"You may rest assured," he said, "there will be no change of policy at Maryland which will affect you in any way, shape or form. As long as you make normal progress toward graduation, which is actually your purpose in school, and conduct yourselves as gentlemen on the campus, your scholarship will continue as I always assured you it would at Maryland."

In a companion story, the Diamond back quoted University President Wilson H. Elkins, as saying there would be no change in the present arrangements for athletic scholarships.

Asked about rumors there would be a de-emphasis on football at Maryland, Dr. Elkins said:

"We plan to keep our athletic program as strong as we can and at the same time maintain a strong academic program."

Elkins was a football star at Texas and a Rhodes scholar.

Tatum told his players:

"I want to assure you I am not leaving because of any discord in the athletic department or with the administration. Your president has a keen interest in athletics and wants a strong athletic program."

Tatum announced Dr. Elkins would meet with the football squad next Tuesday and they would "explain further" about his leaving.

Tatum reiterated an earlier complaint his combined job as head football coach and athletic director took too much time. He said he "lost touch more and more with my team, especially with my quarterback, and it was hurting them and their performance."

He will do only the coaching at North Carolina.

Dr. Elkins said it had not been decided whether the jobs will be separated at Maryland.

He said Tatum's successor will be chosen as soon as possible by the athletic committee of the board of regents.

NCAA Splits Cage Tourney In 2 Sections

Group Votes To Keep Video Restrictions

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) voted today to split its annual tournament into two divisions and approved continued controls on football television with only one dissenting vote.

The 212 voting delegates, representing colleges and universities from coast to coast, were denied a chance to express themselves on recruiting practices by withdrawal of a proposed amendment which would have placed national regulations on the inducement of high school athletic talent.

The lone vote against continuation of controls on television was voiced by Edward (Moose) Krause, Notre Dame athletic director and long-time opponent of restrictions on telecasts of college games. Krause voted "no," but his voice was barely audible across the room.

The television resolution as approved provides for appointment of a committee to set up a 1956 plan modeled along the lines of last fall's program which authorized eight national and five regional games for living-room screens.

The 1957 cage tournament will be divided into "university" and "college" sections, but no enrollment figures were set for the split. Instead, "schools will be permitted to select the division in which they will compete.

J. Sohber Barr, Franklin and Marshall College, explained it was felt that schools should be given that opportunity because many smaller institutions specialize in basketball and compete on even terms with large universities.

"There will be no jumping back and forth, though," Barr explained, "without at least one year in between."

The plan was adopted despite a plea by Al Duer of Pepperdine College, executive secretary o the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics which sponsors a small-college tournament annually at Kansas City.

"We feel that athletics throughout the nation will be hurt by this move," Duer said. "It's difficult for us to understand why the NCAA, after 15 years, suddenly becomes interested in the small colleges, particularly in the basketball tournament area . . . "

Duer said the NAIA Tournament was organized "because the small colleges could not compete evenly with the large ones."

"We think our tournament was of tremendous service to the small schools," he said. "It has helped raise the level of basketball.

"Two tournaments can do nothing except create great confusion."

The split was authorized, however, by voice vote with only scattered dissenters.

Authorized waiving loss of eligibility for college athlete participating in Olympic games.

Reported the University of Miami (Fla.) which was continued on probation for one year last night, faced possible expulsion if corrections were not made in present financial aids to athletes.

Set Jan. 9-11 as dates for the 1957 convention at St. Louis.

Reported 25 member schools were under investigation for possible rules violations by the infractions committee.

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (INS) — There are 79 men in Baseball's Hall of Fame and sports writers now are voting on a new batch to honor.

Each writer is entitled to name 10 and a successful candidate must have 75 per cent of the votes cast. Some vote only for one or two and one distinguished columnist on a sacrosanct New York paper already has announced he can find no more than eight worthy of his vote.

We never have known just what qualifications entitle a man to a vote and we believe there should be certain standards to follow. If you look over the list of those already in the hall you will find one of the immortals alongside a banjo hitter at the same position.

One thing is sure and we pass the tip along to those still playing, publicity never hurt, and to get it, be nice to the sports writers.

Dizzy Dean undoubtedly was a great pitcher but we doubt that he would have made the hall so soon were he not a screwball with a penchant for getting his name in print. Where would he have gotten if he went by his regular moniker —Jay Hanna Dean—and had been a close-mouthed serious pitcher.

And we feel sure that a poem about Tinker to Evers to Chance did more to get those three Chicago Cubs in the Hall than their individual playing ability may have warranted.

Our aforesaid confrere feels that only Ted Williams, Stan Musial and Bob Feller ever will make the grade among the current crop of players. That's a lot of malarkey. How about Robin Roberts, Phil Rizzuto and Peewee Reese, Duke Snider and Willie Mays?

This distinguished gentleman says he can vote for only 10 not yet named to the Hall, and he mentions Lefty Gomez, Joe Cronin and Hank Greenberg. Fair enough. He also likes Sam Rice with his lifetime batting average of 322; Joe Medwick, the greatest of all bad ball hitters and his .332; Heinie Manush and his .330, and the one and only Babe Herman, who once hit .393 and didn't lead the league.

We, too, can and will vote for all of those but we also must cast a vote for Earl Combs, who patrolled center field between Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel.

Combs was the late Miller Huggins' all-time ideal ball player. He had a life-time batting average of .325 and he made it as a lead-off man, believe it or not. He was extremely fast, could hit the long ball and could hawk a ball with anybody.

Strangely enough, he rarely gets a Hall of Fame vote, probably because he was too self-effacing and made the tough ones look too easy.

Yes, we confess we don't know what it takes to make a Hall of Famer. Judge Landis did it as the savior of baseball although it was Babe Ruth's homers that did it after the Black Sox scandal. Club owners and even one umpire—Bill Klem—made it. Who knows? Perhaps one day a broadcaster may make it.

Cumberland Is Granted Sept. 12-Sept. 22 Racing Dates

Commission Okays Swap With Hub City

Hagerstown To Open Half Milers Aug. 15; Other Changes Made

The Maryland Racing Commission yesterday announced in Baltimore that Cumberland and Hagerstown half mile tracks have been given permission to swap their dates for the 1956 racing season.

The move means that Hagerstown will now open the half mile season in Maryland on August 15 and hold its meeting through August 25.

Cumberland Fair Association will operate its 10-day season from Wednesday, September 12 through Saturday, September 22.

Tracks Asked Swap

The approval of the move by the racing commission settled the perennial squabble over racing dates early and was made after both Cumberland and Hagerstown had expressed the desire to swap dates approved for their race meets earlier by the commission.

D. Eldred Rinehart, commission chairman, in announcing the move said the commission also has switched the 20-night harness race meeting at Baltimore Raceway from June to October for 1956.

Harness racing at Baltimore Raceway will begin October 5 and continue through November 1 if four "rain nights" are required and will conflight with thoroughbred racing at Marlboro and Laurel race tracks.

Completes Schedule

The commission noted that an agreement has been reached with Delaware through which their Harrington track will open right after Ocean Downs closes and then Brandywine Raceway will open to conclude the Delaware harness season October 4.

It was the first time harness racing in Maryland was ever scheduled after Labor Day.

The changes complete the 1956 racing schedule, Rinehart said, and the Cumberland and Hagerstown season will get underway at the close of the summer meeting at Charles Town in August.

W.Va. Grants Approval For New Race Track

Charles Town May Get January Dates

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 11 (AP)—The West Virginia Racing Commission gave tentative approval today to an application for authority to build a five-eighths-of-a-mile horse racing track in nearby Putnam County.

The approval was granted to the Kanawha Park Racing Assn., which wants to construct a plant, expected to cost about $1,025,000, along W. Va. Route 17. Ministerial groups have already launched a vigorous campaign against the project.

Notice of today's commission action will be published in Putnam County weekly newspapers Friday, and opponents of the track proposal then will have 60 days in which to obtain signatures of 15 per cent of Putnam's legally registered voters on petitions.

If the opposition efforts are successful, the county court will be required by law to hold a special election on the race track matter, probably in conjunction with the regular May 8 primary voting.

If the petition drive fails, the commission's approval of the plan automatically will become final.

As explained by an attorney for the commission, under the law it is almost mandatory for the racing commission to grant tentative approval of an application for a horse racing track provided the petition is in proper form.

In its only other formal action today, the commission virtually gave final approval to a Jan. 28-March 7 race meeting at the Charles Town Jockey Club's half-mile track.

The track earlier asked for Jan. 21-March 7 dates, but the commission thought that period would be too much in mid-winter and proposed instead Feb. 4-March 17.

N.Y. Boxing Guild Tells State Managers To Resign

Organization Votes Also To Stay Intact

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — The Boxing Guild of New York tonight recommended that all of its members who are licensed in New York resign from the organization, but refused to surrender completely to Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

In a 15-minute meeting, the guild said it recognized the irreparable damage that would be imposed on its members if their licenses were revoked.

Helfand has fixed Monday, Jan. 16 as the date for managers to divorce themselves from the local guild or lose their licenses.

Vote To Stay Intact

The guild also voted to remain intact and test the validity of Helfand's ruling in the New York State Supreme Court. The members of the guild who are not licensed in New York, estimated at about one-third of the memership of 69, would remain to test the case in the courts.

Cus D'Amato, acting president of the guild and manager of heavyweight title contender Floyd Patterson, said he had not decided whether to resign. But a number of resignations are expected to be on Helfand's desk tomorrow.

Ketchum To Resign

Among those present who immediately announced they would resign were Willie Ketchum, manager of ex-lightheavyweight champion Jimmy Carter; Hymie Wallman, former president of the guild; Eddie Walker, veteran manager and Jimmy De Angelo.

D'Amato said the guild would decide within a couple of days regarding officers to head the court fight.

A number of managers, including Al Weill, boss of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, didn't wait until tonight's action to resign from the guild. They wired in their resignations several days ago.

From Buffalo came word that the most prominent managers in the 88-member Western New York Guild, largest affiliate of the International Boxing Guild, had announced they were through. John DeJohn and Joe Netro, co-managers of welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, said in Syracuse they would pay no more guild dues. Mike Scanlon, manager of Joey Giambra, middleweight contender, said he, too, was out.

Pennsylvania Cooperates

While the Boxing Guild of New York gatherec for its meeting, Helfand announced he had been assured "complete cooperation" in his fight by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission.

Helfand met with Jim Crowley, former Notre Dame football star who is chairman of the Pennsylvania commission, Commissioners Alfred Klein and Paul Sullivan and John Saunders, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Commission.

"The meeting was held to discuss the mutual problems of the two states," a statement from Helfand's office said.

From Grand Rapids, Mich., came news that the International Boxing Guild had been banned in Michigan. Commissioner Floyd Stevens said he will urge the NBA to join "this or any movement that will preserve the sport's integrity and chase out the evil influences such as have been uncovered. . . . we will not permit any boxing show or set of shows to come into Michigan that do not conform to all standards of our concept of the sports."

Tatum Urges Gridders Not To Follow Him

Maryland Athletic Plans To Continue

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Jim Tatum told his University of Maryland football players today it would be "ridiculous" for any of them to follow him to North Carolina, where he soon will take over the head coaching job.

He published a long dissertation to the football squad on the front page of today's Diamondback, student newspaper at Maryland.

He pleaded that none leave school just because he has pulled up stakes.

And he told them not to worry about room, board and tuition.

"You may rest assured," he said, "there will be no change of policy at Maryland which will affect you in any way, shape or form. As long as you make normal progress toward graduation, which is actually your purpose in school, and conduct yourselves as gentlemen on the campus, your scholarship will continue as I always assured you it would at Maryland."

In a companion story, the Diamond back quoted University President Wilson H. Elkins, as saying there would be no change in the present arrangements for athletic scholarships.

Asked about rumors there would be a de-emphasis on football at Maryland, Dr. Elkins said:

"We plan to keep our athletic program as strong as we can and at the same time maintain a strong academic program."

Elkins was a football star at Texas and a Rhodes scholar.

Tatum told his players:

"I want to assure you I am not leaving because of any discord in the athletic department or with the administration. Your president has a keen interest in athletics and wants a strong athletic program."

Tatum announced Dr. Elkins would meet with the football squad next Tuesday and they would "explain further" about his leaving.

Tatum reiterated an earlier complaint his combined job as head football coach and athletic director took too much time. He said he "lost touch more and more with my team, especially with my quarterback, and it was hurting them and their performance."

He will do only the coaching at North Carolina.

Dr. Elkins said it had not been decided whether the jobs will be separated at Maryland.

He said Tatum's successor will be chosen as soon as possible by the athletic committee of the board of regents.

"There will be no jumping back and forth, though," Barr explained, "without at least one year in between."

The plan was adopted despite a plea by Al Duer of Pepperdine College, executive secretary o the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics which sponsors a small-college tournament annually at Kansas City.

"We feel that athletics throughout the nation will be hurt by this move," Duer said. "It's difficult for us to understand why the NCAA, after 15 years, suddenly becomes interested in the small colleges, particularly in the basketball tournament area . . . "

Duer said the NAIA Tournament was organized "because the small colleges could not compete evenly with the large ones."

"We think our tournament was of tremendous service to the small schools," he said. "It has helped raise the level of basketball.

"Two tournaments can do nothing except create great confusion."

The split was authorized, however, by voice vote with only scattered dissenters.

Other convention action:

Authorized waiving loss of eligibility for college athlete participating in Olympic games.

Reported the University of Miami (Fla.) which was continued on probation for one year last night, faced possible expulsion if corrections were not made in present financial aids to athletes.

Set Jan. 9-11 as dates for the 1957 convention at St. Louis.

Reported 25 member schools were under investigation for possible rules violations by the infractions committee.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (INS) — There are 79 men in Baseball's Hall of Fame and sports writers now are voting on a new batch to honor.

Each writer is entitled to name 10 and a successful candidate must have 75 per cent of the votes cast. Some vote only for one or two and one distinguished columnist on a sacrosanct New York paper already has announced he can find no more than eight worthy of his vote.

We never have known just what qualifications entitle a man to a vote and we believe there should be certain standards to follow. If you look over the list of those already in the hall you will find one of the immortals alongside a banjo hitter at the same position.

One thing is sure and we pass the tip along to those still playing, publicity never hurt, and to get it, be nice to the sports writers.

Dizzy Dean undoubtedly was a great pitcher but we doubt that he would have made the hall so soon were he not a screwball with a penchant for getting his name in print. Where would he have gotten if he went by his regular moniker —Jay Hanna Dean—and had been a close-mouthed serious pitcher.

And we feel sure that a poem about Tinker to Evers to Chance did more to get those three Chicago Cubs in the Hall than their individual playing ability may have warranted.

Our aforesaid confrere feels that only Ted Williams, Stan Musial and Bob Feller ever will make the grade among the current crop of players. That's a lot of malarkey. How about Robin Roberts, Phil Rizzuto and Peewee Reese, Duke Snider and Willie Mays?

This distinguished gentleman says he can vote for only 10 not yet named to the Hall, and he mentions Lefty Gomez, Joe Cronin and Hank Greenberg. Fair enough. He also likes Sam Rice with his lifetime batting average of .322; Joe Medwick, the greatest of all bad ball hitters and his .332; Heinie Manush and his .330, and the one and only Babe Herman, who once hit .393 and didn't lead the league.

We, too, can and will vote for all of those but we also must cast a vote for Earl Combs, who patrolled center field between Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel.

Combs was the late Miller Huggins' all-time ideal ball player. He had a life-tine batting average of .325 and he made it as a lead-off man, believe it or not. He was extremely fast, could hit the long ball and could hawk a ball with anybody.

Strangely enough, he rarely gets a Hall of Fame vote, probably because he was too self-effacing and made the tough ones look too easy.

Yes, we confess we don't know what it takes to make a Hall of Famer. Judge Landis did it as the savior of baseball although it was Babe Ruth's homers that did it after the Black Sox scandal. Club owners and even one umpire—Bill Klem—made it. Who knows? Perhaps one day a broadcaster may make it.

I Appeal Cops Luau Feature At Tropical

Ussery Adds To Lead For Jockey Honors

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP)—Spring Hill Farm's I Appeal, under a strong ride from Sammy Boulmetis, barely lasted to win the $6,500 Luau Handicap at Tropical Park today, getting the call by a nose over the fast-closing A. J. Mesler's War Command in a thrilling finish.

A length farther back came Sol Rotenberg's Bronze Warrior, which in turn was a head before Boncrist Farm's Sue Pat, the choice and lone filly in the field of eight top sprinters in this area. Skipper Bill was fifth, Brach's Admiral sixth, Hilarious seventh and I Geegee, a stablemate of I Appeal, eighth.

I Appeal forced the pace set by Sue Pat from the outset and when the filly tired, the son of Sir Pennant assumed a short lead at the eighth pole. There the field was well-bunched up, however, and closing fastest, between horses, was War Command. He was flying in the last sixteenth and just missed overhauling I appeal.

War Command, the highweight at 122 pounds, was making his first start since winning Display Handicap at 2 1/16 miles at Jamaica on Nov. 15.

I appeal, under 120 pounds, turned the 5½ furlongs in 1:04 2/5 on a fast track. He was the second choice at $8.30, $3.70 and $2.80. War Command, ridden by Ted Atkinson, paid $6.30 and $4.40. Bronze Warrior, Joe Culmone up, was $4.50 third.

All the horses, except Skipper Bill and Sue Pat, are eligible for the $20,000 added Hileah Handicap next Thursday.

Jim Norris, owner of Spring Hill Farm and president of the International Boxing Club, was presented with a trophy after I Appeal's stirring triumph.

The weather remained cold and uncomfortable. The attendance was 10,603, against 11,161 a year ago.

Willie Hartack, complaining of being ill after accepting his first three mounts, cancelled engagements in the last two races. He failed to get a winner and now trails Bobby Ussery by three for Tropical's riding honors. Ussery scored with Grand Risk, his 46th winner, in the second.

Grand Risk, idle since last July, moved to the leaders on the turn and swept home on top by 2½ lengths in 1:12 4/5 for the six furlongs second race. Goofus, the choice, was second, with High Bracket taking third from eight others.

Intimate, $6.30 choice, was much the best of a large field of 3-year olds in the mile and a sixteenth opener. She carried Apprentice C. Wayne Beck to a 2-length margin over Slideout. Pollycrome was third. The time was 1:47 4/5.

The schedule:

Sept. 22 at South Carolina; 29 at Virginia.

Oct. 6 Tennessee; 13 SMU; 20 at Pittsburgh; 27 North Carolina State.

Nov. 3 Georgia Tech; 10 Navy; 17 at Wake Forest; 24 at North Carolina.

Navy Wallops Hopkins

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—Navy snapped a two-game losing streak today by breezing to an 83-46 basketball victory over outmanned Johns Hopkins.

The game was a contest for only the first seven minutes. The visiting Bluejays jumped to an early lead before Navy went ahead for good with seven minutes gone. Then the Middies poured it on.

The victory was the fourth of the season for Navy, which had lost its two previous contests. Hopkins has won only two of six games.

Navy's Frank Petinos was high scorer for the afternoon with 16 points and teammate Dave Smalley had 12 for runner-up honors. Little Al Slechter was high for Hopkins with 19 and Jerry Gottlieb had 9.

Army Wins, 69-58

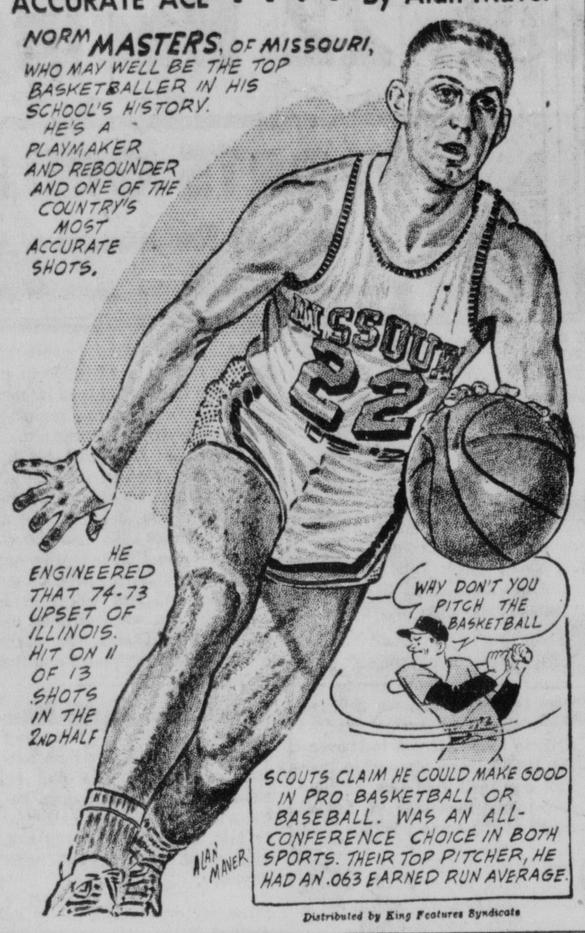

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP) — Sharpshooting Mark Binstein scored 25 points today to lead Army to a 69-58 basketball victory over Colgate.

Marion Sees Tight AL Race

Predicts First Division For Sox

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP)—Manager Marty Marion, who last year predicted a pennant for his Chicago White Sox, is more modest this year—simply declaring a first division finish is certain for the Pale Hose.

"Naturally, we're shooting for the pennant, but it's hard to peg the New York Yankees right now," Marion said at a press gathering.

"The American League race will be much like last year," continued Marion, former Mr. Shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinals. "It'll be a tough affair.

"I think Cleveland was stronger last year than the Indians will be this year. The Boston Red Sox may be improved, although with young players you never can be sure. Detroit also has to be considered in the top flight."

The Yankees won the 1955 AL pennant by three games over Cleveland. The White Sox were third, five games off the pace.

Marion's observations about the White Sox chances boiled down to three factors:

1. The club needs pitching to go with only three hurlers now rated first-line—Billy Pierce Jack Harshman and Dick Donovan.

2. Luis Aparicio, the rookie shortstop, will have to bloom into a major league replacement for Chico Carrasquel.

3. Larry Doby, acquired from the Indians for Carrasquel and outfielder Jim Busby, must come through with long-ball power.

Basilio To Defend Crown Feb. 15 Against Saxton

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio will defend his title against Johnny Saxton, former titlist, in a nationally televised bout at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday, Feb. 15.

Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, made the announcement today. He said the bout still awaits approval from the Illinois State Athletic Commission. However, this is expected to be only a formality.

Gibson also said Saxton will be asked to sign his own contract, in preference to his reported manager, Blinky Palermo, who has been under fire from the New York State Athletic Commission.

Gibson said all negotiations for the bout thus far have been between himself and Saxton.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Catcher Wes Westrum agreed to contract terms with the New York Giants today at a reported $17,500.

The broadcast said the listed world mark is 4:40.2, held by Anton Huiskes of Holland.

Italy Awaits Olympic Stars

American Athletes Fail To Arrive

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy, Jan. 11 (AP)—The first contingent of American Olympic athletes failed to arrive on schedule today but Cortina kept the welcome mats dusted off as the vanguard of nearly 1,500 competitors in the winter games, starting Jan. 26, began to trickle in.

First to arrive were the Italian team and four Lebanese skiers.

The Bellevue Hotel, where most of the Americans will stay during the Olympics, had its staff alerted and a hot lunch waiting for the 14 skiers and bobsledders, but the preparations ended in confusion.

A telegram said the Americans' chartered plane could not land at nearby Treviso Airport because of bad weather. A hotel spokesman said the athletes would arrive tomorrow by train, but reports from Zurich, where the plane did land, said the Americans were going to Switzerland and wouldn't reach here until next week.

Why doesn't Ezzard Charles hang 'em up? Even Jack Johnson has beaten him.

Hornsby To Scout

CLEVELAND, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians today announced signing of Rogers Hornsby as their scout in the Chicago area where he currently works for the City Recreation Department.

I Appeal Cops Luau Feature At Tropical

Ussery Adds To Lead For Jockey Honors

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP)—Spring Hill Farm's I Appeal, under a strong ride from Sammy Boulmetis, barely lasted to win the $6,500 Luau Handicap at Tropical Park today, getting the call by a nose over the fast-closing A. J. Mesler's War Command in a thrilling finish.

A length farther back came Sol Rotenberg's Bronze Warrior, which in turn was a head before Boncrist Farm's Sue Pat, the choice and lone filly in the field of eight top sprinters in this area. Skipper Bill was fifth, Brach's Admiral sixth, Hilarious seventh and I Geegee, a stablemate of I Appeal, eighth.

I Appeal forced the pace set by Sue Pat from the outset and when the filly tired, the son of Sir Pennant assumed a short lead at the eighth pole. There the field was well-bunched up, however, and closing fastest, between horses, was War Command. He was flying in the last sixteenth and just missed overhauling I appeal.

War Command, the highweight at 122 pounds, was making his first start since winning Display Handicap at 2 1/16 miles at Jamaica on Nov. 15.

I appeal, under 120 pounds, turned the 5½ furlongs in 1:04 2/5 on a fast track. He was the second choice at $8.30, $3.70 and $2.80. War Command, ridden by Ted Atkinson, paid $6.30 and $4.40. Bronze Warrior, Joe Culmone up, was $4.50 third.

All the horses, except Skipper Bill and Sue Pat, are eligible for the $20,000 added Hileah Handicap next Thursday.

The weather remained cold and uncomfortable. The attendance was 10,603, against 11,161 a year ago.

Willie Hartack, complaining of being ill after accepting his first three mounts, cancelled engagements in the last two races. He failed to get a winner and now trails Bobby Ussery by three for Tropical's riding honors. Ussery scored with Grand Risk, his 46th winner, in the second.

Grand Risk, idle since last July, moved to the leaders on the turn and swept home on top by 2½ lengths in 1:12 4/5 for the six furlongs second race. Goofus, the choice, was second, with High Bracket taking third from eight others.

Intimate, $6.30 choice, was much the best of a large field of 3-year olds in the mile and a sixteenth opener. She carried Apprentice C. Wayne Beck to a 2-length margin over Slideout. Pollycrome was third. The time was 1:47 4/5.

Duke Announces 1956 Grid Schedule

DURHAM, N. C., Jan. 11 (AP) — Duke University's 10-game 1956 football schedule was announced today by Athletic Director Eddie Cameron.

Southern Methodist and Virginia replace Ohio State and William and Mary, Cameron said. SMU will make its first appearance in this area Oct. 13. The two schools met in 1952 in Dallas and Duke won 14-7.

The schedule:

Sept. 22 at South Carolina; 29 at Virginia.

Oct. 6 Tennessee; 13 SMU; 20 at Pittsburgh; 27 North Carolina State.

Nov. 3 Georgia Tech; 10 Navy; 17 at Wake Forest; 24 at North Carolina.

Navy Wallops Hopkins

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—Navy snapped a two-game losing streak today by breezing to an 83-46 basketball victory over outmanned Johns Hopkins.

The game was a contest for only the first seven minutes. The visiting Bluejays jumped to an early lead before Navy went ahead for good with seven minutes gone. Then the Middies poured it on.

The victory was the fourth of the season for Navy, which had lost its two previous contests. Hopkins has won only two of six games.

Navy's Frank Petinos was high scorer for the afternoon with 16 points and teammate Dave Smalley had 12 for runner-up honors. Little Al Slechter was high for Hopkins with 19 and Jerry Gottlieb had 9.

Army Wins, 69-58

Marion Sees Tight AL Race

Predicts First Division For Sox

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP)—Manager Marty Marion, who last year predicted a pennant for his Chicago White Sox, is more modest this year—simply declaring a first division finish is certain for the Pale Hose.

"Naturally, we're shooting for the pennant, but it's hard to peg the New York Yankees right now," Marion said at a press gathering.

"The American League race will be much like last year," continued Marion, former Mr. Shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinals. "It'll be a tough affair.

"I think Cleveland was stronger last year than the Indians will be this year. The Boston Red Sox may be improved, although with young players you never can be sure. Detroit also has to be considered in the top flight."

The Yankees won the 1955 AL pennant by three games over Cleveland. The White Sox were third, five games off the pace.

Marion's observations about the White Sox chances boiled down to three factors:

1. The club needs pitching to go with only three hurlers now rated first-line—Billy Pierce Jack Harshman and Dick Donovan.

2. Luis Aparicio, the rookie shortstop, will have to bloom into a major league replacement for Chico Carrasquel.

3. Larry Doby, acquired from the Indians for Carrasquel and outfielder Jim Busby, must come through with long-ball power.

Basilio To Defend Crown Feb. 15 Against Saxton

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio will defend his title against Johnny Saxton, former titlist, in a nationally televised bout at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday, Feb. 15.

Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, made the announcement today. He said the bout still awaits approval from the Illinois State Athletic Commission. However, this is expected to be only a formality.

Gibson also said Saxton will be asked to sign his own contract, in preference to his reported manager, Blinky Palermo, who has been under fire from the New York State Athletic Commission.

Gibson said all negotiations for the bout thus far have been between himself and Saxton.

Westrum Signs

Italy Awaits Olympic Stars

American Athletes Fail To Arrive

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy, Jan. 11 (AP)—The first contingent of American Olympic athletes failed to arrive on schedule today but Cortina kept the welcome mats dusted off as the vanguard of nearly 1,500 competitors in the winter games, starting Jan. 26, began to trickle in.

First to arrive were the Italian team and four Lebanese skiers.

The Bellevue Hotel, where most of the Americans will stay during the Olympics, had its staff alerted and a hot lunch waiting for the 14 skiers and bobsledders, but the preparations ended in confusion.

A telegram said the Americans' chartered plane could not land at nearby Treviso Airport because of bad weather. A hotel spokesman said the athletes would arrive tomorrow by train, but reports from Zurich, where the plane did land, said the Americans were going to Switzerland and wouldn't reach here until next week.

Why doesn't Ezzard Charles hang 'em up? Even Jack Johnson has beaten him.

Hornsby To Scout

Gets Another Chance

CINCINATI (AP)—Harold (Corky) Valentine will get another chance to stick with the Cincinnati Redlegs this spring. A surprise 12-game winner as a rookie in 1954, last year Valentine didn't do so well and was sent to the Havana Sugar Kings of the International League. He compiled a 7-7 record with the Cubans. Valentine is doing much better this winter with the Pastora Milkers in Venezuela.

Preakness Set For May 19 At Pimlico Track

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—Pimlico Race Track has set the 1956 edition of its $100,000-added Preakness for Saturday, May 19, two weeks after the Kentucky Derby.

The decision marks a return to a two week period between the Kentucky classic and the Preakness, stops 1 and 2 on the springtime "triple crown" glory road for three-year-olds.

Pimlico's strategists have arranged for a three-week layoff between the two big races for the past several years. In making the change, they may have been looking backward at last year. Swaps came out of the West to beat Nashua in the Derby. Owner Rex Ellsworth didn't like the three week delay before the Preakness and shipped his horse back to California.

Nashua won last year's Preakness, setting a new record of 1.54 3-5 for the mile and three-sixteenths, and went on to become three-year-old champ and "Horse of the Year."

Lie Detector Operator Has Corset Problems

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP)—A police lie detector operator backtracked a bit today and dropped the embarrassing—if not explosive—subject of women's corsets.

The operator, Lt. Francis N. Lavelle, is giving lie tests to all employes of the Cook County Board of Election Commissioners in an effort to trace a couple of missing vote registration cards.

Some time ago he noted that corsets and other tight-fitting support garments which might be worn by some of the board's 96 female employes sometimes keep the lie detector from accurately measuring the breathing rate.

In hopes of dodging the subject, Lavelle gave tests first to male employes. These were completed and the missing cards remained a mystery.

Yesterday he met with the women, explained the problem and asked them to leave their corsets—if any—at home when they took the tests.

But, as he began giving tests to the women today, the lieutenant said:

"I won't ask them to take anything off. If the tests are inconclusive, I will retest them. If on the second run they are still inconclusive, I will consult with County Judge Otto Kerner and Chairman Sidney T. Holzman of the election board on what action to take."

Lavelle didn't give any reason for his new viewpoint. But a Chicago Tribune reporter—a man—who asked some of the employes if they were wearing foundation garments received some angry replies.

"If you want to start something, just make a couple of cracks," said one woman. "I'm ready for anything."

Britain's International Trade Brings Big Deficit

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Britain's international trade in 1955 produced the second highest deficit on record, the Board of Trade disclosed today.

Only in the crisis year of 1951 was the loss greater, it said.

Provisional figures released by the board showed the nation's unfavorable trade balance widened during the year to 864 million pounds—$2,419,200,000—nearly one-third more than last year's.

Only visible trading—the buying and selling of goods—was reflected in the board's report. Britain usually makes a good profit on invisible trade—services such as shipping and insurance—but not enough to close the gap.

British exports hit a record total equal to $8,136,800,000. But imports soared to $10,889,200,000.

Part of these imports—$333,200,000 worth—were resold abroad to bring the deficit to $2,419,200,000. This is 742 million dollars more than in 1954.

The Board of Trade said the swollen trading figures for the year were due mainly to increases in the volume of goods bought and sold. Price increases for both imported and domestic items were a secondary factor.

The Eden government already has acted to reverse the unfavorable trading trend. It slapped a tight credit squeeze on the country in the fall with the aim of choking off the buying spree by consumers at home and by importers abroad.

Brighter news for the British people was announced, meanwhile, by the Iron and Steel Board, which bosses the country's nationalized steel industry. Steel production for 1955 reached 19,791,000 long tons—1,271,000 tons better than last year. Pig iron output totaled 12,740,000 tons, an increase of 587,000 tons over the 1954 figure.

'Funnyfoot' Mice May Be Clue To Mystery Disease

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK Jan. 11 (AP) — Discovery of a potential key toward controlling muscular dystrophy, a tragic disease of waste-away muscles, was reported today.

The key is a strain of mice that naturally inherit a disease much like human muscular dystrophy. It means mice now can be used in attempts to learn the causes or to test drugs against muscular dystrophy—nicknamed m.d.—which affects 100 to 200 thousand American children and adults.

These mice—first dubbed "funnyfoot" mice because of a peculiarity in walking—were found and developed by Miss Ann M. Michelson, Dr. Elizabeth Shull Russell and Dr. Pinckney J. Harman in research at the Jackson Memorial Laboratory, Bar Harbor, Maine.

These mice inherit some biochemical defect that produces the muscle disease. Perhaps this effect can be pinpointed. Different diets of drugs could easily be tested on them in seeking treatments to overcome or prevent m.d. in humans.

Various studies indicate heredity plays a large or main role in human muscular dystrophy, said Dr. Ade T. Milhorat, chairman of the Medical Advisory Board, Muscular Distrophy Assn. of America, Inc.

It sometimes strikes all members of a family, and it may begin in childhood, during adolescence, or adulthood. Sometimes it affects a few muscles, sometimes progresses to affect many. Victims become crippled or weakened. They may become easy prey to fatal infectious diseases, particularly if their lung muscles are affected.

Mouth Protectors Save Gridders' Teeth

Hempstead, N.Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—Football players who wear rubber mouth protectors almost never suffer dental injuries. Those who wear face masks receive a few but nearly 12 per cent of those who play without protection can expect damaged teeth.

Those were the conclusions drawn from a research project of the Nassau County Dental Society. The tabulation showed that not one of the 151 players equipped with mouth protectors sustained tooth damage while 29 of 244 players not equipped, or 11.7 per cent of the total, received injuries.

Perez Retains Boxing Crown

Flyweight Champ Defeats Espinoso

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 11 (AP) — Undefeated Pascual Perez of Argentina retained his world flyweight boxing title tonight, defeating Leo Espinosa of the Philippines in a 15-rounder before a sellout of 25,000 at Luna Park. Perez weighed 107¾ and Espinosa 111½.

The 29-year-old jockey-size Perez, who first gained fame by winning the Olympic flyweight title in 1948 and then won the crown in a fight with Yoshio Shirai in Tokyo in November 1954, chalked up his 25th victory in 26 outings. The only blot on his record is a draw with Shirai four months before he won the championship.

Farmer Plows Up Prehistoric Jawbone

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan. 11 (AP)—A jawbone plowed up by an east-central Illinois farmer was identified by experts today as that of a prehistoric elephant-like animal.

Dr. Charles W. Collinson, associate geologist of the Illinois Geological Survey, said the bone appears to be 10,000 to 12,000 years old.

Hoffmeister said the jawbone is a particularly "good scientific find" because he believes that other pieces of the animal's bones may be found in the same area. A search will be made. He said a complete skull or skeleton of a prehistoric animal never has been found in Illinois.

Hearing In Suit

Cobey said Bohon rented the apartment November 15, 1952 and Feldstein had reduced the rent that month because Bohon had cleaned the place. Gas was turned on November 17. It was the next day that the three persons were found dead.

Cobey said Bohon had apparently tried to heat the apartment with the gas heater. Windows were tightly shut in the bathroom, there was "sweat" on the windows and the heater had a high, yellow flame.

Cobey said the defense will show there was no negligence on the part of Feldstein.

Also taking the stand yesterday was Mrs. Johnson who testified about her marriage to and divorce from Bohon. She said her husband had complied with a court order to pay $40 a month for support of the children and had missed only once, at which time she had had him arrested.

Officer Richard Lashley of Cumberland Police Department, testified he was called to the scene of the tragedy by a neighbor, got a ladder and saw a man on the floor when he looked in a window. He said he entered the apartment, found the man rigid and had to leave because of gas fumes. He called the Fire Department and his superiors.

Bohnon, he said, was found on the floor in the eating area; his wife on the sofa in such a position it was indicated she was stricken while attempting to get up; and the dead woman's sister on the floor where she had been stricken while attempting to either dress or undress. She was clad in a slip, he added.

Lashley's testimony ended the morning session of the trial which attorneys estimate will take two days. About 20 witnesses are to be heard.

The suit was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court but removed to Washington County for trial. Four other suits filed against Feldstein as a result of the deaths were settled out of court.

Preakness Set For May 19 At Pimlico Track

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—Pimlico Race Track has set the 1956 edition of its $100,000-added Preakness for Saturday, May 19, two weeks after the Kentucky Derby.

The decision marks a return to a two week period between the Kentucky classic and the Preakness, stops 1 and 2 on the springtime "triple crown" glory road for three-year-olds.

Pimlico's strategists have arranged for a three-week layoff between the two big races for the past several years. In making the change, they may have been looking backward at last year. Swaps came out of the West to beat Nashua in the Derby. Owner Rex Ellsworth didn't like the three week delay before the Preakness and shipped his horse back to California.

Nashua won last year's Preakness, setting a new record of 1.54 3-5 for the mile and three-sixteenths, and went on to become three-year-old champ and "Horse of the Year."

Lie Detector Operator Has Corset Problems

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP)—A police lie detector operator backtracked a bit today and dropped the embarrassing—if not explosive—subject of women's corsets.

The operator, Lt. Francis N. Lavelle, is giving lie tests to all employes of the Cook County Board of Election Commissioners in an effort to trace a couple of missing vote registration cards.

Some time ago he noted that corsets and other tight-fitting support garments which might be worn by some of the board's 96 female employes sometimes keep the lie detector from accurately measuring the breathing rate.

In hopes of dodging the subject, Lavelle gave tests first to male employes. These were completed and the missing cards remained a mystery.

Yesterday he met with the women, explained the problem and asked them to leave their corsets—if any—at home when they took the tests.

But, as he began giving tests to the women today, the lieutenant said:

"I won't ask them to take anything off. If the tests are inconclusive, I will retest them. If on the second run they are still inconclusive, I will consult with County Judge Otto Kerner and Chairman Sidney T. Holzman of the election board on what action to take."

Lavelle didn't give any reason for his new viewpoint. But a Chicago Tribune reporter—a man—who asked some of the employes if they were wearing foundation garments received some angry replies.

"If you want to start something, just make a couple of cracks," said one woman. "I'm ready for anything."

Britain's International Trade Brings Big Deficit

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Britain's international trade in 1955 produced the second highest deficit on record, the Board of Trade disclosed today.

Only in the crisis year of 1951 was the loss greater, it said.

Provisional figures released by the board showed the nation's unfavorable trade balance widened during the year to 864 million pounds—$2,419,200,000—nearly one-third more than last year's.

Only visible trading—the buying and selling of goods—was reflected in the board's report. Britain usually makes a good profit on invisible trade—services such as shipping and insurance—but not enough to close the gap.

British exports hit a record total equal to $8,136,800,000. But imports soared to $10,889,200,000.

Part of these imports—$333,200,000 worth—were resold abroad to bring the deficit to $2,419,200,000. This is 742 million dollars more than in 1954.

The Board of Trade said the swollen trading figures for the year were due mainly to increases in the volume of goods bought and sold. Price increases for both imported and domestic items were a secondary factor.

The Eden government already has acted to reverse the unfavorable trading trend. It slapped a tight credit squeeze on the country in the fall with the aim of choking off the buying spree by consumers at home and by importers abroad.

Brighter news for the British people was announced, meanwhile, by the Iron and Steel Board, which bosses the country's nationalized steel industry. Steel production for 1955 reached 19,791,000 long tons—1,271,000 tons better than last year. Pig iron output totaled 12,740,000 tons, an increase of 587,000 tons over the 1954 figure.

'Funnyfoot' Mice May Be Clue To Mystery Disease

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK Jan. 11 (AP) — Discovery of a potential key toward controlling muscular dystrophy, a tragic disease of waste-away muscles, was reported today.

The key is a strain of mice that naturally inherit a disease much like human muscular dystrophy. It means mice now can be used in attempts to learn the causes or to test drugs against muscular dystrophy—nicknamed m.d.—which affects 100 to 200 thousand American children and adults.

These mice—first dubbed "funnyfoot" mice because of a peculiarity in walking—were found and developed by Miss Ann M. Michelson, Dr. Elizabeth Shull Russell and Dr. Pinckney J. Harman in research at the Jackson Memorial Laboratory, Bar Harbor, Maine.

They provide a significant, hopeful tool for solving mysteries of m.d., said Dr. C. C. Little, laboratory director.

These mice inherit some biochemical defect that produces the muscle disease. Perhaps this effect can be pinpointed. Different diets of drugs could easily be tested on them in seeking treatments to overcome or prevent m.d. in humans.

Various studies indicate heredity plays a large or main role in human muscular dystrophy, said Dr. Ade T. Milhorat, chairman of the Medical Advisory Board, Muscular Distrophy Assn. of America, Inc.

It sometimes strikes all members of a family, and it may begin in childhood, during adolesence, or adulthood. Sometimes it affects a few muscles, sometimes progresses to affect many. Victims become crippled or weakened. They may become easy prey to fatal infectious diseases, particularly if their lung muscles are affected.

Mouth Protectors Save Gridders' Teeth

Hempstead, N.Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—Football players who wear rubber mouth protectors almost never suffer dental injuries. Those who wear face masks receive a few but nearly 12 per cent of those who play without protection can expect damaged teeth.

Those were the conclusions drawn from a research project of the Nassau County Dental Society. The tabulation showed that not one of the 151 players equipped with mouth protectors sustained tooth damage while 29 of 244 players not equipped, or 11.7 per cent of the total, received injuries.

Perez Retains Boxing Crown

Flyweight Champ Defeats Espinoso

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 11 (AP) — Undefeated Pascual Perez of Argentina retained his world flyweight boxing title tonight, defeating Leo Espinosa of the Philippines in a 15-rounder before a sellout of 25,000 at Luna Park. Perez weighed 107¾ and Espinosa 111½.

The 29-year-old jockey-size Perez, who first gained fame by winning the Olympic flyweight title in 1948 and then won the crown in a fight with Yoshio Shirai in Tokyo in November 1954, chalked up his 25th victory in 26 outings. The only blot on his record is a draw with Shirai four months before he won the championship.

The defeat was Espinosa's fifth in 45 starts.

Farmer Plows Up Prehistoric Jawbone

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan. 11 (AP)—A jawbone plowed up by an east-central Illinois farmer was identified by experts today as that of a prehistoric elephant-like animal.

Donald F. Hoffmeister, curator of the University of Illinois Museum of Natural History, identified the find as the lower left part of the jaw of a mastodon known as "mammut Americanus," an elephant-like species extinct for thousands of years.

Dr. Charles W. Collinson, associate geologist of the Illinois Geological Survey, said the bone appears to be 10,000 to 12,000 years old.

Hoffmeister said the jawbone is a particularly "good scientific find" because he believes that other pieces of the animal's bones may be found in the same area. A search will be made. He said a complete skull or skeleton of a prehistoric animal never has been found in Illinois.

Hearing In Suit

in at that time, he told the court.

Cobey said Bohon rented the apartment November 15, 1952 and Feldstein had reduced the rent that month because Bohon had cleaned the place. Gas was turned on November 17. It was the next day that the three persons were found dead.

Cobey said Bohon had apparently tried to heat the apartment with the gas heater. Windows were tightly shut in the bathroom, there was "sweat" on the windows and the heater had a high, yellow flame.

Cobey said the defense will show there was no negligence on the part of Feldstein.

Also taking the stand yesterday was Mrs. Johnson who testified about her marriage to and divorce from Bohon. She said her husband had complied with a court order to pay $40 a month for support of the children and had missed only once, at which time she had had him arrested.

Officer Richard Lashley of Cumberland Police Department, testified he was called to the scene of the tragedy by a neighbor, got a ladder and saw a man on the floor when he looked in a window. He said he entered the apartment, found the man rigid and had to leave because of gas fumes. He called the Fire Department and his superiors.

Bohnon, he said, was found on the floor in the eating area; his wife on the sofa in such a position it was indicated she was stricken while attempting to get up; and the dead woman's sister on the floor where she had been stricken while attempting to either dress or undress. She was clad in a slip, he added.

Lashley testified the gas heater was turned up as high as it would go.

Lashley's testimony ended the morning session of the trial which attorneys estimate will take two days. About 20 witnesses are to be heard.

The suit was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court but removed to Washington County for trial. Four other suits filed against Feldstein as a result of the deaths were settled out of court.

Fog, Mist, Snow And Ice Plague Tri-State Area

More Rain, Sleet Expected In Garrett

The weatherman promised no letup in the current wintry weather as he forecast continued occasional rain, cloudy skies, and sleet or snow in Garrett County.

And there will be little change in temperature. Hardest hit in Western Maryland is Garrett County, the westernmost section of the state, where sleet and cold rain mixed with snow have been falling for the past three days.

Freezing rains last night were making travel along U.S. Route 40 wesht of Frostburg toward Grantsville hazardous, according to Maryland State Police, who said the highway east of here was wet but not so dangerous.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said cindering crews were kept busy in Garrett County and parts of Allegany County.

He said they probably would be called back into action last night or early today if the weatherman kept his promise of additional sleet or snow.

Up to five inches of snow have been dumped in Garrett County, where highway travel is especially hazardous. It was sleeting in that county yesterday afternoon and the mercury hovered around the freezing mark.

Ralph R. Weber, official weather observer in Oakland, said the roads in that area were slippery, and cludy skies promised more sleet or rain.

One of the most treacherous sections of road in Garrett County is the Finzel Road, which was ice-covered.

Over in West Virginia, State Police at Romney reported that U.S. Route 50 was wet in that area.

However, chains were recommended on Allegheny Front, especially in the Mt. Storm area, where it was snowing yesterday afternoon.

Elkins was hit hard by the fall of snow as up to nine inches had been dumped in that section.

Here in Cumberland intermittent rains fell during the afternoon and last night as the unofficial temperature at 9 p.m. was about 42 degrees.

Criminal Cases Start Monday In Court Here

All criminal trials for the January term of Allegany County Circuit Court are scheduled for next Monday and Tuesday.

All defendants have waived their right to jury trials so that the cases will be heard by Chief Judge George Henderson and Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Docketed for Monday are the cases against Robert Scott Alexander, 33, of Midland, and Donald Joseph Cavey, 22, and Richard Lee Spencer, 21, both of this city.

Alexander is charged with manslaughter by automobile in the fatal injury to Mary M. Cuthbertson, 9, of Gilmore. The child died November 14, two days after having been struck by Alexander's car.

The two local men have been indicted on four charges. They are accused of burglary of a Roberts Street dwelling on November 12, and of assaulting three teen-age boys with intent to commit sodomy while they were all confined in the County Jail.

James Allen, 72, Klondyke, is scheduled for trial Tuesday on a charge of murder in the fatal wounding of Douglas MacDougal Winter, 35-year-old neighbor November 1. Another manslaughter charge against George H. McCormick, 40, of Lonaconing, also is docketed for Tuesday. He is accused of the traffic death of William D. Leake, 64, of Vale Summit December 3 on State Route 55 near the latter's home.

Applications Up

The Associated Charities has registered 302 families for February surplus foods. Applications have been running about 250 in recent months.

Port Program Would Cost Motorist 1-3 Cent A Day

(This is the third of a series explaining the recent report of the Joint Port Commission to the Legislative Council concerning the proposal to form a State Port Authority.)

The establishment of a State Port Authority would cost the average passenger car owner a third of a penny a day.

And the program, which will provide modern facilities for general cargo, much of which would move to and from the port by the highways, would cost the average truck owner short of a penny a day.

That is the estimate of the cost of underwriting a State Port Authority under a Legislative Council proposal for a fourth of a cent per gallon levy on gasoline sales.

The Joint Port Commission had proposed that toll revenues from the Susquehanna and Potomac River bridges, the Chesapeake Bay Bridge and the Patapsco Tunnel be lumped with port facility revenues and all placed under a single jurisdictional body. This is the type of plan used by the Delaware River and Port of New York authorities.

Such a plan would have required both state and federal legislation and an expensive refinancing program.

Both Have Merit

Robert O. Bonnell, co-chairman of the Joint Port Commission, said both the commission and Legislative Council's proposals have the merit of providing the authority with a continuing and stable income, which is imperative if the Authority is to function as it should.

The gasoline levy, he said, greatly simplifies financing since, with a steady source of income, the Authority would be able to issue revenue bonds without involving the state's credit.

It will also eliminate the need for a real estate levy, Bonnell points out, and will save the "very sizable" expense of refunding the bridge and tunnel bonds.

The gasoline levy, he added, will also be more equitably distributed over the state, although the port region will pay a healthy part of the cost.

Seek Three Facilities

The Joint Port Commission plan calls for the Authority to acquire three port facilities owned by Baltimore City.

These are the McComas Street terminal, the National Gypsum Company pier and the Broadway pier. The Pratt Street piers would not be acquired, since the city has a plan to take them out of service son.

The price to be paid to the city would include $1,612,000—the unamortized debt of the McComas Street piers, the contracted debt of $3,900,000 for improvements to that facility and $1,025,000 of unamortized debt on the National Gypsum pier, for a total of $6,537,000.

The Authority would also pay the City of Baltimore interest on the outstanding bonds to maturity which would amount to $2,069,268.

Since the city's bonds cannot be called, the Authority proposes to place the purchase price in escrow and invest it in government securities, insuring the city against loss by the principal or interest on the bonds.

Plan Cargo Pier

A topnotch general cargo pier, experts have told the Commission, is a must if Maryland's port hopes to gain among the ports of the world the place to which its natural advantages entitle it.

It is estimated that the Authority's annual operating budget would be $950,000—a figure set high enough to allow a program of intensive promotion, advertising and solicitation.

Risk Is Involved

The average operating income is estimated at $676,428. The balance, plus the sinking fund reserve for capital expenditures, would come from the gasoline tax money after provision has been made for servicing the bond issue, Bonnell reports.

Some of the new facilities which

Two Missing Bedford Co. Boys Found

Two Bedford area boys, who had been missing from their homes since late Saturday night, were located last night about 8 o'clock in Wells Township, Fulton County, about 24 miles from their homes, ending a 13-state police hunt.

The two youngsters were picked up by Pennsylvania State Police and returned to their homes. After questioning the two boys, police said that they had been staying at the cabin of a relative.

A13-state police hunt was started for Ross Bender, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bender, RD 2, Bedford, and Frederick Price, 14-year-old son of Fred Price, RD 2, Bedford.

The youngsters, seventh and eighth grade students at Bedford Township Elementary School, were said to have been trapping in the vicinity of the Juniata River.

Police and firemen dredged the river and a searching party scoured the area the past few days.

Hearing In Suit Over Gas Death Resumes Today

A number of witnesses were heard yesterday as the first testimony was taken in a $125,000 damage suit filed in behalf of four children whose father and two others died in a local apartment three years ago.

The case is being tried on removal in Washington County Circuit Court at Hagerstown.

Just before recess until this morning, the court and jury heard Dr. H. V. Deming, Allegany County medical examiner, testify that death was due to asphyxiation. A brother of the deceased man, Victor Glen Bohon, also testified that he had worked with his late brother as a laborer on the Western Maryland Railway prior to the tragedy. He said the dead man's earnings on that job averaged from $65 to $85 each two weeks.

Judge Kenneth McLaughlin is presiding at the jury trial. Foreman of the jury, composed of seven men and five women, is John Lillard, a retired Hagerstown policeman.

Thomas N. Berry, one of the attorneys for Mrs. Mabel Johnson of Hendrix, W. Va., who filed suit against Abraham Feldstein after the three were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in the building he owns at 44 North Centre Street, opened the hearing yesterday.

Berry said he would attempt to show that after the death of the father, Marvin Paul Bohon, his second wife, Flora Ellen Wandless Bohon, and her sister, Pearl E. Wandless, a plumber found the gas heater in the apartment out of adjustment.

He added that no plans were filed for heating and the like as is required by Cumberland's building code and that no occupancy permit had been issued.

He said the amount of money asked is to compensate the children for the loss of income from their father.

W. Earle Cobey, attorney for Feldstein, said his client bought the property in the early 1930s without conveniences and made arrangements with a master plumber to install a bath.

At that time, he added, there were no city regulations covering installation of heaters.

The place was rented until 1950 without trouble, Cobey continued, and in 1950 was converted into four apartments. Utilities were piped

Driver Hurt As Truck Overturns

Chickens Lost In Area Mishap

A truck loaded with about 2,900 live chickens overturned yesterday morning on the Springfield-Points, W. Va., secondary road, causing injuries to the driver and the loss of a number of the chickens.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital was Harry S. Rose, 22, of RD 3, Bedford, Pa., who was reported in "fair" condition last night.

Attaches said he complained of back injuries and was admitted for X-rays and observation. Owner of the truck is Charles Rouzee, also of RD 3, Bedford.

A number of live chickens en route to market gained their freedom as a result of the accident, which occurred after the truck skidded out of control on an icy section of the road and overturned as it went down over an embankment.

Rose told police he had about 2,900 live chickens on the truck and had picked them up in Three Churches. He was traveling toward Springfield at the time of the mishap.

The truck was damaged considerably as it overturned, and a number of chickens died. Police said Rose notified the owner of the truck of the mishap and a crew was being sent to the scene to recover the other chickens.

Auto Theft Subject Of FBI Meet

Local law enforcement officers have been invited to attend the Federal Bureau of Investigation Law Enforcement Conference on auto theft which will be held on October 17 in Baltimore.

A similar conference, according to D. K. Brown, special agent in charge of the Baltimore office, will be held October 24 in Wilmington, Del.

Brown said more than 100 conferences of this type have been scheduled this year by the FBI on a regional basis throughout the United States.

The conferences will be aimed at bringing about additional coordination among law enforcement agencies and improved efficiency in dealing with this crime. They will be operated on a forum basis providing for a mutual exchange of information and knowledge by all participants.

The seriousness of this violation is highlighted by the fact that in 1954 an estimated 215,940 automobiles were stolen in the United States. Although 94 per cent subsequently were located, at the year's end 12,956 cars, valued at more than $12,000,000, still were unrecovered.

In 1953, an estimated 226,530 cars were stolen and 93.9 per cent were recovered, leaving 13,818, valued at some $14,000,000. In 1952, the net loss was 16,364 automobiles valued at more than $17,000,000.

A meeting will be held this morning at 10:30 o'clock by Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, for the purpose of nominating a slate of officers for the coming year.

It will be a continuation of a meeting which was held last night, according to Melvin Harris, president, who said that the following officers will be nominated: president, vice president, secretary-treasurer, six executive board members, five trustees and a warden.

Traffic Deaths Spurt Upward In Past Year

Two-County Total Up 73 Per Cent

Although the number of traffic deaths in Maryland was slightly lower last year than in 1954, the two westernmost counties did little to help the record.

Figures compiled by Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the State Police barracks at LaVale, showed 26 traffic deaths in the two counties in 1955, a whopping 73 per cent increase above the 15 reported in 1954.

Allegany County's death toll moved up 63 per cent, from 11 to 18 while Garrett County's doubled, from four in 1954 to eight last year.

Route 40 Worst

U. S. Route 40 replaced State Route 36 as the worst death road in Western Maryland last year. In 1955 eight of the 18th deaths in Allegany County and four of the eight in Garrett County occurred on U. S. Route 40, the heaviest traveled road in the area.

State Route 36, which has been charged with four deaths in 1954, had only two last year.

Other Allegany County roads on which traffic deaths occurred last year were U. S. 220, three; State Route 51, two; State Routes 135 and 55, one each, and one within the city limits of Frostburg. In Garrett County there was one death each charged against U. S. Route 219, State Route 39, State Route 20 and State Route 135.

Blackest mark for the year was the crash at LaVale October 19 which snuffed out five lives. That accident which matched the county's previous record for the most deaths in a single accident was the only fatal mishap in the two counties in October.

Six Die In June

On a two-county basis the year's worst month was June, when six persons died in five different accidents. Four met death in three Allegany accidents and two died in Garrett County in separate crashes.

On the other side of the ledger with not a single fatal accident in either year were February, April and May. March 1954 was spotless, as was September 1955.

Fatal accidents occurred in Allegany County in seven of the 12 months last year and in six of the 12 months of 1954. In Garrett County highway deaths occurred in six of the 12 months of 1955 and four of the 12 the previous year.

Besides the five killed in October and the four in June, Allegany County also had three traffic deaths in August, two each in November and December, and one each in January and July last year. In the previous year four died in December, two each in July and August, and one each in January, September and November.

Garrett County's worst months in 1955 were June and August, each with two deaths, while January, March, July and November were charged with one each. In 1954 Garrett's four deaths occurred in separate months, June, July, October and November.

Fog, Mist, Snow And Ice Plague Tri-State Area

More Rain, Sleet Expected In Garrett

The weatherman promised no letup in the current wintry weather as he forecast continued occasional rain, cloudy skies, and sleet or snow in Garrett County.

And there will be little change in temperature. Hardest hit in Western Maryland is Garrett County, the westernmost section of the state, where sleet and cold rain mixed with snow have been falling for the past three days.

Freezing rains last night were making travel along U.S. Route 40 wesht of Frostburg toward Grantsville hazardous, according to Maryland State Police, who said the highway east of here was wet but not so dangerous.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said cindering crews were kept busy in Garrett County and parts of Allegany County.

He said they probably would be called back into action last night or early today if the weatherman kept his promise of additional sleet or snow.

Up to five inches of snow have been dumped in Garrett County, where highway travel is especially hazardous. It was sleeting in that county yesterday afternoon and the mercury hovered around the freezing mark.

Ralph R. Weber, official weather observer in Oakland, said the roads in that area were slippery, and cludy skies promised more sleet or rain.

One of the most treacherous sections of road in Garrett County is the Finzel Road, which was ice-covered.

Over in West Virginia, State Police at Romney reported that U.S. Route 50 was wet in that area.

However, chains were recommended on Allegheny Front, especially in the Mt. Storm area, where it was snowing yesterday afternoon.

Elkins was hit hard by the fall of snow as up to nine inches had been dumped in that section.

Here in Cumberland intermittent rains fell during the afternoon and last night as the unofficial temperature at 9 p.m. was about 42 degrees.

Criminal Cases Start Monday In Court Here

All criminal trials for the January term of Allegany County Circuit Court are scheduled for next Monday and Tuesday.

All defendants have waived their right to jury trials so that the cases will be heard by Chief Judge George Henderson and Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Docketed for Monday are the cases against Robert Scott Alexander, 33, of Midland, and Donald Joseph Cavey, 22, and Richard Lee Spencer, 21, both of this city.

Alexander is charged with manslaughter by automobile in the fatal injury to Mary M. Cuthbertson, 9, of Gilmore. The child died November 14, two days after having been struck by Alexander's car.

The two local men have been indicted on four charges. They are accused of burglary of a Roberts Street dwelling on November 12, and of assaulting three teen-age boys with intent to commit sodomy while they were all confined in the County Jail.

James Allen, 72, Klondyke, is scheduled for trial Tuesday on a charge of murder in the fatal wounding of Douglas MacDougal Winter, 35-year-old neighbor November 1. Another manslaughter charge against George H. McCormick, 40, of Lonaconing, also is docketed for Tuesday. He is accused of the traffic death of William D. Leake, 64, of Vale Summit December 3 on State Route 55 near the latter's home.

Port Program Would Cost Motorist 1-3 Cent A Day

(This is the third of a series explaining the recent report of the Joint Port Commission to the Legislative Council concerning the proposal to form a State Port Authority.)

The establishment of a State Port Authority would cost the average passenger car owner a third of a penny a day.

And the program, which will provide modern facilities for general cargo, much of which would move to and from the port by the highways, would cost the average truck owner short of a penny a day.

That is the estimate of the cost of underwriting a State Port Authority under a Legislative Council proposal for a fourth of a cent per gallon levy on gasoline sales.

The Joint Port Commission had proposed that toll revenues from the Susquehanna and Potomac River bridges, the Chesapeake Bay Bridge and the Patapsco Tunnel be lumped with port facility revenues and all placed under a single jurisdictional body. This is the type of plan used by the Delaware River and Port of New York authorities.

Such a plan would have required both state and federal legislation and an expensive refinancing program.

Both Have Merit

Robert O. Bonnell, co-chairman of the Joint Port Commission, said both the commission and Legislative Council's proposals have the merit of providing the authority with a continuing and stable income, which is imperative if the Authority is to function as it should.

The gasoline levy, he said, greatly simplifies financing since, with a steady source of income, the Authority would be able to issue revenue bonds without involving the state's credit.

It will also eliminate the need for a real estate levy, Bonnell points out, and will save the "very sizable" expense of refunding the bridge and tunnel bonds.

The gasoline levy, he added, will also be more equitably distributed over the state, although the port region will pay a healthy part of the cost.

Seek Three Facilities

The Joint Port Commission plan calls for the Authority to acquire three port facilities owned by Baltimore City.

These are the McComas Street terminal, the National Gypsum Company pier and the Broadway pier. The Pratt Street piers would not be acquired, since the city has a plan to take them out of service son.

The price to be paid to the city would include $1,612,000—the unamortized debt of the McComas Street piers, the contracted debt of $3,900,000 for improvements to that facility and $1,025,000 of unamortized debt on the National Gypsum pier, for a total of $6,537,000.

The Authority would also pay the City of Baltimore interest on the outstanding bonds to maturity which would amount to $2,069,268.

Since the city's bonds cannot be called, the Authority proposes to place the purchase price in escrow and invest it in government securities, insuring the city against loss by the principal or interest on the bonds.

Plan Cargo Pier

When the purchases were completed, the Authority would own the above facilities and receive income from leases with the Western Maryland Railway and the National Gypsum Company.

It is proposed that the Authority issue $15,000,000 of revenue bonds and use part of the proceeds to purchase the above port facilities.

This would leave $8,463,000 — a sum adequate to build immediately one of the world's most modern general cargo piers.

A topnotch general cargo pier, experts have told the Commission, is a must if Maryland's port hopes to gain among the ports of the world the place to which its natural advantages entitle it.

It is estimated that the Authority's annual operating budget would be $950,000—a figure set high enough to allow a program of intensive promotion, advertising and solicitation.

Risk Is Involved

The average operating income is estimated at $676,428. The balance, plus the sinking fund reserve for capital expenditures, would come from the gasoline tax money after provision has been made for servicing the bond issue, Bonnell reports.

Some of the new facilities which

Two Missing Bedford Co. Boys Found

Two Bedford area boys, who had been missing from their homes since late Saturday night, were located last night about 8 o'clock in Wells Township, Fulton County, about 24 miles from their homes, ending a 13-state police hunt.

The two youngsters were picked up by Pennsylvania State Police and returned to their homes. After questioning the two boys, police said that they had been staying at the cabin of a relative.

A13-state police hunt was started for Ross Bender, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bender, RD 2, Bedford, and Frederick Price, 14-year-old son of Fred Price, RD 2, Bedford.

The youngsters, seventh and eighth grade students at Bedford Township Elementary School, were said to have been trapping in the vicinity of the Juniata River.

Police and firemen dredged the river and a searching party scoured the area the past few days.

Hearing In Suit Over Gas Death Resumes Today

A number of witnesses were heard yesterday as the first testimony was taken in a $125,000 damage suit filed in behalf of four children whose father and two others died in a local apartment three years ago.

The case is being tried on removal in Washington County Circuit Court at Hagerstown.

Just before recess until this morning, the court and jury heard Dr. H. V. Deming, Allegany County medical examiner, testify that death was due to asphyxiation. A brother of the deceased man, Victor Glen Bohon, also testified that he had worked with his late brother as a laborer on the Western Maryland Railway prior to the tragedy. He said the dead man's earnings on that job averaged from $65 to $85 each two weeks.

Judge Kenneth McLaughlin is presiding at the jury trial. Foreman of the jury, composed of seven men and five women, is John Lillard, a retired Hagerstown policeman.

Thomas N. Berry, one of the attorneys for Mrs. Mabel Johnson of Hendrix, W. Va., who filed suit against Abraham Feldstein after the three were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in the building he owns at 44 North Centre Street, opened the hearing yesterday.

Berry said he would attempt to show that after the death of the father, Marvin Paul Bohon, his second wife, Flora Ellen Wandless Bohon, and her sister, Pearl E. Wandless, a plumber found the gas heater in the apartment out of adjustment.

He added that no plans were filed for heating and the like as is required by Cumberland's building code and that no occupancy permit had been issued.

He said the amount of money asked is to compensate the children for the loss of income from their father.

W. Earle Cobey, attorney for Feldstein, said his client bought the property in the early 1930s without conveniences and made arrangements with a master plumber to install a bath.

At that time, he added, there were no city regulations covering installation of heaters.

The place was rented until 1950 without trouble, Cobey continued, and in 1950 was converted into four apartments. Utilities were piped

Driver Hurt As Truck Overturns

Chickens Lost In Area Mishap

A truck loaded with about 2,900 live chickens overturned yesterday morning on the Springfield-Points, W. Va., secondary road, causing injuries to the driver and the loss of a number of the chickens.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital was Harry S. Rose, 22, of RD 3, Bedford, Pa., who was reported in "fair" condition last night.

Attaches said he complained of back injuries and was admitted for X-rays and observation. Owner of the truck is Charles Rouzee, also of RD 3, Bedford.

A number of live chickens en route to market gained their freedom as a result of the accident, which occurred after the truck skidded out of control on an icy section of the road and overturned as it went down over an embankment.

Rose told police he had about 2,900 live chickens on the truck and had picked them up in Three Churches. He was traveling toward Springfield at the time of the mishap.

The truck was damaged considerably as it overturned, and a number of chickens died. Police said Rose notified the owner of the truck of the mishap and a crew was being sent to the scene to recover the other chickens.

Police said the chickens that gained their freedom didn't attempt to make a getaway, but remained on the scene.

Auto Theft Subject Of FBI Meet

Local law enforcement officers have been invited to attend the Federal Bureau of Investigation Law Enforcement Conference on auto theft which will be held on October 17 in Baltimore.

A similar conference, according to D. K. Brown, special agent in charge of the Baltimore office, will be held October 24 in Wilmington, Del.

Brown said more than 100 conferences of this type have been scheduled this year by the FBI on a regional basis throughout the United States.

The conferences will be aimed at bringing about additional coordination among law enforcement agencies and improved efficiency in dealing with this crime. They will be operated on a forum basis providing for a mutual exchange of information and knowledge by all participants.

The seriousness of this violation is highlighted by the fact that in 1954 an estimated 215,940 automobiles were stolen in the United States. Although 94 per cent subsequently were located, at the year's end 12,956 cars, valued at more than $12,000,000, still were unrecovered.

In 1953, an estimated 226,530 cars were stolen and 93.9 per cent were recovered, leaving 13,818, valued at some $14,000,000. In 1952, the net loss was 16,364 automobiles valued at more than $17,000,000.

Traffic Deaths Spurt Upward In Past Year

Two-County Total Up 73 Per Cent

Although the number of traffic deaths in Maryland was slightly lower last year than in 1954, the two westernmost counties did little to help the record.

Figures compiled by Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the State Police barracks at LaVale, showed 26 traffic deaths in the two counties in 1955, a whopping 73 per cent increase above the 15 reported in 1954.

Route 40 Worst

U. S. Route 40 replaced State Route 36 as the worst death road in Western Maryland last year. In 1955 eight of the 18th deaths in Allegany County and four of the eight in Garrett County occurred on U. S. Route 40, the heaviest traveled road in the area.

State Route 36, which has been charged with four deaths in 1954, had only two last year.

Other Allegany County roads on which traffic deaths occurred last year were U. S. 220, three; State Route 51, two; State Routes 135 and 55, one each, and one within the city limits of Frostburg. In Garrett County there was one death each charged against U. S. Route 219, State Route 39, State Route 20 and State Route 135.

Blackest mark for the year was the crash at LaVale October 19 which snuffed out five lives. That accident which matched the county's previous record for the most deaths in a single accident was the only fatal mishap in the two counties in October.

Six Die In June

On a two-county basis the year's worst month was June, when six persons died in five different accidents. Four met death in three Allegany accidents and two died in Garrett County in separate crashes.

On the other side of the ledger with not a single fatal accident in either year were February, April and May. March 1954 was spotless, as was September 1955.

Fatal accidents occurred in Allegany County in seven of the 12 months last year and in six of the 12 months of 1954. In Garrett County highway deaths occurred in six of the 12 months of 1955 and four of the 12 the previous year.

Besides the five killed in October and the four in June, Allegany County also had three traffic deaths in August, two each in November and December, and one each in January and July last year. In the previous year four died in December, two each in July and August, and one each in January, September and November.

Garrett County's worst months in 1955 were June and August, each with two deaths, while January, March, July and November were charged with one each. In 1954 Garrett's four deaths occurred in separate months, June, July, October and November.

Bedford Valley Man Has Top Butterfat Producer

A Bedford Valley, Pa., farmer is the owner of four of the top 10 butterfat producers of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association during the month of December.

Placing second during December was a grade Holstein, No. 59, owned by Shumaker Brothers, of Rawlings. The cow produced 82 pounds of butterfat from 1860 pounds of milk.

Shumaker Brothers, No. 61, a grade Holstein, placed fourth producing 75 pounds of butterfat from 1830 pounds of milk.

Other owners with cows in the first ten are John T. Mason, Cresaptown; Ernest A. Light, Pinto and Lloyd Nave, Bedford Valley, Pa.

The total number of cows on test during December, according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors, was 867 with an average production of 638 pounds of milk of all cows, 26.8 pounds of butterfat with a test of 4.2 per cent.
